DISTRICT CONVENTION REBEKAHS CLOSED LAST EVENING

Bandone Selected For Next Gathering Officers for 1916 Elected and Installed

The fifth annual convention of District No. 14 of the Debeulah lodge closed last evening. The sessions of the afternoon and evening in the Odd Fellows Hall were very well attended and representatives were present from Bandon, Myrtle Point and North Bend. The convention of 1916 will be held in Bandon.

Officers Installed Officers for the following year were elected last evening and later installed by Mrs. D. L. Rood, District Deputy. The officers are:

Chairman, Minerva Lewin, Ocean Lodge No. 126. Vice chairman, Lora Harrington, Una Lodge No. 120. Secretary, Florence Barton, Mable Lodge No. 20.

Marshall, Ada Still, Ocean Lodge No. 126. Conductor, Hattie Cousins, North Bend, No. 143. Chaplain, Lilla Ross, Western Star Lodge No. 27.

Inside Guardian, Alice Stewart, Riverside Lodge No. 100. Outside Guardian, Anis Morey, of Florence.

Afternoon Session The convention was called to order at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Chairman Mrs. May Coke, of Western Star Lodge No. 27 who appointed Mrs. Wade, of Ocean Lodge No. 126, to act as vice chairman.

Past President Mrs. Kate Lando acted in place of Rose E. Palmer, who was unable to be present. A kindly welcome was extended in behalf of the Western Star Lodge by Carrie Ross, Noble Grand, Ocean Lodge No. 126 made a very favorable report on the growth and standing of the lodge.

Lodges Represented Coquille was not represented but Una Lodge No. 120, of Myrtle Point, made a pleasing report of their work for the year. North Bend was not represented in the business session of the afternoon but in the evening several members were present.

Banquet Is Enjoyed The business meeting of the afternoon adjourned at 4:30 p. m. and about six o'clock the lodge members enjoyed a banquet served by the Rebekahs which brought about much favorable comment.

The initiatory work of the evening was put on by Western Star Lodge No. 27. Many of the older members of the order who had not been present in years were out last evening.

A report of Western Star Rebekah Lodge No. 27 showed that they now have a membership of 131 sisters and 74 brothers.

Visiting Members The visiting members from Bandon were—Mrs. Ada Still, Marian Wilson, Alma Button, Minerva Lewin and Mary Trumbull. The representatives from Myrtle Point were—Rose M. Pheasant, Ruth M. Wade, Mary E. Danielson, Mable Billings and Lora L. Harrington and from North Bend were Mrs. C. F. Chase, Mrs. Anna Yarbrough, Mrs. Birdie Hantze and Mrs. Hattie Cousins.

NO ONE HAS YET ANNOUNCED INTENTION TO RUN

W. U. Douglas and Councilman Ferguson Now Discussed as Mayorality Possibilities

There continues to be considerable talk around town as to possible candidates for Mayor and the two vacancies on the City Council, but so far no avowed candidates have announced themselves.

The latest talked of in connection with the Mayorality is W. U. Douglas, but he has not given any indication whether he would consider it. He served on the City Council a few years ago and so is familiar with municipal procedure.

Some Mentioned W. A. Reid, Chas. I. Reigard, D. L. Rood, R. A. Copple, Dr. E. E. Straw, Carl Evrsten and a number of others were also talked of. Judge John F. Hall, who was talked of for the place says positively that he is not a candidate.

Councilman Ferguson has been urged by a number to be a candidate, but he says that he prefers to remain a member of the City Council, as he figures that he can be of more benefit to the city in that capacity.

For the vacancies on the Council few names have been mentioned. Chas. Powers, Mrs. E. E. Kelly, of South Marshfield, D. A. Jones of Ferndale, C. A. Johnson of West Marshfield, and a number of others are being spoken of.

Must Write in Names. The city election, a week from next Monday, will be novel in that the names of no candidates will be printed on the ballots. Everybody will have to write in their choices for the nominations.

John W. Butler for Recorder, will probably be without opposition.

