

WAGNER WILL HAVE BIG PAYROLL

NEW TOWN AT SMITH-POWERS HEADQUARTERS SOUTH OF MYRTLE POINT WILL HAVE WATER AND SEWAGE SYSTEM WHEN PLATTED

B. H. Smith is here from Wagner where he recently opened a barber shop. He states that the townsite at Wagner will not be platted and opened for the time being. A. H. Powers who is looking after it plans to have a water system and sewage system installed when he plats the townsite and in order to do this, he has deferred action for a time. The Morris tract, not far from there, has already been platted.

When things get to swinging on the new Smith-Powers line and the camps are all opened up, Wagner will be the center of operations and will have a payroll averaging about $3,000 per day.

A new camp may be opened on Mill Creek soon. More logs are being taken out and a second train may be put on by the company soon.

ELECT OFFICERS

Alumni Chapter of Sigma Chi Prepares for Annual Convention at San Francisco.

At a meeting of the newly organized alumni chapter of the Sigma Chi fraternity held last evening at the home of John W. Flanagan officers were elected for the year. Plans were made for the annual convention of the fraternity to be held in August at San Francisco. An invitation has been extended to all alumni members in Oregon and Idaho and also to the active members in the chapter at the University of Oregon asking them to go to the fair through Coos Bay, coming here to leave on the boat. Previous to their going a big picnic will be held here.

J. W. Flanagan was elected president; George Stevenson, vice-president, and Ben Fisher, secretary and treasurer. There were nine present at the meeting.

Every woman should SEE the display at CLARKE'S MILLINERY, Friday and Saturday.

DEATH ENDS LIFE OF OVER CENTURY

HENRY MILLER, CENTENARIAN SIXTY YEARS ON COOS BAY, DIES AT COUNTY POOR FARM—WAS GERMAN.

Henry Miller, 100 years old on January 10, died last evening at the county poor farm following an illness of only a few days. Almost to the end the old man was able to move about with the aid of his stubby cane. For years he was a small rancher on Larson Inlet and it was less than a year ago that he finally gave up the struggle of making his own living.

Good health and not foresight is said to be the cause of the old man's going to the poor farm. For almost 60 years he lived on Coos Bay and during this time acquired an 80 acre farm, where for years he raised vegetables, adding further to the exchequer by fishing every fall. It was this land that was sold but a few years ago, Mr. Miller at that time figuring that the proceeds would last until his death.

Ordinarily the calculation would have been correct. In this case he outlived the funds and not till then, did he give up and allow himself to be taken to the poor farm.

Henry Miller was born in Germany in 1815 and when a young man left home as a sailor. During big travels he came to Coos Bay, leaving his sailing ship here about 1857, just after the Rogue River Indian wars. He later married an Indian woman, though old residents here are not sure that the couple had any children. It is at least known he has no relatives in this country at present.

A half-breed girl was adopted and raised by Miller though it is believed she is dead. The body of the deceased will be buried by the county at Coquille.

About a month ago Henry Miller came over from the county seat and gave testimony in the case of Waters versus Davis in which Mrs. William Watters is seeking a share of the Mart Davis estate, alleging that she is a daughter of the deceased pioneer.

CLEAN UP STARTS EARLY TOMORROW

WAR ON RUBBISH SCHEDULED BETWEEN SUN RISE AND SUN SET—MANY WILL PLANT FLOWER GARDENS.

Father and mother are to retire early this evening. Brother Willie and little sister Mary are to seek their downy couches as the sun sets in the west, and there is to be a general tuning up of alarm clocks, all of them being set for an early hour. Clean-up Day will be on Saturday. This have the women of the city declared and the Mayor proclaimed.

Rubbish that has been all year gathering beneath the back porch, in the front yard and out on the vacant lots must be banished. Greater, to us, than the war in Europe, there will be the war on filth.

With looks of a set and determined purpose on their faces heads of families started homeward this evening. For days they have been outlining the campaign over the early morning coffee. Rakes and hoes have made their appearance, have been shined up and are again ready for use.

At a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce a short time ago the women of the clean-up committee divided the city into five districts, appointing a chairman in charge of each section. Saturday they will watch the efforts of the citizens, but here their work is not ended for after that they will make the rounds, looking for rubbish that has not made its way to the garbage heaps. Where possible they will report such matters to the City Health Officer. In every case they will take the best means at their disposal in putting the finishing touches to the city's clean-up campaign.

But better than cleaned-up bare spaces are flowers blooming, filling the forlorn spots. And for this reason there will be a general planting of trees and flowers tomorrow. Many citizens have already secured shrubbery for parking improvement and for the gardens about their homes.

DON'T miss the COOS COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP GAME, SATURDAY EVENING.

DAIRYMEN GATHER AT BANQUET TABLE

COOS BAY COW TESTING ASSOCIATION INVITES COOS RIVER DAIRYMEN HERE ON NEXT WEDNESDAY.

Dairymen from this entire vicinity will meet in Marshfield on Wednesday, according to J. L. Smith, County Agriculturist, who announces the Coos Bay Cow Testing Association has completed plans for a banquet in honor of the Coos River Association. Invitations have been extended to all dairymen to attend. Professor W. A. Barr, dairy and also expert of the Oregon Agricultural College, will be present to give an address.

There will also be talks from prominent dairymen here, the work of the last year will be reviewed, and of principal importance, will be the good get-together spirit and the banquet which it is claimed, will be the best the dairymen have ever held on the Bay.

To have the farmers meet here at 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning is the present plan. All boats will be here by that time, it is expected, and the meeting will continue up to the time they leave in the afternoon. It is possible that the banquet will be held in the J. O. O. P. Hall, though later announcement of this will be made.

New Associations Formed.

The sixth cow testing-association of Coos County is just being organized on the North and East Forks of the Coquille, in near Gravelford, McKinley, Lee and Dora, according to Mr. Smith. At present there are 20 herds entered; seven or eight more will be secured.

With this completed Coos County will then rank second to no county in the world as to her number of associations. Complete reorganization of the Myrtle Point, Coquille and Lower Coquille associations has been effected. For the next year there will be a great increase in the number of herds and cows registered.

Professor W. A. Barr is just returning from Langlois, where he has established the first association in Curry County. A tester will be sent in soon to take charge of the work, also one will go to Gravelford. Cow Makes Money. Pacific Lorelei, a registered Jersey owned by J.
