BORN

EATON—Born to Mr. and Mrs. Lester Eaton of North Bend, July 10, a son. Mr. Eaton is with the Everett pharmacy. McKENNA—Born to Mr. and Mrs. William McKenna at Mercy Hospital in North Bend, July 9, a son. McKenna was formerly Miss Bertha Conlogue and Mr. McKenna for a long time was connected with the Conlogue logging camp on the Coquille River.

Rev Hall to Speak—Rev. G. LeRoy Hall will speak in the City Hall at Eastside Sunday evening at 8 p. m.

New Fords.—F. G. Horton of Marshfield and F. C. Pursley of Coquille have new Ford touring cars.

I. R. Tower making delivery of them Pay Day Tonight.—This is the 10th of the month and pay day at the C. A. Smith mill and the stores and banks will be open as usual on such evenings.

Trial Postponed.—Because business is pressing Dwight T. Hodge this morning appeared before Judge Butler and asked that the charge against him be put off for hearing until July 28. This was granted and at the same time Dr. Straw will state his case.

Today is Payday.—Today is pay day at the Smith mill and the banks will be open this evening. Owing to a shortage of logs, both mills will be shut down Monday but both will open Tuesday morning. No definite word has been received regarding the chartering of the Nann Smith.

Stage Run Again.—After having been laid up for a few days on account of the rains the Coquille stages were again in operation today. The drivers said the roads are in fairly good shape, much better than they would have been had the autos kept at work while the highway was still wet. The auto stage to Bandon has worked the coast road without interruption.

Grading Well Done.—The grading of Anderson avenue between Third and Fourth streets is rapidly progressing and it is expected that within a few days the actual laying of the plank roadway will be commenced. There will also be a wooden sidewalk. With this completed and the street opened, it is expected there will be much traffic on Anderson avenue.

For Curry Cruise.—The Curry Co. commissioners have been negotiating with S. A. Carmichael, a well known timber cruiser, to make an official cruise of the timber in that county for assessment purposes and also to prepare a topographical map of that section for assessment purposes.

After Information.—A letter was received at the Chamber of Commerce this morning from the secretary of the Portland organization asking what information Hugh McLain had received about a railroad between here and Roseburg. It is believed that some one called the Portland Chamber over the long distance using the name of the local body. The officers here are mystified as to what the reason could be.

Many to Leave.—The weather man says fair weather for tomorrow and acting on his prediction hundreds of people, single and otherwise are planning on leaving early tomorrow morning in machines and boats for the beaches. Many will take the boats for up Coos River and still many more are planning on going out to Ten Mile for the day, every-one going armed with well filled lunch baskets and the latest novels for the shady, lazy time under the trees.

CARLOS MAY GO ON COOS BAY RUN

Belief is Expressed That Big Steam Schooner Will Replace the Nann Smith

The belief was freely expressed along the waterfront today that the big steam schooner Carlos, of the Olsen and Mahoney line, will be chartered to take the place of the Nann Smith, should the latter be given over to deep water chartering soon.

Many times within the past eight months the Carlos has been in here making extra trips for the C. A. Smith company. She is a good staunch carrier with passenger accommodations and was very well liked when on the run before.

Up to a short time ago this vessel had been plying between San Francisco and Grays Harbor in the lumber and passenger business.

It is believed certain that the Nann Smith will leave for an off shore trip though no contract has yet been closed it is stated by the company officers.

FAMOUS SHIP A BARGE

Henry Villard, Former Trim Deep Water Clipper Ship, Hauls Coal

From trim clipper ship and able to show a clean pair of heels to any sailor on the seven seas to coal hulk is the transition of the Henry Villard, of San Francisco. Old age made the craft unseaworthy and her owners feared to again send her buffeting the seas and the storms of deep water.

The Henry Villard was named after the first president of the Northern Pacific, the man who presented Villard hall to the University of Oregon. The craft in 1884 brought the first cargo of steel for the Northern Pacific railroad into Portland.

One of her last trips was the eventful one of 256 days from New York to San Francisco a few years ago. Loaded with coal the ship attempted the Horn, was thrown back and began leaking. At Staten Island she was repaired. She tried and made around the Cape of Good Hope, leaked again in the Indian Ocean and put into Melbourne where she was again patched. On the Pacific she took in more of the ocean and the crew worked the pumps into Honolulu where she was repaired enough to finish the voyage into San Francisco.

HALIBUT PLENTIFUL

Gasoline Schooner Decorah Supplies Portland From Yaquina Banks

For the first time in months Portland is getting all the halibut her citizens wish for. The gasoline schooner Decorah is now operating out of that port to the banks off Yaquina. Her last cargo of a few days ago was 12,000 pounds of fish, the greater share of them being halibut which are much in demand.

WATERFRONT NEWS

Bound for Portland the steamship Breakwater is scheduled to leave here at 8 a. m. tomorrow morning.

Late tomorrow night the steamship Kilburn is due to arrive here from San Francisco and Eureka on her way north.

At 10 o'clock tomorrow morning the steamship Nann Smith will leave down for San Francisco with a well filled passenger list and cargo of lumber.
