

BOATMEN APPEAL

CAPTAIN BULGIN COMES TO ADJUST DIFFERENCES

Will Investigate Decisions of U. S. Steamboat Inspectors Edwards and Fuller.

Appealing from the stern decisions of the U. S. Steamboat Inspectors Edwards and Fuller, the steamboatmen of the Coquille River this week have a chance to explain their troubles to a higher authority.

Three times the inspectors have come here to investigate Coquille River troubles. The first time several captains and officers were suspended for 20 months.

The result was the tying up for a time of both the Coquille and the Charm for the reason there were no licensed operators obtainable to run them.

Captain Bulgin has just arrived in Portland from San Francisco and expects to come here on the Breakwater. He will probably hold his investigation in Coquille and what the results will be on the matter of Coquille steamboating is a matter of interesting conjecture among those who have followed the troubles of the rival passenger and freight lines.

O-29 AS SUBMARINE WINS WATER CARNIVAL FETE

U. of O. Quartette That Sang Here Makes Hit With Night Songs on Mill Race Banks

How the Varsity quartette sent their songs floating on the night air, while hidden in a bower of roses on the banks of the Mill race in Eugene, while down the stream there paddled canoes decorated in every conceivable manner and strung with colored lights is a story being told by more than 2,000 people who lined the race to see the first water carnival held there.

Each fraternity and sorority contested, putting into the fete a craft symbolizing some event. The prize was won by A.T.O. fraternity with its replica of the "O-29," a black German submarine that crept stealthily down stream in the darkness, sending bright colored torpedoes right and left.

There were several students from Marshfield who took part in the event that in every way was called a great success.

WAR VETERANS TO HEAR SERMON SUNDAY

G. A. R. of Coos Bay to go in Body to North Bend Presbyterian Church for Services.

In a body the Civil War veterans of Coos Bay will go to the Presbyterian Church in North Bend Sunday morning to attend the sermon to be given by Rev. Shimian. According to the orders of Commander Simeon Miller.

There are approximately 18 old soldiers on Coos Bay, says S. B. Cathcart, senior vice-commander of the local camp. Those from Marshfield will meet the veterans from North Bend before 11 o'clock Sunday morning near the North Bend News stand.

The following Sunday will be Decoration Day and the veterans then hold their regular services here in the Orpheum Theater.

WILL USE DYNAMITE

NEED EXPLOSIVE TO START LOG JAM AT ALLEGANY

A. H. Powers Visits Place to Arrange to Bring Logs From Gould Camp Down Stream

(Special to The Times.)

ALLEGANY, Ore., May 20.—There has been heavy rainfall in this locality and at present there are three or four feet of fresh water in the river. A. H. Powers has been here and made an effort to start the logs from the Gould camp. They are jammed in the river at the Gage place and it will probably be necessary to use dynamite to start them.

The rains have stopped the road work above Glen Junction as there is too much mud to permit working. Charles Rodine has just bought a new silo outfit consisting of silo, engine and cutter. The silo is 8x32 feet in size and is tongued and grooved.

All three schools in this vicinity are in session. The Allegany school is taught by Miss Weekley. The school on the east fork of the river is in charge of Miss Monovich and the school on the west fork is taught by Miss Maxfield. All three teachers are doing good work.

TEACHER ASKS PAY

SUIT OF CAROLINE SIBEL NEXT ON COURT DOCKET

Claims Was Illegally Dismissed by North Bend School Board and Asks Pay For Rest of Year

(Special to The Times.) COQUILLE, May 20.—With the termination of the hard fought Mitchell-Coach case there appears next on the docket the case of Miss Caroline Sibel, former seventh grade teacher, against the North Bend school district.

The case promises to be one of much interest. Miss Sibel claims that she taught three years in the school and shortly before Christmas was informed that she was no longer wanted.

The question as to whether or not she is entitled on her contract, to pay for the rest of the year, is expected to rest on the argument as to whether or not she was dismissed or quit on her own accord. She says another teacher had her position immediately after the Christmas vacation, and knowing this, did not appear for duty.

For the plaintiff J. T. Brand is appearing with C. E. Maybee and A. H. Derbyshire, for the defendants.

CATCH A DEVILFISH

EIGHT TENTACLED MONSTER FROM HALIBUT BANKS

Death Leaves Strong Arms Weak and Limp—Charles Albers and Herman Hansen Get 1800 lb. Halibut

Off the halibut banks a devilfish measuring 11 feet from tip to tip of its tentacles was caught on a fishing line by Charles Albers and Herman Hansen who were fishing in an open boat. This morning the big fish attracted much attention at the Fisherman's market where it was brought.

Another "of the devils" was caught on a line and with its long arms, lined with "suction drags," made itself fast to the boat and defied all efforts to pry it loose. The hook was lifted out of its capacious opening that serves as a mouth and the fish disappeared in the deep.

The halibut banks, say the fishermen, are about eight miles directly off the coast at Whiskey Run. The second fish was caught there. It weighs about 40 pounds and has eight tentacles, each about five feet in length.

Ordinarily these arms mean death when once the fish has someone clasped to its "bosom" and for this reason fishermen exercise much caution in bringing one aboard a small boat. The body is large, round and flabby. A huge pocket opening is the mouth through which water is sucked and out of which its food of minute marine life is taken. The Japanese dry the tentacles and sell them in their markets as food delicacies.

The fishermen this trip also brought in about 1,800 pounds of halibut, finding the fishing on the banks there very good.

LOCAL OVERFLOW

JOEL OSTLIND came in from the beach above Bandon yesterday. He walked the entire 27 miles with a pack in six hours and says he feels none the worse today. He expects to go back again on Saturday.

MRS. GEORGE MURDOCK, sister of R. O. Graves, accompanied by her husband, is expected here on the Santa Clara from Portland tomorrow and will visit here for about a month. She has not seen Mr. Graves for several years. Mr. Murdock is an attorney with the U. S. Department of Justice and comes now from Salt Lake City where he has been conducting some cases.

Weather Hints Berries.—Raisers of straw berries assert that the rainy weather hanging on is not only delaying the ripening of the big crop but there is also danger that many of the berries will rot and become a loss. It is also feared now that if the sun should come out bright and warm the berries would be sun scalded, a fact that would detract greatly from their lusciousness. The crop this year is said to be bigger than in several seasons.

WATERFRONT NEWS

A wire from San Francisco to Agent McGeorge this morning advised him of the cancellation of the charter with the steamship Carlos for a voyage here. No reason was given.

The Nann Smith will leave down for San Francisco some time on Saturday.

The Nann Smith, according to a wireless message, will cross in from San Francisco about 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The Santa Clara crossed out of the Columbia this morning for Coos Bay.
