ENTERPRISE AND CLIMATE

ENTERPRISE rather than climate has built up the Pacific coast, declares the Des Moines Register and Leader in a recent leading editorial. Rather than recognize our natural resources or praising a mild and temperate climate, the Iowa paper compliments the spirit of the men on the coast. The editorial follows in part:

The assumption that the Pacific coast is built up on a climate is a mistaken one. The Pacific coast is built up on enterprise, pure, unadulterated American grit and ambition.

There are all sorts of climate to be found between the Mexican border and Vancouver. Nobody could be suited with them all. And yet such is the persuasive power of thoroughly enthusiastic promotion that those of passive mind are convinced of the surpassing merits of each sort in turn. If the coast line were unbroken to Alaska, as it would be if the Americans of the forties had had vision, we should hear just as much of the Alaskan climate.

It is aggressive leadership that dominates the movements of men and of capital, and the greatest mistake that anybody can make is to assume that anything but aggressive leadership has made Los Angeles, or San Francisco, or Portland, or Seattle the envy of some of the less aggressive and less progressive cities of the older and wealthier parts of the world.

The people of the coast have bet every dollar, to use an effective phrase, on the future. San Diego is a city of less than 100,000. But San Diego, without aid or suggestion, has built an exposition to attract the attention and win the praise of the exposition weary.

The exposition at San Francisco is the most remarkable enterprise ever undertaken by an American city. The state of California gave $5,000,000, the city of San Francisco $5,000,000, and the business men of San Francisco $7,000,000. It is the only exposition which the national government has not borne a large part of the cost. And this on the heels of the most destructive conflagration which ever swept an American city with the possible exception of Chicago.

It is easy to hear that Portland and Seattle and the other northern coast cities have been brought to a standstill by stagnation in the lumber mills, and yet within a few weeks Seattle contributed $75,000 to entertain the Shimmers for a single week, while Portland, within the past year, has completed the Columbia highway, a road 100 miles long, running along the Columbia, which Sam Hill, who is mainly responsible for it, declares to be the best roadway in the world. Some of the stone abutments on this roadway are forty feet wide at the base and fifty feet high.

It is pure enterprise that is putting roads hundreds of miles long through almost impenetrable forests, and along precipitous mountain ranges all the way from the Canadian line to Tia Juana, Mexico, has the climate. Why is not Mexico doing south of the line what California is doing north of the line?

It will not do to discount enterprise. Enterprise can take any sort of climate and any sort of natural conditions and build cities and develop great industries. They have a saying in Canada that if a man has the right sort of mettle in him you may pace him a thousand leagues in the wilderness on a flat rock, and he will plant pennies and he will grow dollars. The people of the coast country are not in a wilderness nor on a flat rock. And they have the right sort of mettle in them.

HOME, SWEET HOME

HOME is where we express our worst and best selves. Home is where the heart finds its greatest content. Home is the result of learning to hear and forbear. Home is the best school for making true men and women. Home is God's blessing to mankind, the safeguard of the world. Home is where love rules, selfishness, tact and harmony exist. Home is the dearest earthly shelter from the cradle to the grave. Home is an inn where love is landlord and contentment chief guest. Home is a corporation whose preferred stock is contented children. Home is where happiness, health, harmony, heart's ease, holiness, heritage, heaven dwell. Home is where the wife is neat and clean and the husband sober and industrious, children respectful. Home is a comfortable and necessary retreat and shelter for us in advanced age, and if we do not plant it while young it will give us no shade when we grow old.—Lord Chesterfield.

WITH THE TOAST AND THE TEA

GOOD EVENING
Every day is a little life, and our whole life is but a day repeated. Therefore live every day as if it would be the last. Those that dare lose a day are dangerously prodigal; those that dare misspend it are desperate.— Bishop Hall.

BACK TO NATURE

A hen is not supposed to have much common sense or tact. But every time she lays an egg she cackles for the fact.

A rooster is largely feathers, with little intellect to show. But none the less most roosters have enough good sense to crow.

The mule, the most despised of beasts, has a persistent way of letting people know he's round, by his insistent bray.

The busy little bees they buzz, bumble and cows moo. And watch dogs bark and ganders quack and doves and pigeons coo.

The peacock spreads his tail and squawks, pigs squeal and robins sing. And even serpents know enough to hiss before they sting.

But man, the greatest masterpiece that nature could devise, will often stop and hesitate before he'll ADVERTISE.

QUESTION FOR THE DAY

What has become of the old fashioned man who used to sit on a soap box in front of a store and whittle a stick all day?

Good intentions usually last as long as the remorse that gave them birth.

CHEER UP!

Do not despair. Go in and win! Work hard and wear A cheerful grin.

A Coos Bay woman can sit down and worry over the fact that she can't find anything to worry about.

Usually a married woman regards a divorce as she regards almost any other article. She figures that when she needs one she can go and get it and have it charged to her husband.

Married life would be bliss if a wife would try as hard to hold her temper as she tries to hold her complexion.

No Coos Bay woman likes to hear her husband get a bawling out from another man. She figures that the other man is usurping her privilege.

Even when friend husband admits the charges friend wife hates to admit that he is telling the truth.

A woman does not enjoy kissing as much as you think she does. What she does enjoy is the knowledge that you find her so kissable.

CORRECT.

My son, try to learn all you can; Don't argue and don't stall; Its ignorance that makes a man Think that he knows it all.

STORY FOR THE DAY

BOLTED

They were on their trip to the San Francisco fair. It was the first evening out on the steamer and she was a little timid about eating, but he was subduing it down as rapidly as possible.

