EUROPEAN WAR ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

SEPT. 28, 1914.

The flight between the allied forces and the Germans is still without results.

A German Zeppelin drops a bomb into a school house Blalestock, Russia and kills eleven children.

The Russians drive the right wing of the Austrian army back into Hungary from the Carpathians, and the left wing of the Austrian army retreats to Cracow.

One of the forts at Przemyzl is captured by the Russians.

Duala, the capital of Kamerun, in German Africa, surrenders unconditionally to the Anglo-French Forces.

Twelve British ships with an aggregate of 59,331 tons have been sunk on the high seas by the Germans up to September 23.

PROTECT THE CHILDREN

THE Banker Hill school has been closed because of two cases of diphtheria and one case of typhoid fever. The closing of the school is a wise move on the part of the directors.

COOS BAY CONVENTION CITY

THE Oregon State Bankers' Association has been asked to hold the next annual convention in this city in June.

NEW CITY HALL

THE city council last night decided to put to a vote of the people the matter of building a new city hall.

CLUB WILL MEET

FELLOWSHIP CLUB TO OPEN SERIES OF BANQUETS

First Date in Early October When Prominent Speakers are Expected—Series of Meetings

Early October will see the opening of the series of seven banquets and get together meetings of the Fellowship Club according to the announcement today of President John C. Kendall.

Success of the organization in the past two years assures it of greater success this winter.

Formed for the express purpose of getting the business men of the city to meet in a neighborly mood and discuss matters that are of interest to them individually and as an organization.

Meetings were held once a month and a banquet served each time. Once this was cooked by a committee of members and served up as one of the best "eats" of the entire winter.

The question of feeding and otherwise taking care of men out of work in the winter months was handled last winter by the Fellowship Club and the report of R. M. Jennings, at the close of the season showed that almost $100 had been spent in this manner.

The War News

THERE are those who complain of so much war news in the papers. Such are trivial minded indeed, for a world-wide drama, epic, momentous, is being daily chronicled. In all history there was never such a stupendous struggle, nor is there likely to be such another.

To understand and appreciate the war news one must comprehend the characters and motives of the principals. It is at once a conflict for the perpetuation of feudal imperialism against the rising time of social democracy, says an exchange, a struggle for commercial supremacy and a battle of nations for self-preservation and independence.

German capitalistic militarism, with its feudal and Machaevillian doctrines, its eagles of empire, its warrior nobles, and its helmeted hosts of a nation trained to arms is grasping for world dominion, seeking the English ocean on the west, the Baltic to the north, and reaching through the Balkans and Dardanelles for the markets of Asia.

Russia and its rising capitalism seeks an opening to the west through the Dardanelles, Mediterranean and Atlantic, thus opening the markets of the world to its products. If the Dardanelles are closed, Russia will buy from England. If Russia is blocked at the Dardanelles, she will push to the sea through Persia and menace British control in India.

Belgium is fighting for its liberty. As Napoleon said, Belgium is a pistol pointed at England, the head and heart of the British Empire. Belgium free is a shield against German threats, Australia, New Zealand.

land, Canada are fighting for the preservation of the British empire, their protection in future against the alien conquerors—whether they be German, Russian or Japanese.

Italy is carrying out the war for independence against Austria begun nearly a century ago, seeking to unite under one flag, all Italians. Italy seeks mastery of the Adriatic and like Austria, would keep Serbia bottled up, away from the sea.

France is struggling to regain its lost provinces, and to preserve its nationality against the conquering foe, Turkey is battling to retain its palsied grasp on a corner of Europe.

Not the least interesting phase is the strategy of the belligerents as it unfolds. Germany has expected a speedy termination, first a quick successful drive at France, then at Russia, now a quick drive at the west after complete victory in the east.

In the conflict, the United States has become a leading factor, whether for war or peace, for the United States is the guardian of the two America's the richest and fairest possessions on the globe.

Who cares to listen to the patter of small talk when the fate of the world and of humanity is in the balance?
