Tapped the Bottle.—Paddy O'Shea "tapped down" Front street this afternoon and after playing train for a few minutes he was signaled and switched to a siding in the Carter Hotel, there to rest enroute until his track and head cleared a bit. He had no money.

Big Bon Fire.—Chas. Van Dyne last evening had a bon-fire at Ninth and Central that made them all take notice. He had the trees on the corner of the Swanson apartments trimmed and has transformed the appearances of that section.

Arrive Safely.—J. W. Mitchell has received a telegram from Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Crawford announcing their safe arrival at Sabetha, Kansas, where they were called by the illness of Mrs. Crawford's mother. The latter is in rather critical condition.

Railroad Men Here.—K. D. Hauser and Swan Benson, railroad contractors at Ten Mile, and Engineer V. G. Hindmarsh came in today on business. Mr. Benson recently returned from Newburg where he was supervising spring work on his model farm.

Move to New Location.—The Coos County Business Men's association is today moving its office from the First National Bank building into the second floor of the Coke building. The change is made because of the enlargement in the law offices of John D. Goss.

New Cashier.—F. L. Grannis has given up his position as a teacher in the schools at Powers to take a position as cashier in the Breakwater office in Marshfield, succeeding Clyde Dindinger who was promoted to the agency of the local railway at Powers. Mr. Grannis took up his new work this week.

Wins Prize.—Miss Mary Louise McArthur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. McArthur, whose cleverness in sketches and miniature sculptor work has attracted much attention here, has just won a prize in a contest of the Tuck's Art company of New York. She submitted some color sketches and has just received a fine book and some fine pictures.

Veterans Guard of Honor.—There was a special meeting of the local G. A. R. veterans yesterday afternoon to consider further plans for Decoration Day. The orders of the day will be in charge of the Veterans and they will form the guard of honor. The number has fallen off a few this year though many of the old soldiers are still hale and hearty and in active business.

Two in at Finish.—A month ago, the debating team of the Bandon high school, having won the championship of the county, went north and after defeating the Medford high school, lost to the Salemites. The latter meets this week with the team of the Enterprise high school, winners of the eastern state division, for the debating championship of the state.

Dr. Morrow Safe.—Immediately after the news came that the Lusitania had been sunk many began inquiries regarding Dr. E. V. Morrow, of Marshfield, who was known to have left for the front in Belgium. Word has been received that he already is across the water and was not on the Lusitania. He left Washington April 11, and now is in the Belgium hospital at La Panne.

Crack Major in Eye.—Word has been received here that Major J. J. Morrow, U. S. Engineer who has charge of the government projects on Coos Bay, received a golf ball in the eye the other day and is now traveling with a much blackened optic. He was at the Waverly Club's links in Portland when a second golf enthusiast tried a lusty put. The Major's eyesight will not be impaired.

Powers Jewelry Store.—Otis Wilson returned last night from Powers where he arranged to open a branch of the Red Cross Jewelry and Optical department. He will have a room in the Craig hotel at Powers. For the time being he will divide his time between the Red Cross stores in Marshfield and Powers and may later spend all his time there if business there warrants it. He is greatly impressed with the outlook there.

Love Short Lived.—Telling a story of four months of married life that has devolved itself into continual beatings and exhibiting bruises to illustrate her story, a young woman appeared this morning before Justice Pennock and asked what could be done. She told a pitiful story of being left without funds, of a husband that, she said, spent money on other women. The husband is an employee at the Smith mill, she said, and makes fairly good wages. The Judge advised her to seek an attorney with a view of attaching the man's wages, and she left the court.

Two Divorces.—Two Coos Bay divorce cases are slated for hearing in circuit court at Coquille today or this evening. They are those of Mrs. G. M. Bailey vs. G. M. Bailey of North Bend, former councilman from Coos Bay, and Mrs. Anna Peters of North Bend whose husband has departed for parts unknown. Mrs. Peters was formerly employed in Frederick Hillister's office. A. S. Hammond who represents parties in the two cases went to Coquille this afternoon. Both will probably be granted by default.

Becomes Top Heavy.—Edward Kennedy took aboard a cargo last night that shifted to starboard, threw his compass out of kilter and sent him meandering on an uneven keel down Front street. A copper gave him a tow, though he had only 15 cents. He declared a moratorium before Judge Butler this morning.

First of Booklets Out.—Dr. C. W. Leslie, chairman of the advertising committee of the Chamber of Commerce, today was showing the first of the 300,000 booklets ordered. The copy has more than a dozen Coos Bay pictures together with facts of this section in a condensed form. The remainder of the booklets will be ready in a week for shipment to San Francisco for distribution. The cost is less than half a cent apiece, the entire job coming under $1400.

Gets Boat.—C. J. Hillstrom, of West Marshfield, had a novel experience with Times want ads today and discovered that they brought results in some remarkable ways. A couple of weeks ago, someone stole his boat from the water front and although he searched high and low he could not find it. Last night he read a found ad of A. E. Stonecypher that a boat had been found and he thought it might be his. This morning he started to look up the boat that Stonecypher had found and in passing the waterfront was amazed to discover that his boat had been returned in good shape. He said that he would not have known that his boat was back had he not read The Times ad about the other boat being found.
