FRIENDS PAY LAST RESPECTS TO J. TOM HALL

Flowers and Wreaths Bedeck Casket and Residence is Overcrowded at Afternoon Services

Old friends and fellow lodge members, in a crowd that filled the family residence on Commercial avenue and left large groups outside gathered this afternoon at two o'clock to pay their last respects to J. Tom Hall, one of the most prominent pioneers of Coos County and a man known to practically everyone in Southwestern Oregon. Great bouquets and floral wreaths decked the casket. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Robert Browning and the Episcopal choir rendered several hymns.

With bared heads the members of the Knights of Pythias marched in line to the Odd Fellows cemetery, where they had charge of the funeral services. Many vehicles followed in one of the largest funerals in this city in years.

Mrs. Sarah Tenbrook, a sister, arrived this morning on the stage from Roseburg. The Circuit Court and jury adjourned until Monday and came over to attend the services, practically all of them being old friends who for years have known and worked with Mr. Hall.

The morning train also brought many old friends from the Coquille Valley and from many points of the county came friends to pay their last respects to the deceased.

Had $3000 Insurance. Mr. Hall had $3000 life insurance in favor of Mrs. Hall. He carried $2000 in the Workmen and $1000 in the Degree of Honor. S. B. Cathcart, of these organizations said that this would be promptly paid.

The pall bearers this afternoon were R. O. Graves, Judge James Watson, D. L. Road, Frank Norton, Carl Evertsen and C. F. McKnight.

MAY DAY PARTY TONIGHT

Dance at Eagles Hall to be Brilliant Affair.

Elaborate preparations have marked the party to be given this evening at Eagle Hall for the benefit of the book fund of the Public Library. So many calls are made at the librarian's desk for new books, especially late fiction that the board decided to give this benefit dance, all the proceeds of which will be devoted to the purchase of late novels and reference works.

The hall has been beautifully decorated with rhododendrons and presents the appearance of a veritable May day bower of beauty. Anthony's orchestra will furnish the music.

WATERFRONT NEWS

At 8:30 last night with a full passenger list the Nann Smith left down the bay but was unable to cross out. Advices from her agents are that she will attempt the passage between noon time and this evening.

Coming from the North the steamship Breakwater is scheduled to arrive tomorrow morning from Portland.

OVER 50,000 HEARD U. OF O. PROFS. LECTURE IN YEAR

Extension Bulletin Just Received Tells How University Courses May be Taken out of School

More than 50,000 people outside of Eugene during the last year listened to lectures of University of Oregon professors. 523 lectures were delivered, thus showing concretely the aim of the state institution to bring as much as possible the university to the people. Several of the lectures listed were given in Marshfield. Two months ago Prof. Stafford, of the chemistry department, delivered an address here and several more in the Coquille Valley. The library at Eugene contains more than 52,000 volumes of books. These are available for the people of the state. Clubs formed for the purpose of study are able in this way to get hold of information which ordinarily they could not secure. The librarians also do their best to answer all inquiries that may be sent them.

But it is the correspondence study department that makes a determined effort to meet the people. According to the Extension Service Bulletin which has just been received here there are now enrolled students from all sections of the state, many being from Coos County.

All ranks and ages are enrolled. Last year in Portland a gray-haired mother of a large family became a student of English and short story writing. Through her correspondence she was put in touch with instructors, her work was criticized and now she has sold many stories on the market to magazine and other periodicals.

Some are unable to take the time or pay the expense of attending the University. By writing the Registrar, says the Bulletin, they will be given all information necessary for taking work in any subject in which they may be interested. A certain amount of University credit toward a diploma is allowed for the successful completion of such work. In this way many students have finally graduated, ending their last half of a course at the University whereas they never could have spent all their time their studying. No time limits are placed on this mode of education.

AMONG THE SICK

Brother is Dead.

S. A. Carmichael, the timber cruiser of this city, is in Portland where he was called by the death of his brother, William Carmichael. A sister who resides in Michigan was also called to Portland to attend the funeral, after which Mr. Carmichael will return to Marshfield.

Say Drew Knife.

Paul Kruger rushed into the office of the Justice of the Peace this morning demanding a warrant for the arrest of Sam Centers, who he declared had slapped his face in the Eagle Bar. He exhibited his face, both cheeks reddened to a deep and beautiful hue. According to witnesses from the saloon it was said that Centers made a remark about Kruger and that the latter drew his knife and only the quick action of the bartender in leaping that he already had the knife in it. On the other hand Kruger used across the bar kept him from using out paring his fingernails. Judge Pennock refused to issue a warrant and dismissed the men.

CANADA BARS LABORERS

Ray Chambers has returned from a trip to British Columbia, where he went last week to take a position in a cannery. On arriving at that point he was not allowed to land by the Canadian officials for the reason that he was a laborer. That government has a law in force prohibiting laborers coming into that country, which was passed to prevent the landing of Hindoos, with whom the officials had considerable trouble a few months ago.—Gardiner Courier.

CONCRETE PILING

Victor Anderson, of North Bend, is putting concrete casing around 125 piles in the Southern Oregon Company dock at Empire. The cement will prevent the piling being eaten away by the teredo. When Mr. Anderson has completed the Empire contract he will move his plant to South Slough bridge where he will treat a number of piles in that structure.

Enjoys Life in Open.—Joel Ostling is up from the beach above Bandon where he has been for several weeks engaged in mining. He expects to return there on Sunday morning if possible. The place of Mr. Ostling is being taken by Harry Forsberg who is with Gosta Norbeck. Mr. Ostling declares that they all enjoy the life of the beach and are able to get three and four square miles a day.

Trade Property.—Jan. Hartley has traded a ten acre tract on Indian Inlet to G. M. Binckley for the latter's residence and property in Florence. The deal was made by J. E. Cooley.

Big Catches With Flies.—Most of the fishermen have been out on the lake early in the season for the use of flies very successfully. "Trout Joe" Josephson came to town today from near Allegany on the North Fork of the Coos River where he has been camping with his wife for the past four days. With flies, he says, he managed to get an average of 10 speckled beauties every day. The type used were the Blue, Royal, Cushman and the Professor together with a spoon hook. A large assortment of the fish were on display today in the window of the Gunney.

It's Money Well Spent

It's far better to spend $50 or $1,000 in advertising in The Times and makes more net profit than it is to spend nothing for advertising and make less net profit.

Out of every ten men who succeed, nine do so by liberal publicity. The tenth man is usually a freak exception.

Consistent advertising keeps you even with or ahead of your competitor.

Most of our merchants are quick to realize that newspaper advertising is the best and that ads in The Times bring results.
