PORT ORFORD READY

MAKES PLANS FOR AGATE CARNIVAL AGAIN THIS YEAR

Will Be Made a Bigger Event Than Ever Held There Before

(Special to The Times) PORT ORFORD, Ore., June 15.—Great preparations are being made for the Agate carnival this year which it is expected to make bigger than ever before.

At a meeting of the Commercial Club plans for the event were discussed at considerable length. The carnival, which will be on August 19, 20 and 21, will be held at Agate beach, on the same ground as last year.

A new and attractive feature that will be put on this year is a carnival chorus of some forty voices. Other new and novel features will make this the biggest celebration in the history of Curry county. The club has gone on record as opposed to booze and bootlegging, and will bend every effort to make the carnival a clean celebration where a good wholesome air will surround the women and children that come there.

ARE STILL CANNING

SEABORG VACATES PORTION OF BUILDING AT ROGUE RIVER

Temporary Injunction Expected to be Dismissed Today, Says C. H. Buffington

"Not for a minute has the salmon cannery of B. A. Seaborg on the Rogue River been stopped because of a temporary injunction granted the Wedderburn Trading Company 15 days ago," says C. H. Buffington, attorney for Seaborg who was in the city today. A motion to dismiss the injunction, he said, will be presented to County Judge Wood today and that the attorney for the Macleay interests has given assurance that they will make no remonstrance in their injunction being dissolved. Mr. Macleay stated last Saturday while in Marshfield that he had ordered the injunction dropped in order to start a suit in equity involving the line.

The injunction recalls the story of how the Rogue river, in its freak windings, finally cut back so far that the control of all the lands on both sides of the lower river was lost to R. D. Hume.

Years ago Hume took up land bordering the river. A tract owned by Alf Miller was half a mile back from the water. The course so changed that it left Miller a frontage on Rogue River. He leased this to Seaborg for a term of years on which to build a cannery.

The Wedderburn Trading Company contended that the lines ran so that the front part of the new cannery extended over on the company land.

Moved In Night Hearing of the move the night before the cannery men vacated the entire front part of the building, in the hours of darkness, moving their machinery and supplies to the rear. They roped off an eight by about fifteen feet "dead line." This, of course cut off their dock but Mr. Buffington says that all freight and fish are now brought in from the side.

Has Force of Men More than 60 men are employed by Seaborg, says the attorney. Of this number about 30 are fishermen. "There has been not a bit of trouble between the fishermen of the two outfits," he says. Chinook salmon this year are bringing about 75 cents a piece, a boost in the prices of last year.

"And in the last two weeks," continued Mr. Buffington, "we have canned more fish than the Wedderburn people. We have steadily put up between $500 and $600 worth every day and the season is now getting better."

REPORT MADE ON THE TRUST LAWS

Result of Extensive Study on the Subject Is Presented to President Wilson Today

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 14.—Results of an extensive study of Trust Laws and Unfair Competition were submitted to President Wilson today in a report prepared by the old bureau of Corporations for its informative value to Congress in enacting legislation. Federal anti-trust laws, judicial decisions and their influences upon forms of business organizations are discussed as are the state laws and those of foreign countries.

The chief conclusions of the study are that the development of anti-trust legislation and consequent judicial decisions have been important factors in shaping forms of business organization and that interpretations of the Sherman law, especially the more recent decisions, have demonstrated its far reaching effect. Practically no twilight zone has been left the report says which cannot be reached by state or federal law.

"Although the Sherman anti-trust says the report, "it is not so clearly established that the judicial decisions afford a basis for determining with exactness the lawfulness, or unlawfulness when taken severally of many particular devices that have been used collectively to control the market. Almost every decision has been based on a complex set of facts and the use of a number of different devices to restrain trade.

HOEY DENIES CHARGES MADE

Says No Men Were Discharged After Being Shipped in for Work on the Railroad

Denial of charges recently made at Eugene regarding work on the railroad is made in the following from the Eugene Register:

No men were discharged, and the railroad is not shipping in men in any quantities, according to the statement of H. P. Hoey, assistant Southern Pacific engineer, who completed an investigation of charges made to the district attorney, earlier in the week. A laborer had complained that Portland employment bureaus were in collusion with sub-contractors to defraud the laborers.

Mr. Hoey found that no men have been shipped in to sub-contractors since April, and that the only men shipped recently was a force of 60 men, track layers, sent in to lay steel from Mapleton to Acme. Of this number 12 were unable to stand the heavy work, and twelve more men were sent in two days later to take their places. These men were not employed by the sub-contractors, but by the Willamette Pacific company direct, and none were discharged, according to Mr. Hoey.

NEW SERVICE FROM WEATHER BUREAU

Relative Humidity in Middle of the Day Will Be Included in Reports

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 15.—The relative humidity in the middle of the day will hereafter be included in the weather reports furnished daily by the Weather Bureau to the newspapers. At present observations of the relative humidity are taken at 8 o'clock in the morning and 8 o'clock in the evening, but at these times the temperature is likely to be much lower and the relative humidity much higher than in the middle of the day. An extra observation of the relative humidity will therefore be taken, probably at 2 p. m.

This additional information is expected to be not only of general interest to the public at large, but of practical value in certain branches of manufacturing. The humidity of the atmosphere plays, for example, an important part in cotton spinning, and in many textile mills it is necessary to increase it by artificial means. An observation of the relative humidity at 2 p. m. will indicate

A mighty good doctor says to me once; "When it comes to curin' folks, Nature is the real M. D. I'm only her assistant." That's the way I feel about curin' tobacco for VELVET.

IT'S hard to show Nature anything about curing tobacco. So we have adopted Nature's own way to make VELVET the smoothest smoking tobacco—slow, patient ageing.

Men may "process," but they can't put into tobacco any finer pipe qualities than those Kentucky's limestone soil so richly gives to the Burley de Luxe.

But these qualities can be improved. They are brought out in their fullness in the aged-in-the-wood mellowness of cool, slow-burning VELVET.

For two years the finest Burley leaf remains in sealed wooden casks, and then only is it ready to be made into VELVET.

AN OBJECT LESSON

At the beginning of the war, when business looked blue, the automobile manufacturers decided they would go right ahead. They did not curtail their newspaper advertising. If anything they increased it. What was the result? The manufacturers almost without exception now report that their sales have increased right along, and in some instances are from 25 to 50 per cent ahead of the same months of 1913-14. The big automobile shows held in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Boston, have been attended by the largest crowds ever known in the history of such exhibitions and the number of machines disposed of has been far in excess of those of other years.

—and now for the short cake

The old-fashioned strawberry short cake which mother makes in the modern gas range is about the most delicious delicacy which was ever baked. In the old days when grandmother made the short cake it was a day-long task. The fire in the coal range had to be just right. She had to wait for the oven to come to the correct temperature. Now it is a question of minutes to get the oven right. The modern cabinet gas range makes baking a real pleasure. It has removed all of the guess work, all of the drudgery; there is no longer an over-heated kitchen and a tired mother at the dinner table.
