What do you know about "Runaway June" and the Mutual Master Pictures advertised in the Saturday Evening Post?

City-by-the-Sea. He told of the drowning accident there this week when a fishing boat with three men in it capsized on the bar one man, drowning before help could reach him. The other two men clung to the up-turned boat and were rescued. One of the two saved, he said, had narrowly escaped drowning four times in the last few months. Once he tried to come across the Rogue River bar in bad weather and he, with his companions, floundered ashore through the water, another time he spent the night off Bandon in a small boat.

Lenten Services.—Rev. Bengtson will hold Lenten services in the North Bend Swedish Lutheran Church at 7:30 o'clock this evening and in the Marshfield church tomorrow, Thursday evening, at the same time.

North Bend Library.—The regular monthly meeting of the North Bend Library Board will be held next Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the library building, all members of the association being earnestly invited to be present.

Oedings Win Out.—Oedings Brothers, of Coquille, took the Coquille high school basketball team to a terrific beating there Saturday night, according to parties from Coquille. The Oedings outplayed the high school boys at every turn of the game.

McGinnis Case Finished.—Late yesterday afternoon the divorce case of Ohma McGinnis versus Thomas McGinnis was brought to a close in Judge Coke's court, decision being reserved until the attorneys for both sides submit briefs on questions of law. This will be within the next two or three days.

Buy Land for Home.—A tract of about two acres in Portsmouth has been sold to Otis H. Wilson, jeweler at the Red Cross store, who expects to improve it and make a home there. The consideration was stated to be about $1100. The deal was made through the office of I. S. Kaufman & Co.

Quite a Walker.—Three years J. B. Sneddon has been in the service of the Postoffice Department as a carrier, walking on an average 20 miles a day. During this time he has walked three times the distance to London, or about 18,000 miles, and has carried approximately 30 tons of mail for distribution.

Woman's Auxiliary Meet.—The meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Chamber of Commerce has been called for Saturday afternoon at 2:30. An invitation to all women in the city to join the organization and "bring their ideas" with them has been extended by the president, Mrs. F. E. Allen.

W. C. Mason Fined.—W. C. Mason, father of Mrs. Oldland whose husband was yesterday granted a divorce, appeared this morning in the police court and there pleaded guilty to a charge of "riotous and disorderly conduct" which was preferred against him yesterday afternoon by Officer Richardson. Judge Butler suspended the $10 sentence during a period of good behavior. Walter Oldland testified that William Binkey, uncle of the girl, her brother and father chased him into a front street pool room, threatening to "change his appearance." Mr. Mason told the judge that Oldland had called them all "liars" and several other names. Henry Sengstacken testified that W. C. Mason is working on his ranch and always before has borne a good reputation.

All Wear Green.—There is a doubt whether or not the adage is true, "Blood will tell" for among the wearers of the green on this St. Patrick's Day were many citizens of Teutonic, Hebrew, Scandinavian descent, who appeared on the main streets today, their bosoms resplendent with dazzling greens and their neck wear a shamrock color.

To Stop Games.—According to a report afloat on the Bay, the Coos County Sheriff and District Attorney are taking steps to stop the games of chance now going on in the different towns. Dice games, punch boards, etc., are said to be under the ban and it is possible the extent of the operations against them may not become public until the April term of the grand jury.

Defer Hearing.—There will be no hearing of the complaint of Miss Kate Wedell against Isabelle Cushman, whom she yesterday charged with appropriating dresses from her back line, until word has been received from District Attorney Lilejevist, according to Judge Pennock, who said that word has been sent him and that he will probably come here to conduct the hearing.

Free Night's Lodging.—There was a distinguished visitor last evening in Jack Carter's boarding house. He was A. Bishop and was in for being a trifle to jubilant on St. Patrick's eve. After several trips to the station to tell his troubles the officers finally accommodated him with a special cell. This morning he reversed the usual tactics and paid his $5 fine and departed.

Home April 1.—C. E. Maybee at North Bend received a letter a couple of days ago from L. J. Simpson in San Francisco saying that he would be home April 1. He has remained in the south to attend a meeting this week of the officers of the Simpson Lumber Company. Mr. Maybee reports that there was no meeting of the city council last evening and will not be until March 23 when the question of bonding the city will be taken up.

Only Curtailing.—Mr. Jacobson, of the North Bend Mill and Lumber Company, said yesterday that the report that the Swayne & Hoyt logging camp near Beaver Hill would be closed down was erroneous. He said that they were curtailing a little and reducing the force temporarily. They are also figuring on moving the camp further into the timber. Manager Dimick has returned to San Francisco.

