CONVICTED BY SKINS

G. C. SMITH FINED $100 FOR ILLEGAL HUNTING

Deputy Game Warden Thomas Makes Arrest And Waits Till Man Comes to Town

Two fawn skins in his possession and the meat hanging on a limb proved conclusive evidence, thought Justice Stanley at Coquille yesterday, to fine G. C. Smith $100 for hunting out of season on Salmon Mountain. The evidence was secured by Deputy Game Warden Thomas and the skins were produced in court. This is the second conviction within a week for illegal hunting.

The date of the transgression, according to Mr. Thomas, dates back to March 13. On a trip through the Salmon mountain country following a "hunch" he came upon the cabin of Smith in the woods and the arrest was made.

There were several matters that the Deputy had his eye on at the time and Smith was allowed to go on his own recognizance and told to come in and give himself up. He was a trifle dilatory. The warrant was given Constable Brown at Myrtle Point with suitable instructions and when Smith came to town a few days ago he was apprehended.

In both the cases of the past week severe penalties have been inflicted. In this last case the fine was remanded but Smith paid the costs which are said to be heavy. He loses his hunting license for the remainder of the year.

Deputy Game Warden Thomas declared in court that Smith had worked with John Whitehead, now wanted for hunting without a license, and that he gave game tags to Whitehead for the latter to mark game illegally gotten. The skins in question were held up by Mr. Thomas and never reached their destination in the east.

New Commission

With the new state Game Commission the Deputy Game Warden is wondering, along with every other game officer of the state, as to whether or not he is to be retained again. Automatically all their offices become vacant July 1 and reappointments or new appointments must be made.

In the 20 months that he has held the office Mr. Thomas has made 43 arrests and in every case, he states, has secured conviction.

DECISION AFFIRMED

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS JUDGE COKE IN CASE

Will Not Remove Guardians According to Word Received Here. Case Long and Involved

Judge Coke's refusal to remove the guardians of Chas. Sneddon was affirmed in a decision of the state Supreme Court according to word that has reached here. By this it is understood, so the attorneys say, that the three guardians will still retain possession of the estate.

The question as to the guardianship of Charles Sneddon has resulted in a long legal battle. In the first place he was adjudged insane by the county court many months ago and guardians were appointed. Mr. Sneddon went to the asylum.

Later he returned home and then for a second time, according to the attorneys, was adjudged insane. This time he appealed to the circuit court and by a jury was found sane. He then asked that the guardians be dismissed. This was refused and he then appealed through his attorneys to the Supreme Court. The guardians of the Sneddon estate are Mrs. Ellen Sneddon, John Sneddon and Mrs. Hannah Reese.

FOUR HAVE FIGHT

TOBACCO CAN FORM DANGEROUS WEAPON IN BATTLE

Another Claims Ear Was Bitten. Three Drop Fines Into the General Fund

Two regular fights were staged in Marshfield last night and this morning the four participants appeared before Judge Butler to explain their disagreement. "Doc" Nicholson, a youth at the Chandler, exhibited a scarred countenance which he said Ovid Wickman, another cook had given him in the Bohemian bar. The latter was fined $10. D. L. Foote and Richard Behr had trouble. Both pleaded guilty and Foote paid a $10 fine and Behr one of $5.

Talking Old Times "We were standing at the bar talking over old times," declared "Doc" Nicholson, in speaking of his engagement with Wickman, a youth of 22 years. "We got talking about cooking and the first thing I knew he was hitting me over the head."

Nicholson had undoubtedly been hit. Over his right eye was a large cut that had been sewed together, his left optic was a dusky hue with a "shanty" overhead.

A tobacco can was produced as the weapon used. Wickman explained that he was rolling a cigarette at the time and that "we were both half stoned." He said "Doc" called him a liar; "Doc" denied the allegation.

D. L. Foote admitted that he had taken several drinks before he appeared in the Right Cafe and got in trouble with the waiter. It is said the waiter was restrained by friends from using a cleaver against Foote when the latter became abusive. Dick Behr intervened and was invited outside where a fight followed.

Behr had a damaged ear. He said that Foote bit him. Both paid their fines and departed.

MAY USE THE GYM.

CITY COUNCIL SAVES MOOSE CHARTER

At Oregon City Raid is Made and Liquor Found But Case to Be Dropped

OREGON CITY, June 16.—Confronted with an ultimatum from the National head of the Moose lodge that in case any of the officers of Moose Lodge No. 961 were convicted on a charge of violating a city liquor ordinance the charter would be taken from the local lodge, the Council unanimously voted to recommend to City Attorney Schuebel that the charges against officers of the lodge be dropped.

The lodge was raided two weeks ago and two bottles of liquor, one Federal license and a large number of five-gallon demijohns were found. W. Reynolds, steward of the lodge, who was arrested, entered a plea of guilty and was fined $250. Warrants of arrest were served on all other officers a week ago today, charging a violation of the city liquor ordinance, which is punishable with a fine and jail sentence.

Since the warrants were served Dictator Noble has resigned; a house committee, composed of Mayor Jones and Councilmen Meng and Hackett, has been appointed and the bar and fixtures have been removed from the lodgerooms.

Pointers on Port Barnum Just a few short years ago the people who bought property in Bunker Hill were regarded as visionary. Today every inch of that tract of land is worth many times the original price. Exactly the same will happen at Port Barnum. This splendid property has greater natural advantages than almost any other suburban tract because of its transportation facilities. Those who purchase lots at present prices are sure to realize handsome profits. For full particulars call on or address or phone. Phone 181 J FRIZEEN & DUNCAN 68 CENTRAL AVENUE
