was no vacancy permit taken out on the Wall residence of Davis Inlet that was burned to the ground several days ago, hence there may be difficulty regarding the insurance on the building. Parry came there and bought over the district weekly, The Westside, with which he made a success. Mr. Smith was then there in business, having previous to the sale, owned stock in the paper. Table Attorney's Fee.—Action of the City Council of Bandon in tabling indefinitely the motion to pay to John D. Goss the remainder of a fee of approximately $1600 may result in a suit again that city. Previous to the big fire suit was brought by Bandon to annul the franchise by the Bandon Water Company, then privately owned, and City Attorney Treadgold was authorized, as the attorneys state, to secure aid in pushing the suit. Work was started several examinations held and all put in readiness for the suit, when the fire came and after this the city purchased the water company; the suit is still on the docket and not dismissed. A warrant for $500 was paid Mr. Goss, the remainder being held up at the last meeting of the City Council. The attorneys point out that W. T. Stoll sided City Engineer P. A. Sanboeger, of Bandon, in the same case, sued and secured his legal fees.

Refer to Higher Court.—Judge Schillbude, referee in bankruptcy, will refer to a higher court, that of Judge Wolvorton of Portland, the question as to whether or not the bankruptcy court has any jurisdiction over the property of George Conelos alleged to have been bought by him from Gust Demos, less than four months previous to the time Demos and Tom Morris went into bankruptcy having failed in a North Bend restaurant, F.
