PAUL AND LUTHER WYMORE EXPLODE DYNAMITE CAP

One Loses Four Fingers and Other Has Skull Fractured—Live on Isthmus Inlet

Luther Wymore sustained the loss of four fingers and Paul Wymore, his brother, suffered a badly lacerated nose and a fractured skull as a result of playing with dynamite caps near their home on Isthmus Inlet above Millington last night. The lads are the sons of Frank Wymore, who is employed on the road under Superintendent F. P. Norton, and are five and six years old, respectively.

Last evening they and their brother, Morris, while playing found a box of dynamite caps belonging to the road crew. They had been watching the road gang blasting and thought that they would do a little themselves. Morris, the older lad, who has been a cripple from birth started to put in a hole and the other lads got out one of the dynamite caps. The hole was drilled too slow and they thought to touch a match to the one cap and then put it back in the box and have all of them off together.

Instead of seeing the whole boxful exploded, the one cap went off with the results stated above.

Wymore is a laboring man. His wife died last fall, leaving several little children orphans. He recently hired a woman to keep house for him as he was busy working on the road. The family has been in rather destitute circumstances and yesterday's accident makes their case more pathetic.

PARALYTIC STROKE FATAL TO ELI FORSMAN LAST NIGHT

Was Man About 60 Years of Age And Has Been In Employ of McDonald and Vaughn

Eli Forsman, aged about 60 years, died last evening at the Mercy Hospital as the result of a paralytic stroke. The old man has been a wood cutter at the McDonald and Vaughn camp on Coos River until about 10 days ago.

While in bed the deceased was taken with the stroke and the next morning removed to the hospital where he gradually grew worse. So far as is known there are no relatives in this vicinity and an effort is now being made by Coroner Wilson to secure information regarding the man.

Several times Forsman has been in the employ of McDonald and Vaughn, according to word from the camp this morning, coming back the last time about a year ago. He was active enough to still do day work in spite of his age. Arrangements for the funeral will be made later.

TAKES HOUSE AWAY

ORDERED TO VACATE PREMISES ORVILLE PURDUE USES TACT

Now Bandon Man May Be Tried For Contempt of Court—Claims House Not Mortgaged

Orville Purdue, of Bandon, when ordered by the court to vacate the premises upon which he was living immediately did so but took his house with him. Today he is in court there to show cause why he should not be cited for contempt according to Judge Sehlbrede who went to Bandon to appear against Purdue.

Not only is the definition of the word "premises" a knotty problem to Purdue but also a divorced wife, who, married, again has brought down the "screws" of the law to out her former helpmeet.

Mr. and Mrs. Purdue separated months ago. The husband gave the wife a mortgage on the home. This he failed to redeem, according to Judge Sehlbrede. He was given a year for redemption but he failed in this and in March possession of the property by his former wife was refused by Purdue.

At once Judge Sehlbrede applied to the court for an order of removal and the former husband was ordered to turn over the property. He did this, but the house was missing. Purdue had taken down the fence, put rollers under the residence which is a fairly modern structure, and the house rolled away to greener pastures.

On the other hand Purdue claims that at the time of the mortgage was given the house was not on the lot and therefore is not included in the mortgage, a point which the attorneys for the other side are fighting.

According to letters the young man has had quite a busy year. Mr. Reynolds graduated from the North Bend high school in 1909. He spent two years at the University of California and was made secretary of the U. of C. summer session in 1913. He went to Harvard that fall on a scholarship. At the latter university he specialized in economics and participated very actively in Harvard musical doings and was elected to the Pierian Society, the oldest musical organization in America. ## A Busy Year

This year Mr. Reynolds reorganized the finances of the Harvard symphony orchestra, directed a large brass band, carried more than a full number of courses and wrote a manuscript of a book on Japanese immigration in the West, which he expects at some time to publish. He played in the Harvard symphony orchestra as first trombonist and managed a flourishing stenographic and reporting bureau. Mr. Reynolds won his "H" in athletics by making first place in the annual gymnasium meet against Dartmouth college and has just been given the signal honors of a recommendation by Harvard Department of Economics for the degree of A. PORTLAND PAPER DOES NOT DO ENTIRE JUSTICE

Rout's to Curry County Given Would Scare Away Most Any Prospective Settler

The Oregonian in answering the query of a reader as to how to get to Gold Beach in Curry County and as to what are the opportunities there takes a rather round about way to do it, giving the following information which can hardly be regarded as fair:

"There is no 'easy' or 'quick' way to go to Gold Beach. The quickest way is to go by the Southern Pacific railway to West Fork, thence by pack-horse over a very rough but picturesque trail to Agness, at junction of Illinois and Rogue rivers, thence down the Rogue by launch to Gold Beach. You can thus reach there in 48 hours from Portland, at an expense of about $20. Another route is from Marshfield to Coquille by rail, thence down the Coquille River to Bandon by boat, thence by stage down the coast, via Port Orford. There are various ways of reaching Marshfield (Coos Bay) by boat and stage, and a portion of the distance can be made by rail. The trip this way costs about $35 and takes from three to four days. Another way, and the most satisfactory, is to take the Southern Pacific railroad to Grants Pass, thence auto stage to Crescent City, Cal., thence up the coast to Gold Beach. There is a regular auto stage from Crescent City up to Brookings, at the mouth of the Chetco River, and usually conveyances can be found from there to Gold Beach. The distance by this route is about 450 miles, takes three to four days and costs about $50. Opportunities in all parts of Curry County good. Write to Gold Beach Commercial Club for particulars."

The trail from West Fork on the main line of the Southern Pacific over to Agness is no worse than many other trails and roads in Oregon. Mail has been carried over it for a long time. The trip from Agness down the Rogue River in a gasoline boat is a beautiful one.

The idea of suggesting that one go clear to Grants Pass, then over to Crescent City, Cal., and up the coast might be taken to be an effort to put Gold Beach as far away as possible in the mind of the prospective settler.

As a matter of fact one can leave Portland Wednesday on the Breakwater (or the Kilburn or Santa Clara, on other days), and reach Marshfield Thursday, proceed to Bandon by train and river and leave Bandon Friday morning in an auto and be in Gold Beach before Friday night. The boat fare, including meals, is $10; fare to Bandon, $1.20 and auto fare to Gold Beach $8.00; a total of $19.20 with one night to pay for lodging and a day and a half to pay for eating.

The instructions given in the Portland paper hardly do justice to the accessibility of the Gold Beach and the Rogue River country. Besides the trip is one which affords the viewing of one of the most beautiful parts of Oregon.

As far as the Crescent City route is concerned one can go that way into Curry County but it might also be suggested that it is possible to reach Curry County by way of the Panama Canal and San Diego.

Electrical apparatus has been invented to set up pins in bowling alleys as accurately and more rapidly than manual labor.

PROFITS vs. COSTS

"I can't afford to use newspaper advertising," said one merchant. "Well, I can't afford not to," said the second one, whose business is growing even in dull times. "I don't look at what a thing costs, but what I am going to get out of it."

"Continuous newspaper advertising brings me larger, more definite returns than any other kind I have tried."

"As a matter of fact it costs less, too, for I buy no waste circulation."
