

LOUIS MARTIN'S FUNERAL TODAY

Henryville Young Man Succumbs After Effort to Prolong Life by Transfusion

The funeral of Louis Martin, of Henryville, who succumbed late Thursday afternoon to a prolonged illness at Mercy Hospital, was held this morning from the Wilson chapel the Rev. G. LeRoy Hall officiating. It was largely attended by friends of the young man.

JOHN GOLDEN.

Much has been said orally, and a quantity in print, almost replete with mendacity, leaving but a slight margin of veracity. There was nothing mean about him if we exclude his treatment of his own person, and that, even, did not include the lying charge, frequently made, that he starved himself to death.

Afflicted with an abnormal idiosyncrasy, he began some time ago to indulge in wine and beer, changing to gin and wine, milk and raw eggs, buying in large quantities, a persistence in which impaired his stomach, but by friendly advice he refrained from that course some time previous to his death.

He was born in the county Mayo, Ireland, in 1842, and was taken to Wigan, Lancashire, England, in infancy, where he followed coal mining. At his death he was 72 years of age.

He could not eat bread, but a supply of milk and eggs and beef soup is a long way from starvation.

Excepting his sister, Mrs. Kennedy, of Bandon, Wm. Fox, Tom McGinnis and I knew him longer and more intimately than any persons in Coos county. Requiescat in pace.

NEW CASES FILED.

The following new lawsuits have been started in the circuit court:

Myrtle Weldon vs. Ronice Weldon, suit for divorce.

L. J. Simpson, Albert Seelig, Patrick Hennessey, C. P. Coleman, E. L. Roberts, George Ross, John Bastendorf and W. C. Harris vs. L. H. Heister.

A. S. Hammond and Frederick Hollister vs. Coos Bay Manufacturing Company.

Fred Hollister vs. John B. Anderson.

Emma A. Dow vs. The Mutual Life Insurance Co., of New York and W. P. Murphy, administrator of the estate of Frederick S. Dow, deceased.

John S. Coke et al vs. L. G. Masters.

Walter Condon vs. Fred E. Wilson.

J. R. Benson, as administrator of the estate of Thomas C. Fawcett, deceased, vs. Bank of Myrtle Point.

PHEASANTS ARE TAME.

Tenn Robinson, of the Roy district, says that about three years ago he put some Chinese pheasant eggs under a hen which hatched out five of the chicks, and while the pheasants disappeared when brooding time came in the summer, one of the hens has recently returned for the second time in the fall and is so tame that it will come up to Mrs. Robinson and eat out of her hand.—Coquille Sentinel.

WORK IN BLACK SAND ON COAST

F. B. Field Prospecting Bandon Deposits—Says Some Bad Schemes Are Worked

F. B. Field of Bandon came over Thursday with his brother, Geo. E. Field, who has been visiting him and who left on the Nann Smith for his home in Los Angeles. Both have been interested in the mining game and F. B. Field has been devoting his time for the past three months to the gold and platinum deposits in the black sand near Bandon. F. B. Field will return today to Bandon to continue his work there.

The two brothers are about of an age and resemble each other closely. Both were for years engaged in bridge construction work and traveled all over the country putting in bridges. F. B. Field had charge of the building of most of the big bridges in Portland and also the Oregon City suspension bridge.

He recalled last night that he had not been on Coos Bay for twenty-nine years, his previous trip having been here to build a couple of bridges in Curry county for some concern that was figuring on developing a new industry there.

Mr. Field said that some of the concerns operating in the black sand field were an imposition. One concern which is now trying to sell stock in the company has constructed a large, unwieldy dredge apparatus that looks big but which is utterly impracticable and impossible.

He said that some good stuff was being found near the old Lane mines near Bandon which could not be saved when those diggings were worked the first time years ago.

NEW ARRIVALS TO BE WELCOMED

Six Women Appointed on the Chamber of Commerce Committee—Entertain Visitors

A committee of six ladies of Marshfield has been appointed by Hugh McLain, president of the Chamber of Commerce, to serve on a committee to welcome and introduce strangers, especially the ladies, who come to the city to live. This is in pursuance of the new policy of the Chamber of Commerce that at its last meeting unanimously decided that the women should be entitled to honorary membership in the organization.

The following were appointed on the committee: Mrs. Henry Sengstacken, chairman; Mrs. E. Mungus, Mrs. I. S. Kaufman, Mrs. F. E. Aiken, Mrs. C. R. Peck, Mrs. R. M. Jennings.

This committee will have power to appoint sub-committees to aid them. The members of the Chamber of Commerce have found that very often prospective citizens for Coos Bay come in here entirely unacquainted with any one. The belief is that a better impression will be made if these people are welcomed and made to feel at home as soon as they arrive.

In the past this has been often done as far as the men of such parties were concerned, there having been a reception or entertainment committee of the Chamber of Commerce appointed some time ago and of this Henry Sengstacken is chairman.

So far there have been no applications from the women of the city for membership in the organization.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHAS ELECT.

