CATCHES STURGEON

FIFTEEN YEAR OLD FISHERMAN LANDS 129 POUND MONSTER

Sanford Laxstrom Bags Big Fish in Lower Bay—Very Few Sturgeons Seen Here in Late Years

Sanford Laxstrom, a lad of 15 years, brought a 129 lb. sturgeon up from the lower bay this morning as the result of the night's fishing. This is the first sturgeon of the season to be caught here. It is said by fishermen to be a cross between a blue and a white sturgeon and in the Wasco Fish Market this morning it attracted considerable attention.

The youth laughs about his feat and says that it wasn't hard at all. He lives on Larson Inlet and with a companion of about his age goes fishing during the salmon season.

Into the gill net of the boys flopped the big monster and there he stayed. The fishermen pulled him into their small gasoline boat by means of a gaff hook. He brought Laxstrom two and one half cents a pound.

Sturgeon have been caught here only rarely in the last four years, say fishermen. Those that are here follow the salmon in from the outside. On the northern coast and down in California they are caught sometimes weighing up to 800 pounds and are noted there for their fighting abilities, especially when caught on a line.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Kyle Meets With Painful Accident at Family Home

Eino Kyle, the two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Kyle, was painfully burned Sunday. The family was making candy. Just as the hot candy was poured into a dish the child, at a moment when no one was looking became anxious to get at the candy and put one hand into it. The hot candy stuck to the hand and the little one took hold of the mass with the other hand and then put one hand to her face. It was done so suddenly that before she could be given help both hands and her face were quite painfully burned.

GRANTED DIVORCE

SPOUSE AFTER SERIOUS COMPLAINTS, GETS SEPARATION

Mrs. Thomas W. Allen Given Custody of Children—Mrs. Graham Tells Interesting Early History

A divorce was granted Mrs. Thomas W. Allen of North Bend, in Judge Coke's court Saturday afternoon after the admission of sensational evidence. The wife, who was alleged and later denied to have clung to the cigar sign in the bay some time since, was granted the custody of the two minor children and the father must pay $20 a month towards their support.

Complaints and cross complaints had been filed by husband and wife and were produced in court. Mrs. R. A. Graham, of North Bend, was a witness for the defending husband and said that men often visited Mrs. Allen and that several times she had to go upstairs and quiet the parties.

It has been said that Thomas W. Allen was connected with the notorious Allen family of Virginia, an allegation denied by him, and in this connection Mrs. Graham stated that she is from Missouri and used to know intimately the Younger brothers and the members of the Jesse James gang. She said that she used to cook for them and had several times nursed their wounded. She is over 70 years of age now.

LIKES AUTO TRAVEL

MR AND MRS. J. T. TULLY ENJOY TRIP TO CALIFORNIA

Have No Mishaps and Visit Many Points Along Way to San Francisco

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Tully arrived home this morning from California. They made the trip to the exposition in their Dodge car and had a fine trip. They left here August 28 and went by way of Myrtle Point and Roseburg through the interior to San Francisco. They took seven days to make the trip down, as they camped out at inviting places and visited friends at a number of places. At Richmond, California, Mrs. Tully had a visit with her aunt, Mrs. W. S. Adams, whom she had not seen for eighteen years.

Mr. Tully says that at Ashland they found fine accommodations at the public camping grounds which are provided for auto tourists. The place is a beautiful one, he says, and tourists are provided with gas stoves, where they can cook a meal, for five cents. The place is so attractive and the Ashland people make the visits of tourists so pleasant, that many are making a point to stop over there.

Mr. Tully says that the worst roads he encountered were between Myrtle Point and Roseburg. All the rest of the way the roads were fine. The only mishap was one puncture when a tire ran onto a sack. Mrs. Tully drove the car most of the time. For the entire trip the gasoline bill was only $12.30. Mr. Tully says that he much prefers traveling in an auto than on a train.

