Two years ago the University, in dire need of funds for building, as the student body had outgrown the few structures on the campus, appealed to the legislature for a three-tenths of a mill tax. Only after a hard fight and a statewide campaign waged by the state institution was this plea granted.

Such an arrangement, then, would mean, according to Professor Stafford, the curtailment of all building at the University and would mean a great loss in students to the institution as the present buildings are now enough to adequately care for the growing attendance.

BIG TIMBER DEAL

T. H. SHEVELIN LUMBER COMPANY BUYS 60,000 ACRES IN OREGON.

PORTLAND, Or., Jan. 28.—With the purchase by the T. H. Shevelin Lumber company of 60,000 acres of yellow pine timber from the Deschutes Lumber company for a reported consideration of $3,000,000, it is expected that preparations will be made during the year to begin the cutting of timber on an extensive scale.

When the facts are recognized that there are only three sawmills in the district with a total capacity of less than 65,000 feet and there is approximately 20,000,000,000 feet of saw timber tributary to Bend, some idea of the future of that territory can be gained when big sawmill and logging operations are started.

WAR TO THE FINISH.
CERTAIN of the nations now at war have declared their intention not to give in until this struggle has been fought to a finish. If anything about peace now would only postpone the final settlement at arms; if continuing this present war till one of the sides to the controversy is thoroughly defeated will settle the matter and bring about an amicable and permanent peace, then we say "let them fight it out."

You have seen two boys develop an increasing hate and jealousy for each other. This condition continues and increases until they finally come to blows over the matter. Sometimes their mutual friends step in and part them. They go away hating each other worse and more intensely than before. Sometimes they are let fight it out until one of them is thoroughly felled, or they are both "all in." In either case they have generally worked off their bad blood and in the future are better friends for having had it out to a definite finish.

IF the condition of affairs in Europe today is similar to that of the two boys so many of us have known, then the greatest final good will have been accomplished to the world by continuing the war until one of the opposing forces is thoroughly defeated.

WITH THE TEA AND THE TOAST
GOOD EVENING.
Don't hate anyone or anything. If you could only realize how much you hurt yourself and how not at all anyone else, you would never waste energy in that futile manner.

LADY LAUGHTER.
Ah, my Lady Laughter,
Shadows fade, and gloom;
Where your feet are dancing
Only violets bloom;
Sparkling of the sunshine,
Shimmer of the dew—
Spirit of the roses
When the skies burn blue.

Ab, my Lady Laughter,
How shall I be sad
When, a golden bubble,
You turn sorrow glad;
Rippling of a river,
Surging of a sea—
Ringslets of the Rhine-gold,
Dimples on your knee.

Ab, my Lady Laughter,
Spring is in the lane;
Silver in the sunbeam,
Shower on the pane;
Bugling of a bird's note.
Rapturing of a stream—
Fairies in the front yard
Bringing home a dream.

THE QUIET OBSERVER SAYS:
"It is a positive relief and really a virtue to be a bit devilish at times—it gets on one's nerves always balancing a halo on the back of one's head."
A clear conscience never has to brush red hairs from its coat.
COQUILLE MILL BUSY.
E. E. Johnson says that with the orders now on hand and prospective, he feels quite confident of being able to keep the mill running steadily through the spring and summer, which listens good for all parties concerned.—Coquille Herald.