"Why do you bolt your food in that manner, dearie?" she asked. "Why to keep it down, of course," he replied.

All Over Oregon

ROSEBURG—The barn on the Jorace Marsters place on Bear Creek was destroyed by fire causing a loss of $700.

EUGENE—The A. G. Barnes circus may decide to open winter quarters in Eugene.

ALBANY—Professor W. B. Young who has taught in Oregon for the past eight years has been elected principal of the Albany high school.

EUGENE—The Lane County horticultural society has asked the county court to give the county fruit inspector assistance in fighting the blight.

PORTLAND—Indications are that the tax levy of the city will be higher than ever before in 1916 on account of the loss of the liquor revenue.

EUGENE—Four carloads of Lane County pears were shipped to a San Francisco broker.

COTTRELL—A petition has been sent to the public service commission asking that the Portland railway, Light and Power company be forced to put in a block signal system at the Cottrell station.

ROSEBURG—One thousand cases of peaches were shipped from Roseburg to the Portland and Marshfield markets at satisfactory prices.

PORTLAND—The sheriff will endeavor to stop motorcycle flirtation owing to the suicide of Martha Klans which is said to be due to that cause.

Strange Disease Among Oregon Animals

IN THE current issue of Farm and Fireside, the national farm paper published at Springfield, Ohio, an Oregon contributor describes in part as follows the strange disease that has sprung up among animals in the far west.

"Our locality is afflicted with a mysterious disease that affects all kinds of animals. Several experts have examined the brains of dogs and coyotes that have died with the disease, and pronounced it hydrophobia.

"The disease has now spread into all the counties of eastern Oregon. Besides dogs and coyotes, pigs, sheep, cows, and horses are affected with the same disease.

Act Now if You Want Fine Onions Next Spring

IN THE current issue of the Farm and Fireside, the national farm paper published at Springfield, Ohio, a contributor tells us follows how to prepare in August for fine onions next spring:

"I have taken pains to bring my sweetest green onions to the attention of progressive gardeners. Yet it is only now and then that I find this method in practice. Most gardeners still stick to the expensive, clumsy method of planting sets, either in the fall or more often in the spring.

"Again I must urge my friends to try at least a little patch of the White Portuguese (Silverskin). About

European War One Year Ago Today

AUG. 17, 1914
The Belgian capital is moved from Brussels to Antwerp. A second Battle of Waterloo is reported south of Brussels with the Kaiser himself at the front and with help coming from Austria.

Russia's demand on Turkey that the Dardanelles be opened, it is believed will involve Turkey in war.

The German army in the north is prepared to strike at Brussels but in the south the Germans are beaten back at several points.

The Russians are said to be advancing, penetrating into Prussia where they are checked on the Austrian battle front.

In southern Europe there is a great battle near Belgrade and the Montenegrin troops are said to continue their invasion of Bosnia.

Five Austrian warships are reported lost and the Russian fleet in the Black Sea reports the capture of many German and Austrian merchantmen. Franz Joseph, Emperor of Austria-

OREGON CITY—The paper pulp mill has been repaired and remodelled at a cost of $20,000 and will soon start again.

RESHAM—The city has had its electrical cart repaired giving better facilities for the local fire department.

TILLAMOOK—Plans have been completed for a new city hall for Tillamook which will cost when completed $20,000.

LAGRANDE—Three occupants of the city jail saved their way out and made their escape.

CONDON—William Keys, a resident of Gilliam County since 1873 and aged 85 years, died at his home in Mayville.

PORTLAND—Rev. D. V. Pelling, a Congregational minister of Portland and for fifteen years at The Dalles, has quit the ministry to become a life insurance man.

HOOD RIVER—It is possible that a gas plant will be established at Hood River by the American Gas & Incineration Company.

PORTLAND—L. F. D. Lehman, proprietor of a brick yard at Sellwood has been bound over to await the action of the grand jury for passing worthless checks to the amount of $2,000.

HOOD RIVER—The apple growers' association is building a storage plant which will cost $8,000.

BAKER—It is stated that there will be big developments in the Coquille mining district.

"As soon as animals become affected they look wild and want to travel. Hogs jump up off the ground squealing and biting. Some of the animals are also affected in their backs, others in their legs.

"A number of farmers have lost as high as ten head of stock. Nearly all the dogs and coyotes in the localities first affected have died from the effects of the disease.

"So grave is the situation that the State has placed a bounty of $300 on coyotes in an effort to exterminate them, and a fine of $100 is imposed on any owner whose dog is found at large without being muzzled."

August 1st sow seed rather thickly (an ounce to 150 feet of row) into very rich, clean, strong loam. Have the rows a foot apart, and keep free from weeds till the end of the season.

"No winter protection is needed. These plants start in strong growth early in the spring, and in May and June (long before you can expect to have green onions from sets planted early in the spring) you will have the most delicious, snow-white little onions imaginable. I have never failed for many years to have those green or bunching onions in great abundance every spring.

It is reported that the Czar of Russia will at an early date sign a proclamation giving Hebrews in his domains equal civil and political rights with other subjects.

5,200 COWS EARN $100 APIECE

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside, the national farm paper published at Springfield, Ohio, appears an account of a big and successful cooperative movement which is bringing certain Oregon farmers success. In the following brief extract from the article appears a few of the most important facts:

"More than 3 1/2 million pounds of cheese, valued at $541,748.46 was the output of the 18 farmers' co-operative cheese factories in Tillamook County, Oregon, during 1914. Fifty-two hundred cows, owned by 186 farmers, produced the milk that made this cheese.

The average return from every cow after deducting factory expenses, was nearly $100. This is a remarkable average for 5200 cows."
