MARSHFIELD BANDON FOUR STORES MYRTLE POINT POWERS

IN NEED OF TIES THANKS RECEIVED

BRITISH GOVERNMENT COMES TO COAST FOR SHIPMENTS

Opening Order Believed Forerunner of Steady Market—May Result in Local Boost

News from the North that the British government is already casting about for the purchase of railroad ties on the Pacific coast is good word for the local tie men who for months have been complaining the bottom has dropped out of the market.

From semi-official sources in Portland the word comes that the English in September will purchase thousands of dollars worth of ties in the Northwest. Such a move, it is intimated, will go far toward giving the market a boost and strongly indicates a growing need that probably will result in a steady market.

The rebuilding of railroad lines in the Old Country is responsible for this move. Hundreds of miles of rails have been torn up; these must all be relaid. The first steamer on the coast for the handling of the ties it is said will have a capacity of about 2,500,000 feet.

The camps all over Coos county have been open through the spring and summer months and many of them have thousands of ties they wish to dispose of at better than going prices.

SUNDAY DINNER, 5:00 to 6:30, for 50c. Ladies and gentlemen, Telephone 137-L, Marshfield House, Mrs. Harvey.

PORTLAND GLAD COOS BAY SENT REPRESENTATIVES

Letter Tells of Good Accomplishment of Hugh McLain and Henry Sengstacken On Visit

Portland thanks Coos Bay for sending representatives there to meet with the members of the Rivers and Harbors committee. In a letter just received from W. D. E. Dotson, secretary of the Trade and Commercial Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, voices this appreciation.

He says, "The Portland Chamber of Commerce extends to you its very sincere sense of appreciation of the value of having Hugh McLain and Henry Sengstacken here as the representatives of your community during the recent visit of the Rivers and Harbors committee.

"Both men made very strong and effective presentation to the committee covering the needs and possibilities of your section, and we feel that much good will result by reason of their visits."

A reply to this letter has been sent north by Secretary Motley of the Chamber of Commerce of this city.

PORTLAND PAPER MAN DENIES MOVE TO START PULP MILL

John Lewthwaite Says Party Here Out of Curiosity—Business Conditions Are Better

Curiosity prompted their trip here and no credence can be given the report that their company intends to lease or buy the pulp plant at the C. A. Smith mill, was the statement last evening of John Lewthwaite, resident manager of the Crown Columbia-Willamette Paper Mills Company, the largest concern of its kind on the Pacific Coast.

The fact that the party came here from Portland and immediately went to investigate the local plant led to rumors that there was a move on foot to put the pulp mill into operation again. They were met at the mill by Arno Merceen and shown over the plant.

"It's most complete," said Mr. Lewthwaite, "and there certainly has been a lot of money spent in its erection." He explained that the process used here for making pulp is directly opposite to the process of the mills which he represents.

"So much so," he continued, "that I feel like an absolute stranger and layman in this plant."

Mr. Lewthwaite is accompanied by his uncle, A. J. Lewthwaite, assistant mill manager of the company, and C. W. Morden, son of the business manager of the Morning Oregonian, in Portland.

Want to Get Deer. John Lewthwaite sent his touring car and chauffeur from Portland to Roseburg and from there the party drove in yesterday in the auto. They expect to leave Coos Bay, returning either tonight or tomorrow morning.

On the way home several days will be spent in Cow Creek Canyon hunting deer. Mr. Lewthwaite was extremely anxious to hear about the hunting of Curry, saying he had heard it is the hunter's paradise.

The decline of the lumber market means also the fall of the paper market, Mr. Lewthwaite explained. He said this condition has obtained for two years, but believes there is a boom coming. This he illustrated with the fact that spruce logs in the Columbia river have been selling for about $8.50 a thousand and now they have gone up to $10 and often cannot be had.

Business Improves. Business conditions are improving. Mills of the company are running full time, though all machines are not in use. The company has large pulp and paper mills at Oregon City, Canas, Washington; Powell River and Ocean Falls, B. C., and at Flerista, California.

"Please do not say that our visit here has anything to do with the local pulp plant," said Mr. Lewthwaite.

"Do you think there is a move to put the pulp mill here into operation again?" was the query.

"No, I do not think so," was the reply, "at least as far as any of the members of our party know."

