ADVERTISE OREGON

LOGANBERRY DAY AT FAIR IS BIG OCCASION

Originator of Famous Fruit is One of the Speakers—First Products Were Shown

(Special to The Times.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4.—Loganberry Day at the San Francisco exposition was quite an important occasion. The loganberry of this state is attracting much attention and the publicity the fruit and its products are given at the fair will doubtless do much to advance the industry. The fruit has been shown ripe and in dried shape and the people at the fair have been given the famous loganberry juice to drink.

Originator There
On Loganberry Day Judge J. H. Logan, of Oakland, the originator of the loganberry, was conspicuous. He told how, as a matter of accident he secured a cross between the Texas Early blackberry and the Urinus dewberry, and then another cross between these two and the Red Antwerp raspberry. This was in 1881 and the fame of the loganberry has grown to the proportions of today. Judge Logan was a resident of Santa Cruz at the time, was judge of the Superior Court and experimented with plants as a hobby. Though 75 years of age, he is still experimenting.

Other Speakers.
Commissioner John F. Logan, of Portland, whose wife was named Berry, had a proper place on the program and made a rousing speech on the glories of Oregon, Loganberry and other wise. W. A. Taylor, of Salem, filled with loganberry enthusiasm, also whooped things up, and both he and Mrs. Taylor are entitled to special credit for their hard work in the preliminaries, though all at the building contributed a goodly share. All Oregon grows loganberry and will profit from this splendid effort.

TO HELP PROTECT

GOVERNOR WILL AID IN STATE FORESTER'S WORK

Will Help to See That Offenders Against Forest Fire Laws Are Fully Punished

(Special to The Times.)
SALEM, Ore., Aug. 4.—It is probable that Governor Withycombe will lend assistance to the State Forester in bringing to time offenders against the forest fire laws. In the past there has been great difficulty in getting conviction against those who maliciously started forest fires. Chapter 196 of the 1915 session laws provides that the Governor may call upon the Attorney General to handle criminal cases in which the State is interested, and authorizes the participation of the Attorney or one of his assistants, should it appear desirable to reinforce the local District Attorney's office.

Forest Fires Costly
Last year Oregon timber owners spent $64,000 in fighting fire according to the records of State Forester Elliott and the loss was $26,000. In 1910 the loss exceeded $1,500,000. In addition to the amount borne by private timber owners, the Federal forestry authorities expended in 1914 about $69,500 in fighting fire, and the reserves sustained a loss estimated at $31,000.

It is stated that over half of the expenditures are over fires started maliciously by persons desiring work in fire fighting, and by others desirous of improving hunting. This sort of lawlessness, it is pointed out, annually costs the state a large amount of money.

"So far as may be necessary," said Governor Withycombe, "I certainly will be disposed to co-operate in every way I can with the State Forester and the timber owners. It will be my aim to bring this class of law violators to a speedy justice. If this end can be accomplished best by calling upon the Attorney General for aid, I shall not hesitate to seek his assistance, with the view of making some examples quickly. A few convictions would have a salutary effect, I believe and work for the good of the entire State."

The Coos County Fire Patrol Association with offices in the Coke Building, Marshfield, Oregon, has jurisdiction over all territory in Coos County and spends approximately $10,000 each year in protecting the timber from fire. W. J. Conrad, is Secretary of this association and will issue any fire permits required for burning slashings.

BERLIN HELPING SOLDIERS' FAMILIES

Twice as Many Receiving Aid Now As During the Month of August.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
BERLIN, Aug. 4.—More than twice as many soldiers' families in Berlin are receiving support today than in August, the number being 141,660, against 62,980 in August. The sum paid out, however, had almost quadrupled. It was $1,235,000 in June, compared with $320,000 in the first month of the war. In addition to this, $275,000 was paid out for rent allowances, a sum nearly double that paid in March, and almost 50 per cent more than the May allowance. A total of $9,940,000 has been paid out since the beginning of the war for the care of the families left behind.

SWEDEN'S BIG ARMY

Now Has 350,000 Regulars and 175,000 Reserve Troops

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
LONDON, Aug. 4.—The Swedish army has been considerably developed since the beginning of the European war, according to a correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company. It is officially announced that Sweden has 350,000 regulars and 175,000 Landsturm. Supplies of ammunition and war material have been brought up to date, and the Swedish military writers state that the army has never before stood at such a high point of efficiency. Five thousand new officers and non-commissioned officers have been appointed and all old soldiers have been called up for a course of supplemental training.