CHURCH SUES CITY

CLAIM BANDON IS TAKING PART OF CATHOLIC PROPERTY

Action Started to Enjoin Collection of Assessment and to the Continuance of Work

Suit has been brought by the Catholic church of Bandon against the City of Bandon and W. H. Webb, contractor, to enjoin the assessment and collection and the continuance of work on a street improvement on which the church property fronts. The suit is being brought by John D. Goss, in the name of the Rt. Rev. Alexander Christie, Archbishop for the diocese of Oregon. Today a temporary injunction was applied for.

According to the written complaint the city is extending Oregon avenue in Bandon and is making a cut 30 feet wide and 450 feet long on property of the church. The contention is made by the city that the street has been dedicated through the filing of a plat. This claim is denied by the church and the suit follows. It is claimed that property owners in the district are also complaining against the opening of the street.

TROUBLE IN NORTH BEND RESTAURANT ABOUT MONEY

Andy Anderson Struck on Head With Catsup Bottle by the Dish Washer

Blood and tomato catsup made a gory mess in the Three Boy restaurant in North Bend before noon today. Victor Wittig and Andy Anderson, a logger, came in for dinner. Their bill was 70 cents, Mr. Jones, one of the proprietors, waited upon them and claimed that they gave him 75 cents and offered back five cents change. Anderson claimed he had given the man a dollar. This was denied, Anderson it is claimed, was abusive and Jones came around the counter and attempted to put him out.

The two grappled and went to the floor breaking over one of the tables fastened to the wall. In the general mixup the dish washer, a boy, grabbed a tomato catsup bottle and hit Anderson over the head, almost putting him out. A vein in the head was opened and he bled profusely. Catsup and blood were smeared on the floor and Anderson left a trail of blood to the doctor's office where he went for attention. Wittig did not mix in the fight. Anderson says he will swear out a warrant.

TO FIGHT FOR BAND

CITIZEN'S DELEGATION COMING BEFORE COUNCIL

Will Demand Appropriation Until People Can Vote on Special Issue—Would Amend Charter

The band is dead; long live the band. Such is the sentiment voiced by a large contingent of citizens that this evening will go before the city council asking and demanding that financial support be given the organization, even as it was voted that they should at a municipal election 12 months ago. In the gathering will be many women, representing organizations of the city. At the city election in December it is aimed to vote on an amendment to the charter that will provide a band manager and park commissioner in one, who will be responsible to the city and not to the council.

Friday night, after five years existence, the band went to pieces. Financial support had been drawn from under and there was a collapse. The members were left with more than $400 in debts on their hands. The city council will be asked tonight to make up the existing deficit on the grounds that the people voted to allow the band and therefore the organization should have been supported for the allotted time. Further it will be asked that appropriations of $150 be assured that the members may hold together until after the matter has been voted on.

On every hand have come expressions that the band must be continued. Business men have expressed themselves as favoring it, willing to stand what little extra assessment would be required on the tax rolls to give $250 a month. When the council voted down the appropriation they did it after a deliberation of several meetings and stated afterward that there was no other course left open to them because the finances of the city required drastic action in retrenchment.

They say that there will be a lack of money next year to run the city and that the tax levy can be increased very little. It is possible that the band would be taken care of at a special election and therefore the extra assessment would not be counted on with the regular tax levy.

The proposition, as stated this morning by Fred Wilson, who is among those interested, would be to vote in December on a band manager and park commissioner, in one, and make him responsible to the city and not removable by the city council. There would be no pay in connection with the office.

DAIRY PRODUCTS OF THE FAIR WERE HIGHLY INTERESTING

J. L. Smith Announces Interesting Figures and Details of Recent Exhibits—Many Displays

Never before has there been such interest displayed in the dairy exhibits of the Coos County Fair as was shown this year. J. L. The butter and cheese exhibits were particularly good, the competition between the creameries being exceedingly close, and all entries received a high score.

Prof. L. B. Zeimer, of the State Dairy and Food Commission, was a judge of the butter and cheese scoring contests and Prof. W. A. Barr, of O. A. C., was judge of the livestock.