He said so much has been said about the plant here that they all were curious to see it and so combined business with pleasure and drove here, expecting to get a deer or two on the way out.

THERMOMETER REGISTERS 79 AT NOON

One Degree Warmer than Previous Hottest Day Early in July—Long Warm Spell

Today was the hottest day of the year on Coos Bay.

About noon, the government thermometer registered 79, according to Mrs. B. B. Ostlund, official observer.

The previous hottest day was early in July when the mercury climbed to 78.

Absence of the northwest wind made the heat more intense and Coos Bayites were given a little taste of the extreme warm weather that has been prevailing in Portland and in the interior.

Old residents say that Coos Bay has had more continuous warm, sunny weather this summer than ever before. For the past month, there has been little wind, rain or cloudy weather, a condition most unusual for this season of the year.

LOCALS TAKE GAME

NORTH BEND BROTHERHOOD LOSES 10-INNING BATTLE

Pitching of Jarvis Largely Responsible—Expect to Stage the "Rubber" in North Bend Soon

It took ten innings for the Marshfield Methodist Brotherhood to transact a 10 to 9 victory over the Brotherhood nine of North Bend yesterday afternoon on the field in South Marshfield and for the last three frames the flip of a coin could easily have picked the winner.

The first game, several weeks ago was a tie and the visitors declare another battle must be staged before they are willing to quit.

For the locals the twirling of Jarvis seemed responsible for the final result. At all times he was steady and was there with any quantity of speed, so much so that Williamson, catching in the first three or four frames, was unable to hold him and finally went to short stop while W. W. Langworthy came in behind the bat.

North Bend started the scoring and the end of the fifth inning found them with the better end of a 5 to 2 card. A home run, the only one of the game, by Will Stauff, and the seventh, eighth and ninth frames were even.

The lineups follow:

Marshfield North Bend

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 27.—Jack Ryan, twirler of renown on the Angels nine, has met his Waterloo. He made the supreme mistake of his life when he failed to bring a bucket of California, southern California soil, with him to Oregon. The tall rangy pitcher throws the "mud ball" and Oregon mud is no use; three times in a row the Portland Beavers have taken the measure of the visitors.

During the game, while in the box Ryan is seen to spit on the ball, reach into his back hip pocket for a hand full of dirt which he carefully places on the moistened spot and the resulting twirler breaks over the pan in most alarming style, at least it ought to but Ryan has the wrong kind of dirt for his "mud ball" and the "staff's off."

SENSTACKEN TELEGRAPHS ABOUT WIRELESS SITE

Says Government May Build Bigger Station Here Than Present One at Cape Blanco—Man Coming

A bigger and more powerful government wireless station than the one at Cape Blanco is in store for Coos Bay, according to a wire received by the Chamber of Commerce at noon today from Henry Sengstacken in San Francisco. He was wired, after the recent action of the executive committee, if he could close the deal for the five acres on isthmus Inlet.

The wire follows: "Site will have to be paid for and clean title furnished. Mr. Dodd, the chief of radio on the Pacific, will send a representative to Marshfield early next week to examine site. If satisfactory, some work will be done at once. Main work will be postponed until spring. It will mean entirely new station much more powerful than Cape Blanco."

It is believed the present owners of the land will accept a partial payment and a note for the remainder, thus allowing Marshfield to give a clean title in handing the land over to the government.

NOW IN SALT LAKE

Mrs. V. H. Pease, who was a resident of Roseburg five years ago, was here today from San Francisco enroute to Salt Lake. She is visiting for a few days with friends at Sutherland. Mr. Pease was a former contractor on the Roseburg-Coos Bay stage line.—Roseburg Review.

BUILD NEW FLOATS FOR SMALL BOATS

Will Be Between Pioneer Hardware Store and Wasson's Market For Small Boats Landing

Noticing that the 220 foot float landings put in recently between Commercial and Central avenues have brought a fleet of oiline boats the merchants on Front street have taken steps to put in a 330 foot float. This will be between the rear of the Pioneer Hardware store and Wasson's Market, and, when completed, will give the local waterfront practically 1,000 feet of unbroken float landings connected.

For years the boats from the various streets, sometimes coming in two and three deep, it was to relieve this congestion. It was a new dock movement was started. This last work is being done by labor. The workmen have laid off several piles yesterday afternoon in the slip at the foot of Commercial avenue.
