BODY IS IDENTIFIED

R. E. KNORR, VICTIM OF WRECK, WASHED UP ON BEACH

Shoes Only Means of Recognizing Former Prominent Gold Beach Druggist—To be Cremated

The body cast up on the Bandon beach yesterday, a victim of the Randolph wreck, has been identified as that of R. E. Knorr, prominent Gold Beach druggist and formerly of Marshfield. The body was so badly decomposed and the clothing torn away that only the shoes were left for identification.

Mrs. Knorr is ill from the shock of her husband's death. This morning a telegram was received by Peter Mirasoul, a friend of the family, asking that he take charge of the body.

Being a member here of Myrtle Lodge No. 3, Knights of Pythias, they will see that the body is brought up tomorrow on the train from Bandon. It will be sent to Portland on the Santa Clara Monday for cremation.

Miss Xenia Knorr, a daughter, is expected here tomorrow and will accompany the body of her father.

The steamer Hardy will be here in two weeks when she will take a cargo from the sash and door factory. This cargo will go to San Francisco and from there will be shipped by rail east.

The Porter mill will start with a crew of 75 men. The force of the sash and door factory has been cut from 34 men to 29 men. At the Tar Heel camp about 30 men are employed. With others in the employ of the Simpson company on the wharfs and about the city the total number who are given work by the starting of operations aggregates about 150 with an approximate payroll of $7,500 a month.

Millicoma leaves 5:30 Sunday morning with special fishing parties for Coos River.

RURAL MAIL ROUTE

SOUTH COOS RIVER FREE DELIVERY SANCTIONED

Postoffice Department Agreeable to Service and Petitions to be Circulated

Coos Bay's first rural free delivery route will be established on Coos River to the forks and thence up the south fork to the head of navigation providing 110 names are signed to the petition by June 1. Such was the announcement made today by Postmaster McLain.

By June 7 the list must be in Washington according to orders just received from there. A year ago a petition was circulated and the names secured. It is believed that this time there will be no hitch in the securing of the service.

For the past 30 years Stephen Rogers has carried on a private free delivery of mail on South Coos River. Daily his boats have done their best and more than one farmer has been made happy by receiving his paper and letters in the returning milk cans.

When established this will be Coos Bay's R. F. D. No. 1 with R. F. D. No. 2 well under way, this to be up Isthmus Inlet to Millington and out as far as Libby.

Delivery of mail on the route must be according to contract and the successful aspirant must have passed a civil service examination. He will have to furnish his boat. The sum of $880 is allowed by the postoffice department for such a route, delivery to be made three times a week. The time consumed, it is estimated, would be between 8 a. m. and 3 p. m.

Temporarily some one will be appointed by Postmaster Hugh McLain and the examination held soon after for the permanent deliverer.

An inspector of the post office is expected here within a few days. A wire will be sent to Washington asking that he be instructed to investigate the forming of R. F. D. No. 2.

PORTER MILL OPENS TUESDAY

upon the conditions of the lumber market whether or not the plants can be kept going. If at the end of the periods stated it is found that it will be profitable to operate the company will continue to do so.

Policy of Economy.

"In order to keep a lumber mill open under the present condition of the lumber market it is necessary to observe the strictest economy. We will follow this policy. I have ordered a reduction of twenty-five cents a day in wages over the scale paid when the mill was operated before. All of the old men as far as possible will be employed again. At least they will be given an opportunity to make good in their various positions. We have had many applications from the outside but the company wishes to give everyone at home the first chance. The company will sell lumber at retail and we expect to do a big business in this line but owing to the policy of economy we will sell lumber at home at a small profit but will be compelled to look more carefully to the matter of credits. We hope to give the local people the benefit of the best prices possible and to do this we must follow a policy of close collections.

Logging Camps.

"The Tar Heel logging camp is now in operation. We have in the booms at the mill about 2,500,000 feet more to be taken out at Tar Heel. This will keep the mill supplied during the experimental period. If it is found that the Porter mill can be kept going, Daniels Creek camp will again be opened. But for the present, with the logs on hand, the Tar Heel camp will furnish sufficient logs."

R. A. Wernick, who has been the manager of the sash and door factory when it was operated as a separate company, will remain in his position under the general centralization of the business with Division Manager Arkely at the head.

Railroad Order.

The Porter mill will cut lumber to fill an order from the Southern Pacific railroad and also lumber to ship outside. The railroad order is a big one and constitutes to a great extent the furnishing of bridge construction timbers. The mill will turn out this work first but will also cut lumber for the general trade. The steamer A. M. Simpson will be put on the run and will arrive here in about three weeks. While the mill is busy cutting timber for the bridge work the Simpson will make trips to Coos Bay about every five weeks which will be sufficient to transport what goes outside while the bridge lumber is being cut. Lumber shipped from North Bend will go to the com-
