Landscape Lots.—R. O. Graves and J. W. McInturff spent yesterday in Buddien Park preparing to landscape their lots where they are expecting to build next spring or summer.

Rather Cold.—Edgar McDaniel came down from North Bend today and says the general complaint there this morning was frozen water pipes. He forgot to let the water out of his auto yesterday and this morning his machine was frozen up.

Bad Slides.—A. H. Powers, who was in from the Smith-Powers line beyond Myrtle Point Sunday says that the slides are a big problem there. He has been flurging on using a portable hydraulic plant to remove them in case they do not cease soon.

New Position.—Word has been received here that Mr. Marston, who was a member of the Biltmore Forestry School, and who spent considerable time on the Bay, has just been advanced to a fine position in the government forest service at Vancouver, B. C.

Many Get Trees.—Yesterday there was a general exodus of the heads of families to the hills, each man with an axe in hand, and the little giants of the forest fell prey to the Yule-tide spirit and today are already propped up in diverse corners of houses waiting for the Christmas decorations.

No Damages.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Peter Scott vs. the city of Marshfield and Port of Coos Bay for $1000 damages because her place was flooded and damaged when the dredge Seattle was filling South Marshfield and after that brought in a verdict for the defendants.

Freak Pig.—A. H. Powers says that he has a freak pig on the ranch at Wagner that is a wonder. The pig has a pure white body and a red head, the red marking beginning near the ears. The pig is one of a bunch of thirty-two which he took from the Coaledo camp to Wagner and which he has presented to G. A. Brown.

Son is Born.—Marshfield friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Lafon, former well known residents of the Bay, Mr. Lafon having been chief forester of the C. A. Smith company, have received cards announcing the arrival of John Lafon III. They are now residing at Victoria, B. C., and this is their second son named for father and grandfather.

Some Barber.—The Gardiner Courier says: "Oscar Anderson, the tonsorial artist, who has the faculty of parting the hair of a bald-headed man in the middle, left Sunday for Marshfield and other Coos Bay points. His mission is a mystery, but several of the wise ones are shaking their heads as if some great calamity is about to happen. But we hope for the best."

Big Wolf Eel.—In the Chamber of Commerce has been placed a picture of a large wolf eel caught by fishermen down the bay a few weeks ago. The eel hung on the end of a long line, measures more than five feet in length and is a ferocious looking beast with an exceedingly large head. At the time it was caught the fishermen had quite a fight with it after bringing the eel into the boat.

Bunkhouse Burns.—A bunkhouse at Hauser & Hauser camp 4 was burned to the ground Saturday afternoon. It is believed that a candle was left burning in the building and that it set fire to some burlap, thus sending the whole thing up in flames. A larger bunkhouse but a few feet away was saved. The loss is small, though it is reported many of the laborers lost their bedding and clothes in the fire.

Oh, You Perkins.—The Gardiner Courier says: "Clifford Perkins left for Coos Bay and other points Tuesday for a short vacation and to play basket ball. We expect to hear of some pyrotechnical plays and how the halls rang with applause. It is hard to guess what else he will do on the wild shores of Coos Bay, but it is said that if he dares to bring home that little "Blonde" which he seemed to be so infatuated with the last time he visited the Bay, rice and old shoes will be in demand.

Charge Petty Larceny.—On a charge of petty larceny preferred by Bert Rush, Mrs. Ernest Sullivan and Joe McKee appeared before Justice of the Peace Shuster, of North Bend, this morning. The case was continued until tomorrow morning and the two accused were released on their own recognizance. Rush asserted that Mrs. Sullivan took articles of bed clothing, consisting of sheets, towels and comforters, from his home and went with them to Empire from whence they were recovered on a search warrant. It is claimed that McKee acted only as deliveryman in the transaction.
