THE CENTRAL AVENUE BOOSTER

Published Every Friday in the Interests of Coos Bay in General and Central Avenue in particular.

NO BIG STORY THIS WEEK

OUR subscribers will notice that we haven't got no great big story in our columns this week with a great big scare head on top of it like we usually do. The reason for this is that no terrible big event of this kind happened in our midst during the past week and as a result there ain't none in.

Sometimes big events like this happen and sometimes they don't. Why in this? Answer—We don't know why it is—All we know it is so.

Perhaps by the time next week rolls around there will be some big scandal or other happen that will occupy a whole column or two in The Booster and see if this turns out as we predict or not.

We will take it very kindly if anybody hearing of any big event will inform us of same so that we can write it up and give our subscribers the advantage of the news in these columns. If more folks done this there would be more news in The Booster from time to time.

CENTRAL AVENUE SAYINGS

Fishing is Fine.—A lot of Central Avenue folks are going fishing Sunday, weather permitting. They ought to go to church instead.

Ball Game Sunday.—Gone Crosthwaite will lead his Central Avenue Booster Colts to North Bend Sunday to trim the Front street Superbas. He says that what the Boosters will do to the Superbas will be super and it will be worth a journey farther than North Bend to see.

Have You Noticed.—We don't know whether you have paid any particular attention to it or not, but we have noticed that the days nowadays is considered longer than they were a spell back, at which time they were considerable shorter. This seems almost like a coincidence.

What Smiths Must Listen To.—"Every man whose name is Smith," remarked a traveling man of that name at the Chandler the other day, "must listen to something like this every day: 'So your name is Smith, is it? Har! Har! Har! Smith is such a strange name. Har! Har! Har! Don't you know I used to wonder where all the Smiths came from until I came to Coos Bay and saw the big sign 'Smith Manufacturing Company.'" (More business of making merry.)

A Near Accident.—J. W. Bennett drove over to Central Avenue on his new saddle horse which he is engaged in trying to break to the saddle and the horse is engaged in trying to break Joe's neck and it nearly succeeded recently. Joe was riding along unconcerned thinking of nothing in particular when an old newspaper blowed across the road under the horse's hoofs. The horse jumped clean and clear out from under Joe quicken seat. Joe hit the road so hard he said he thought to goodness at first his spinal column had went clean up through his hat. The horse ran back to the stable like the wind and was there when Joe got there.

Henry Sengstacken is franker than most. He says he never cares to hear the other side of the question.

PERSONAL MENTION.

FRANK COHAN says in view of the European excitement he has postponed his trip abroad this season.

ISAAC R. TOWER, Claude Thompson, Arthur Peck and fellow tennis sharks are out whenever they get a chance yelling "Love all," but it can't be did; besides one or more of them have already made different promises.

HARRY NASBURG has been spending the week courting at Coquille which might be serious, being as his wife is away, but Harry's courting is in Judge Coke's court in the court house and he gets $2 a day for it, but he says he would rather be at home.

JAY DOYLE returned the other day from one of the most successful fishing trips of the season. He caught 84, which breaks records so far this year. Jay told us the place but he wouldn't let us publish it in The Booster because he doesn't want Dave Stafford to find it out. Jay maybe will go back next week.

WILL DUNGAN, our accommodating and popular undertaker says he can't recall when business was so slack in his line. Will says he doesn't wish any of his neighbors any harm, but since he has to live he would like to see trade pick up some. We hope it won't pick up in our direction.

GUY CHAMBERS was in from his ranch the first of the week. He says he has abandoned growing cigars and cubed cigars and has planted a bunch of cabbage. He has opened up negotiations with the German government having heard there was a shortage of sauer kraut. It remains to be seen whether J. T. Harrigan will regard this as a violation of neutrality.

SUBSCRIBE NOW

NOW is the time to subscribe for The Booster. There is no better time of the year to become a regular subscriber to this bright, breezy, bellicose and bustling paper than in the spring. Do not put it off until fall, but start right in now and be sure to pay your subscription in advance and then your conscience won't hurt you (if you happen to have such a thing), to say nothing of the cash in advance being a great boon to us as well. Think this over, but don't think it over too long and then forget all about it.

SMILE-A-WHILE

THE SMOKEHOUSE MINSTRELS

"Mr. Interlocutor, can you tell me who was the first man to have a walking stick?"
"No, Mr. Kellond, I cannot. Will you enlighten us?"
"Why, it was Adam, Mr. Interlocutor."
"How do you know it was Adam, Mr. Kellond?"
"Didn't Eve present him with a Cain?"
"As soon as the place has been properly fumigated by the Board of Health Mr. Wursen Wursen will render that pathetic ballad entitled 'He Works Out at the Pulp Mill, but He Hasn't Got a Scent.'"

THE HORRORS OF WAR

This is an awful war. My land! It makes a fellow frown. The Rumanians capture Przemyśl and Pzhasnyz is the next town.

CRISCO

FOR FRYING FOR CAKE MAKING FOR SHORTENING

It is economical and digestible. This is a Twentieth Century Food Product. It is richer than other cooking fats, and therefore a less quantity must be used to secure the best results. Use one-fifth to one-fourth less than of butter or lard.

You can fry fish, onions, potatoes, doughnuts, etc., all in the same Crisco, merely by straining out the food particles after each frying. Thus you need not have separate amounts of fat for frying different foods. Just strain the Crisco back into the can through cheese cloth.

Free Cook Book.
This new book by Marion Harris Neil, Cookery Editor, Ladies' Home Journal, gives 250 original recipes and tells many interesting and valuable facts about foods. It is free.