SOCIALISM AND WAR

Increase of It in England and Decrease in Germany

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
BERLIN, Aug. 4.—While England appears just now to be showing a strongly socialistic tendency in the organization of its industries for military purposes, Germany has been acting in the same spirit since the war began, but in a different way. It regularly gives the preference in placing army contracts to artisan workmen and their organizations. One of these organizations recently received an order for 1,000 provision wagons, costing $4,000,000; and when certain manufacturers tried to get a part of the contract, they were told to apply to this organization.

The preference given to artisan organizations is so marked that the Handelstag, or association of chambers of commerce, has several times made representations to the Prussian ministers of war and the interior, looking toward increasing the orders to the manufacturing establishments. The Handelstag argues that the manufacturers also have fixed bodies of trained workmen who are in need of earning a livelihood during the war.

On the other hand, many minor manufacturers, who actually get army contracts, have a grievance of a different character. They complain that they are not permitted to compete directly for orders in such amounts as they can handle, but that contracts are given out in large quantities, sometimes to organizations, and still more often to big contractors who are not manufacturers at all. The first thing these latter do is to sub-let their contracts among many small manufacturers at very onerous terms. Thus it is the middleman that reaps the large part of the profits.

MINERS BEST SOLDIERS

Claim They Develop Into Better Fighters Than Other Volunteers

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
MANCHESTER, Engl., Aug. 4.—From a Manchester officer who has been in France since the beginning of the war, serving with the British staff, the Manchester Guardian has gleaned some interesting views as to the character of the different varieties of the British soldier in the test of war.

In the opinion of the officer, the best soldier is the ex-miner. He prefers the miner "because he is strong in the back and used to dangers and explosions; because he can endure cramped positions in the trenches; because his ears are quick, because he is curious about sounds, because he is intelligent. The miner puts two and two together more quickly than any other class of men."

RULES OF CENSORS

No News Except Good News Allowed to be Sent

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
HEADQUARTERS OF RUSSIAN THIRD ARMY, Aug. 4.—It is seldom that the staff of any army cares to allow a newspaper correspondent to observe or write of its defeats and retreats; the field censor's motto is: Nothing Passes Except Good News.

GERMAN WOMEN DOING MEN'S WORK

Many Are in Iron Works and Doing Labor of Their Husbands and Brothers.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
DORTMUND, Germany, August 4.—Women have so far supplanted men in some of the large industries of Dortmund that there are now 7,000 doing the ordinary work of their husbands or brothers, while fully 1,000 more are seeking positions.

BAN ON ENGLISH

Germans Think England are Aided Abroad by Use of the Language.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
BERLIN, Aug. 4.—Along with the movement to purify the German language of foreign words comes another designed to banish the Latin script from the country. An advocate of this writes: "One of the resources of our enemies is the English language, through which a great part of the world, including North America, is dominated. Along with Britain's language there go English characteristics and English ways of thinking. Hence the world willingly gives credence through the English language filter. Hence we should no longer use the English script in Germany. Whoever uses the Latin script of our schools uses in reality English script. This script has also invaded France under the name of 'écriture anglaise.' Since we are so enthusiastic about foreign things, we have taken the English script as our own, with a respectful obeisance, and are on the best road to deny utterly the script of a Goethe, a Koerner, a Jahn and other real Germans."

KEEP DIAMONDS OUT

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The British government has taken steps to stop the import of German diamonds into England. Henceforth all diamonds imported into the country must carry with them a certificate showing their origin. It recently became known that several thousand dollars' worth of diamonds, cut by German workmen in Idar and Hanau were finding their way every week into the London market at Hatton Garden. They came by way of Sweden, Norway and Holland.

USE BARBED WIRE

Germans Find It Especially Advantageous in Building Defenses

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 4.—Barbed wire, machine guns and excellent railway arrangements, were the chief elements in the German operations in Poland during the first three months. Owing to overwhelming superiority in these three respects, the Germans have been able to hold lines many hundred miles in length against what was frequently a far superior force of Russians, at least as numbers were concerned.