The following are the officers elected for the coming year by Lycurgus Lodge, Knights of Pythas: J. S. Lawrence, C. C. I. W. Cook, V. C. A. T. Morrison, P. Geo. H. Shelton, M. W. R. R. Watson, M. E. John Jusk, K. R. S. J. J. Fox, M. A. P. J. Rooney, I. G. W. L. Klstner, O. G.—Coquille Sentinel.

WITH WORK WELL DONE, NOW LEAVES

Bradford Wheeler Goes Back to Headquarters in San Francisco Saturday

With the line now completed between Marshfield and North Bend and with everything clear for its operation, Bradford Wheeler, Southern Pacific engineer who has had charge of the work for the past two years, left yesterday morning for San Francisco, where he will report to Chief Engineer Hood. With him will go A. V. Bowhay, of the engineering department, and Jack Sasser, stenographer for Mr. Wheeler.

Mrs. Wheeler will leave out on the Nann Smith, while Mr. Wheeler is going overland to Eugene and from there go to Ashland, where he expects to visit the Cow Creek Canyon Road, which he helped to locate along in the early eighties and which he has never been over since that date.

When the original locating party went out from San Francisco on this work the Southern Pacific had then just taken over the line built by independent capital from San Francisco to the Siskiyou. It was here that their funds gave out and the road was leased to the Southern Pacific.

When Mr. Wheeler first came here two years ago the Terminal Railroad Company owned the right of way through Marshfield and North Bend. This they sold to the Southern Pacific company and the grading and laying of rails was at once commenced.

The line was extended south to connect with the rails of the Coos Bay, Roseburg & Eastern. In North Bend the company did considerable filling, aggregating in all more than 600,000 cubic yards.

Mr. Wheeler laughed when his task was spoken of as "good work." He declares it was "easy" and that he "just came in here and now is going away again." He has given the two cities connection by rail; he has extended the line south to meet the Myrtle Point road; he has extended the line north through Simpson Park to where it will meet with the rails of the Willamette Pacific from Eugene. Now he goes back again to headquarters, satisfied that his work has been lasting and of permanent good to the community.

As to where he will be next detailed, that is as much a matter of mystery to Mr. Wheeler as it is to anyone.

SIMPSON SAYS HE HAS LIFE JOB

Declares North Bend Has Ordained That He Must Retain Place as Mayor

The Portland Oregonian says: Did you ever hear of a man, and a young and healthy one at that, elected mayor of a thriving city for life?

A person of such distinction is in Portland now in the person of L. J. Simpson, Coos Bay enthusiast, who has been mayor of North Bend since that city was born officially 12 years ago.

"The people in my section were not satisfied with the Ten Commandments laid down in the Bible," said Mr. Simpson in the lobby of the Hotel Portland yesterday. "They have pledged themselves to this eleventh commandment: 'There shall not be a new mayor at North Bend as long as L. J. Simpson lives.'"

But if Mr. Simpson has his own way he will upset the commandment a couple of years for he wants to succeed Willis C. Hawley as Representative in Congress and is already nursing his candidacy. He is a staunch Republican and will seek to defeat Mr. Hawley for the nomination.

If he goes to Congress Mr. Simpson intends to see to it that Coos Bay and other harbors along the Pacific coast get their full quota of Federal appropriations. The object of his present visit is to confer with Major Morrow relative to the prospect of renewing work on the Coos Bay jetty. Providing Major Morrow will recommend the work, Mayor Simpson says North Bend will send a large delegation to Washington to work for the appropriation.

"The Port of Coos Bay has established a district including the natural watershed of the Bay and has voted $600,000 in bonds to improve the inner harbor," said Mr. Simpson. "This means an assessment of $55 for each man, woman and child in the district. By the time our $600,000 has been spent we will have a channel 25 feet deep at mean low water and 300 feet wide."

"The town of North Bend, population 3500, has just spent $165,000 on improvements, and a paving contract is pending. Next year the new grade between North Bend and Empire,

FAST TRIP MADE BY THE REDONDO

Capt. Erickson Says They Beat the Nann Smith 25 Miles Going South

The Redondo arrived in this morning at 12:30 from San Francisco, after making one of the fastest trips she ever made from San Francisco to Coos Bay. Capt. Erickson stated that the weather was unusually good and the exact running time was thirty hours and thirty minutes. On the last trip the Redondo developed more speed than usual. On the trip down, she left here at the same time that the Adeline Smith and the Nann Smith left. Capt. Erickson says the Adeline Smith beat him in to San Francisco by only about seven miles, while the Redondo beat the Nann Smith in by 25 miles.

The Redondo will leave tomorrow morning at 6 o'clock, working a night shift tonight to load her cargo. She had a light incoming freight and a comparatively small passenger list. Among those arriving on her were:

L. F. Crouch, Mrs. L. F. Crouch, P. C. Grousbek, R. Donaldson, E. M. Teshera, E. Teshera, Mrs. E. M. Teshera, E. M. Teshera, Jr., E. B. Blake, Mrs. E. E. Blake.

STEAMER SAILS FOR PORTLAND TODAY WITH SMALL LIST.