Cats Leave Ships.—When rats leave the ship sailors are wont to shake their heads and stay ashore. It bids evil, they say and oftentimes are right. But when the ship's cat comes ashore and stays behind, this is a new phase of the story and even sailors scratch their heads, minus an answer. When the Carlos sailed south on Saturday "Nelle" the big cat stayed behind and now meows along the dock. Yesterday the pussy from the Elder came ashore and fused to join her vessel at sailing time.

Elder Leaves South.—There were 12 passengers on the George W. Elder when she left out at eleven o'clock yesterday. Her lateness in getting in yesterday is attributed to a wait for the tides at Astoria and the facing of a 55 mile wind down the coast. Those who left for Eureka were H. P. Saubert, T. W. Freeman, James McNabb, Peter A. Robinson, Captain J. C. Cantwell, Mark C. Willis, A. Newgond, Charles Granish, Mike Pedro, W. Johnson, A. N. Weedon, J. Nedan, James Salmon and R. E. Hannon.

Mandamus Postponed.—The mandamus proceedings brought through Stoll and Hodge for J. C. Hillstrom and others against the officers of the Port and City asking them to appear and show cause why they should not be forced to pay the judgment against them for alleged damages west of the Mill Slough fill, were postponed until tomorrow morning. It is possible that they will not be brought up at all. The city council at its meeting on Monday ordered a warrant drawn for the city's half in the judgment that amounts to about $1,800.

Takes Deposition in South.—The testimony of Amos Rogers, an old pioneer of Coos County who has now moved to California, will be taken this week before a notary public at Berkeley to be used in the case of Mrs. William Waters versus the Martin Davis estate which is one of the first cases set for the April docket of the circuit court. Lists of questions are being sent him for answers. Since the suit was filed two of the witnesses have died, Henry Miller and L. M. Noble. The testimony of Jasper Yoakum was also taken in California.

Bank Sells Bonds.—Word was received at the Chamber of Commerce

this morning from the Seattle National Bank that they have sold all of the $300,000 Port of Coos Bay dredging bonds and that the money is now at the credit of the Port. These bonds are the series B given to the Seattle Dredging Company monthly for their work. The bonds were always immediately bought by the Seattle National Bank. The sale shows a picking up of the bond market. This now gives a cash fund for the payment of the dredging company for their work of last month and this also puts the $25,000 available in cash for inlet improvement.

Gets Wrong Man.—Since Sunday night, when tires were cut on both his stage autos out to Bunker Hill Hall Ray Martin has been looking for the "varmint" who put the knife in the road. Last night while passing the spot about midnight, he came to the turn below Bunker Hill and hearing a noise in the brush stopped his machine quickly and went tearing through the trees. He caught a man. "Here," what are you up to?" he demanded. A flare of a match showed him that he had the wrong man, an old man who had been waiting at the roadside for his son to return home. Martin is still looking for the fellow who put the knife in the road.

Rebuild North Hall.—Peter Loggie announced today that he would have a new roof on his hall which was damaged by fire last week, within a few days. He is raising the ceiling to twelve feet, will put in a ladies' dressing room and will remodel and redecorate the interior, making it more modern and more attractive than ever. He will rush the work as rapidly as possible. He said that he wanted to express his appreciation of the fine work of the Marshfield and North Bend fire departments, saying that it was but another evidence that when North Bend and Marshfield worked together not even the flames could stop them.

No Complaint Sent.—No complaint has been sent from here to Inspectors Edwards and Fuller, in Portland, regarding the steamboat trouble on the Coquille River Saturday afternoon, when the Charm and the Telegraph were in a collision, according to Harry J. Kimball, collector of customs. He says that it will be up to the captain of the Charm to file any complaint, this to go through to the inspectors. Providing the story is true that Captain Panter was at the wheel of the accident, the punishment will probably be severe.

ably be a severe one, said Mr. Kimball. According to the inspectors, Captain Miller is one who lost his license for a period of 20 months.

Gets Hoos Pious Dollar.—A prospective bridegroom walked into the office of Judge C. L. Pennock yesterday and after securing the necessary papers to make him happy for life, walked out leaving a $1 fee on the desk. For several moments the Judge was busy, the man came back to ask a question and then left. It was then the Judge started looking for his dollar. It was not on the desk; he looked on the floor, in the coal scuttle and through a dozen pockets. No dollar, and he began to look suspiciously at the Times man, who even then was thinking of spending St. Patrick's in Chief Carter's boarding house when the missing dollar turned up in a by-way pocket, overlooked in the search.

Hand of Destiny Beautiful.—The feature at the Orpheum last night, while being of ordinary plot and of foreign make, was a thing of beauty and art. The Hand of Destiny is in natural colors and the beautiful tinting and gorgeous, fascinating mountain scenes, together with artistic touches, make it by far the most delightful offering of its kind ever seen in this city. This picture will be shown again tonight and while Mr. Keller says he does not favor the exhibition of pictures including French artists, he could not resist this feature, knowing of its most artistic value. It is one in a thousand.