To defend the German positions along the little rivers Bzura and Rawka, where the two armies were facing each other since last autumn, would have in the ordinary manner of speaking required nearly eight army corps. But the Germans were able to maintain their places here with a small fraction of that number, owing to the fact that their barbed wire defenses and troop-transit arrangements are so perfect.

Along this Bzura-Rawka front of about forty miles, the German barbed wire defenses were literally four miles in depth, the entanglements being so arranged that in a military sense they cover the whole territory. Behind each group of entanglements at the little strategic ganglions which are easy to determine from the contour of the land and the lines of possible approach, there are posted little batteries of machine guns ready to sweep away any rash offensive. It would cost an attacking force hundreds of thousands of men to wade through these wire entanglements, which zig-zag and criss-cross in hollows and mass themselves in hedges and walls, all the vital points being commanded by a merciless storm of machine-gun fire.

The only possible way of penetrating such a maze would be by destroying it with a persistent storm of shells, and even this would require several days, giving the defenders time to bring up reinforcements over their admirable strategic railways. In the meanwhile, also, more wire would be laid down farther back.

STEEL HELMETS ARE PROTECTION TO HEAD

Ward Off Bullets and Prevent Many From Being Killed By Shrapnel Fire

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
DUNKIRK, France, Aug. 3.—Steel helmets have now been used sufficiently long in the French army to prove they are a useful protection to infantrymen. They have saved a large number of men in the trenches from being either wounded or killed by shrapnel fire and have effectively warded off the side-strike of rifle bullets.

BEER FOR GERMANS

Immense Amounts Required For Bavarian Army Corps

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
MUNICH, Germany, Aug. 4.—Some idea of the enormous quantity of beer manufactured for the use of Bavarian soldiers in the field can be gathered from the figures of the authorities of the First Bavarian Army Corps, just published. Munich breweries alone deliver, it is estimated, 140 car loads of beer in kegs and 60 car loads of bottled beer each week. The first contain an average 1320 gallons per car load, and the second 5500 three-quarter-liter bottles. Other breweries deliver 50 car loads of keg beer, 1320 gallons to a car.

CLASH OF GERMANS

Military Commander of Brussels Recalled for Not Enforcing Measure

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
AMSTERDAM, Aug. 4.—General von Krawell, military commander of Brussels, has been recalled to Berlin as the result, it is reported, of disagreement with General von Bissing as to the administration of affairs in the one time Belgian capital. The former, it is said, was in favor of conciliating the Belgian population, while von Bissing believed in a stricter discipline.

Matters came to a crisis when the Government issued an order that no Belgian should be allowed to wear the Belgian or allied colors. Von Krawell protested that such a measure could be of no possible benefit, and would merely irritate the populace. He declined to put the order into effect, whereupon von Bissing asked Berlin to recall the commander.

COSSACKS NEW STUNT

Puzzle Germans With Cavalry During Retreat

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 4.—The Russian army, in the course of its recent retreat to the prepared defense lines around this city made effective use of its cavalry on several occasions. The Cossacks, in particular, have some very puzzling methods of getting at the enemy, none of them resembling the methods of the review ground.

On one occasion what the enemy saw was a vast mob of mad horses apparently stampeding, riderless, upon them. The horses, as a matter of fact, had two riders each, although neither was visible from the enemy's point of view. A bullet which will stop a man must be very well placed to check the career of a maddened horse, and very steady marksmen are required to fire effectively at a loose mob of apparently riderless horses. In this case, when a horse was shot down there were two excellent rifle shots at work behind his body.

WAR AND COMETS

Superstitious See Significance in Heavenly Bodies

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
BERLIN, Aug. 4.—In the light of the ancient superstition that comets, particularly an unusual number of them, presage disaster and war, astronomers have recently been calculating the number that have made their appearance from late in 1913 until the present time. They have been unusually frequent, apparently, from which fact the superstitious are taking comfort.

The real "war comet," says the astronomers, was that of Delevan, discovered by him in December, 1913. This body was of unusual size and brilliancy, and at its zenith could be made out with the naked eye. It disappeared early this year, and probably will not be seen again for six or seven years. The astronomers caution against taking this as an indication that the war will last that long.
