Auto Line in May.—Fred Slagle writes that expects to establish his auto stage line between Marshfield and Coquille early in May.

Vestry Meeting.—There will be a meeting of the Vestry of the Episcopal church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the Rectory.

Informal Afternoon.—Miss Genevieve Bengtassen is entertaining informally this afternoon for Mrs. Harry Moffett and the Misses Sheridan.

Roads Improving.—Ned Galloway says the roads in Ten Mile are improving rapidly and he hopes to place his auxiliary auto line in connection with the North Star in operation in about two weeks. He reports fishing good at the lakes.

Repair Light Post.—Workmen of the Oregon Power Company today put back in place the iron lamp post at the corner of Central and Broadway, torn down Tuesday night when the machine driven by Ray De Merritt crashed into it.

No Bank Location Yet.—No location has yet been selected for the Scandinavian-American bank, according to John Ross, president today. He declared that several sites are still under consideration but no contract has yet been made for any one place and will not be for several days.

Arrive Home Early.—Col. Wm. Grimes is in receipt of a letter announcing the safe arrival in Dayton, Ohio, of Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Kretzer. Mr. Kretzer stood the journey very well but was weak and his old family physician advised complete rest for a time.

Machine Kicks.—Carl Everson, attempting to crank his machine this morning before starting for North Bend, taking the skin off his right hand. On the second attempt the handle flew back and almost broke his arm. This afternoon he had his arm heavily bandaged. He found later that the spark was disconnected under the machine.

Still Watching.—A. E. Kelley was over today from Bandon where he is for the present night watchman at the Bandon Woolen Mills. He says there has been some talk of starting the Mill again but nothing is known definite. Kelley is well known here as the former "president and manager" of the Seely-Anderson logging road before it was sold to the Dollar company.

Witness Leaves.—Though a subpoena has been issued it was not served today and Mrs. W. O. Wimmer went north on the Elder. She was wanted to appear as a witness against Walter Morgan whom she accuses of picking her pocket in Marshfield several weeks ago. He was found in North Bend by Chief of Police Anderson with the money in his possession. It is not known as to whether or not she will return in time for the trial.

Dredge in Open Bay.—Shortly after nine o'clock last night the dredge Seattle moved into the upper Bay to a point opposite the Southern Pacific docks where she sent her pipe lines ashore and all day has been pumping up the bottom of the Bay. It is claimed now that the shoal has not been formed from a general sliding of mud from under the dock but that it is a regular shoal. The work was almost completed this evening. The whistle of the dredge, sounding last night brought many to their windows under the belief that it was the fire siren and central was kept busy denying the allegations.

Dock Not Repaired.—Several weeks ago the old steamship Coos Bay, formerly of this port, while making a landing at Ventura, California, crashed into the wharf, ruining it as far as further use is concerned. Up to the present time nothing has been done toward the repair of the wharf and merchants and other shippers are now forced to secure their freight shipped by steamer from Los Angeles and San Francisco at the port of Santa Barbara. The Coos Bay was severely damaged also by the impact.

Steamship Fare Returned.—George A. Larson, local representative of the Marshall-Weils Company, yesterday received a check from the New York offices of the North German Steamship Company, as a return for a ticket purchased from Hamburg last August, and which he was unable to use because the advent of the war tied up the big Trans-Atlantic steamship Vaterland in New York harbor. Mr. Larson went over in June on business for his company. He was forced to come home on another boat paying a second fare.

College Men Banquet.—"Hail for Old Oregon," and the "Boola-Boo," of colleges from Maine to Texas, New York to California will furnish the setting about the banquet board at the Chandler Hotel on Saturday night when 35 old college men are scheduled to get-together with the University of Oregon Quartette. They will have back to the palm days of the Campus, the days of "rushing" and college politics. Arrangements were made today with Manager H. J. McKeown for the "feed" and the committee with the entertainment in hand announces that it will be "the thing of the season," and every college man that can be found is being asked to attend.

Beautiful Myrtle.—C. Lokdam, of North Bend, a specialist in fine myrtle wood work, was in Marshfield yesterday exhibiting some beautiful specimens of his handiwork. The Times acknowledges receipt of a handsome piece of myrtle.

ORPHEUM
"Where Motion Pictures Look Better"

RUNAWAY JUNE
ORPHEUM TONIGHT
Wednesday and Thursday.

The second installment, in two reels, of "Runaway June," promises to be even more interesting than the first. June is pursued down Fifth avenue by the man in the black van and several close up scenes are shown at Rector's, the world-famous restaurant. The interest is well maintained and the story grows continually more interesting. The most striking, attractive features of this wonderful serial are the live action, the clean and entertaining story, the entire absence of a "blood and thunder" plot and the scenes laid in New York and beautiful Bermuda.

ALLEGANY ITEMS

(Special to the Times.)
Captain C. E. Edwards went back to Loon Lake Tuesday with repairs for the mill. A pulley on the edge shaft was broken.

Ervin Smith and Fay Mattson came in from the lake Wednesday evening and say the roads are pretty rough.

The road on West Fork is good as far up as Gess's place, a little rough but mostly dry.

Our road master, Mr. Stull, has moved up the East Fork to the old Hendrickson place, with his camp, where he will commence work on a new piece of grade.

Two of our young friends, Miss Hodson and Mr. Earl Gray, were married last Saturday in Coquille. After they had located in their new home, near Gould's camp, they were entertained by a Chirivari party, provided with tin cans, fish horns, cow bells, firearms, etc. The whistling of the big donkey engine was tied, and that, with the other musical instruments made a glorious uproar.

The party was finally invited into the house where ample refreshments were served.

All their numerous friends unite in wishing the bride and groom a long, happy and prosperous life.

DIES IN OAKLAND

FORMER MARSHFIELD MAN PASSES AWAY

J. J. Englehardt, Formerly an Artist Here, Expires Suddenly Yesterday.

J. J. Englehardt, an artist of very great ability and who conducted a studio in Marshfield in 1906, died at his home in Oakland yesterday, Wednesday, April 14th, at 10 a. m. Although he had been ailing for a short time his death was unexpectedly sudden and a great shock to his wife. He was married to Miss Vienna Masters, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Masters of Catching Inlet, in June, 1906, and shortly after left for Portland where he conducted a studio, and from which city he went to Seattle and then to Oakland where he established his home. He has conducted studios in all the leading cities on the Pacific Coast.

The funeral will be held from his late home in Oakland on Friday, April 16th.

There are no children.
