ill for the past month, was reported in a critical condition today.

Concrete Garage.—Dr. A. L. Houseworth is completing a concrete garage at his home on Twelfth Court South, terracing his property and making other improvements in it.

Plums Good Flavor.—O. K. Hulin has several trees of delicious blue plums on his place in First Addition and a sprig was brought into The Times office this morning with twelve plums in one cluster.

Go After Deer.—Billy Cox, Lew Gillespie and wife, and some friends left in Tom Wasson's car this morning for the upper Coquille, where they expect to bag a few deer.

Locate at Salinas.—Corrigan and Kings, who left here recently with their two autos write that they have located at Salinas, California and have a fine auto run out of that city.

Were at Meeting.—In the list of Marshfield Eastern Star members attending the Natal Day exercises at Coquille should also have been the names of Mrs. E. Kelley, Mrs. C. W. Cumbers and Mrs. Ora D. McCarty.

On Fine Ranch.—Oscar Stauff, a well-known Coos-ton boy who gained honors during his course in dairying at Corvallis, writes that he has taken an interest in Congressman McArthur's dairy ranch near Portland and will have the active management of it.

Sue Britt Henderson.—Suit for $90.50 was filed in the justice court today by Fred Wilson and Eva Barnard, the Wilson Undertaking Company, against Britt Henderson, now in jail at Coquille, for breaking his parole. The bill was for goods and labor on a lot at the cemetery.

Meeting Tomorrow.—The executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce holds its monthly meeting tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, and at 8 o'clock the Chamber meets. It is expected that methods will be discussed of making the payments on the five acres for the radio site.

Shook's Case Serious.—Because William Shook couldn't raise his $50 fine, assessed for using vile language in the presence of a woman, he remained in jail today, still making strenuous efforts to raise the necessary funds. It is stated that a much more serious charge might be filed against him.

Suit is Brought.—W. L. Backner, of Eugene, has brought suit against Charles Sweeney, of North Bend, for the collection of $347.97, the papers having been served today by Deputy Sheriff W. C. Laird. The suit was originally against the father, it is stated, but he went into bankruptcy and the son was garnished.

Flyers for Militiamen.—The Oregon Naval Militia, which at one time had a company on Coos Bay, may be furnished with aeroplanes by the government for practice work. Lieutenant R. R. Smith, U. S. N., and Captain McLaughlin, U. S. A., have already been appointed a contest committee by the Aero Club of America.

Ask High Damages.—The County Court is today considering damages for Paul and Luther Wymore, who were injured near Flagstaff when they found percussion caps left by a road gang and exploded them. $10,000 is asked for each boy, as well as for medical services and the loss of the father's time from work. The court has offered $500.

Road Much Improved.—W. U. Douglas, Charles Hall and Dr. Straw came in over the road from Loon Lake to Allegany on Sunday and they report that the highway there is in much better shape than it has ever been before. W. H. Stull is road supervisor in that district and has been complimented on the work that has been accomplished by himself and crew.

Camp One Changes.—Dan McCarraban, formerly a Columbia River logging foreman, but recently leader at Gene Grant's camp, is foreman at Camp One while Wm. Garrett and wife enjoy a trip to the exposition. John Govlich, track foreman there, has also gone to the exposition. Foy Cox, fiber, expects to leave about October 1 for Illinois where his friends say, he will work as an old sweetheart. He raffled his new rifle and revolver, Wm. Garrett getting the former, Wm. Garrett getting the latter.

Here for Visit.—Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Chaney, and family, of Detroit, arrived this morning on the Santa Clara and for a few days will visit in Coos. The Chaney estate includes about 3000 acres of timber lands in this county as well as holdings in other parts of the state and the Northwest. Mr. and Mrs. Chaney went down to Bandon today to visit a sister-in-law, Mrs. Clarence Hurley. Yesterday H. F. Chaney and G. H. Chaney, brothers, left in their machine for a visit here inspecting their holdings.

Christenson Ducks.—Charles Johnson, known as "Hoodlum" Charley, again came into the justice court this morning on a charge of stealing chickens, his hearing of yesterday having been continued. Because J. G. Turner was unable to find Tom Christenson, whom Johnson claims gave him the dead rooster, the hearing is again continued, Judge Penneck deciding there is not yet enough evidence in the case. "Hoodlum" Charley was found shortly after midnight, Wednesday morning, sitting on a dead chicken by Turner, when he went hunting chicken thieves in his night clothes.

All Have a Melon.—Every man, woman and child in Marshfield ate a watermelon during the month of August, according to statistics. There were shipped in here approximately 6000 melons, according to the commission men, one having received close to 4500 of them, most of them coming from the Imperial Valley in California and lately from Turlock, near Sacramento. However, it is explained that some people may have eaten two or three melons while others went without. In August there were about 2500 boxes of peaches sold in Marshfield, most of these coming from Roseburg, North Yakima and California points.

Hornets Lively.—George Carleton and Sam Pine, who returned yesterday from an outing and deer hunt near Powers say that they had a fine time, except that there are so many active hornets there that in about two days a man gets sufficiently drilled to be prepared for active service in the Russian army. Carleton appeared immune to the hornets or else was an ally to them because they would not sting him, but they made up for it on Pine, whose hands and legs were so badly swollen that he could hardly get around. In one attack the hornets were so numerous that he took a running jump into the river to escape them.