MAY BE CANDIDATE

C. A. SEHLBREDE MAY TRY FOR CIRCUIT BENCH IN 1916

A. S. Hammond of North Bend Said Not To Spurn Honor—Judge Coke Already Announced

C. A. Sehlbrede, for eleven years a practicing attorney in this city, is said by friends to have announced his intention to them of running in 1916 for the position of circuit judge. He has not however publicly declared himself. A. S. Hammond, of North Bend, is also said to have considered the matter favorably.

The primary election of 1916 will be held early next spring but so far not a great deal of interest has yet been raised. I. N. Miller has announced his candidacy for the district attorneyship against L. O. Liljeqvist who has also announced his candidacy.

It was in 1903 that C. A. Sehlbrede came to Coos Bay. He practiced law for some years in Salem and later went to Alaska where along in 1898 he was probate judge in District No. 1, with headquarters in Skagway.

Coke Already Announced Judge J. S. Coke sometime ago announced that he would be a candidate for renomination and reelection on the republican ticket. The Coos County bar and people are pretty solidly behind him and he will probably have one of the biggest majorities that Coos County has ever given an aspirant.

The terms of Judge Hamilton of Roseburg and Judge Skipworth of Eugene, the other two members of the bench in this circuit court district also expire, and they have informed friends that they will seek reelection on the democratic ticket.

PAULIST MISSIONARY EXPLAINS PRACTICE OF CONFESSION

Large Audience Hears Father Cartwright at Orpheum Theater Last Night—Lecture This Evening

The audience that gathered at the Orpheum last night was well pleased by the exposition which Father Cartwright made of the Catholic doctrine and practice of Confession. His lecture was clear and forceful with abundant reference to the Scriptures and with logical sequence throughout the teaching of the Catholic faith was explained in such a way that gave the hearers an understanding of the church's doctrine.

Instances were given by the speaker from his personal experiences to illustrate the method and spirit of the Confessional. The lecture was one with a view of dispelling prejudice. He said he wanted to bring about a much more favorable understanding of this much maligned practice of the church.

Questions Are Asked The questions asked show a keen and intelligent interest in the missionary's lectures. Often a point merely mentioned in a previous lecture is questioned and a complete and satisfying answer is given. Among those asked last night were the following:

Wanted to Know Will you please tell me why you do not say the whole of the Lord's Prayer just as it is in the Bible?

Why does not the Catholic Church baptize by immersion as John the Baptist did? Another took issue with the lecturer on a statement made the previous evening that St. Paul was unmarried, and that St. Peter did not have his wife with him on his missions.

This was clearly explained by Father Cartwright quoting St. Paul himself. The questioner's reference to Scripture being a mistranslation of the Greek text.

Answers Debated Another, quoting several passages from the Gospels, denied the divinity of Christ. Father Cartwright replied by several other texts which taught it; and then showed the perfect harmony between these apparently contradictory texts, as taught by his church. The two natures, the divine and the human in the one person of Christ, supplied a perfect explanation.

Lecture Tonight The lecture tonight on the Catholic doctrine of the Real Presence of Christ in the Eucharist will be an interesting one.

TELLS OF ALFALFA

VALUABLE INSTRUCTIONS ARE GIVEN BY PROF. SCUDDER

Subject Is One Which Greatly Interests the Farmers of Coos and Curry Counties

The growing of alfalfa is a matter which greatly interests the Coos county farmers. In view of the growing interest in alfalfa production in different parts of Oregon, the following information concerning the culture and care of the crop, prepared by Professor H. D. Scudder, of the Oregon Experiment Station, may be very helpful to farmers not fully informed as to the most approved methods.

A deep naturally well drained soil, clean of weeds, is to be preferred. The soil should be sweet. If sour, it should be dressed in March with an application of two tons of ground limestones per acre, or one ton of quick lime water slacked, the same to be thoroughly disked in after applying.

Need For Liming The need for liming can be determined by testing the moist soil with neutral litmus paper, which may be obtained of any druggist. A strip of litmus paper pressed between two pieces of moist soil indicates acidity and need for lime if the paper turns pink. Agricultural lime at present prices is too costly to be used extensively, but for small trial areas of alfalfa the liming is advised, although successful alfalfa crops frequently have been obtained without liming. In southern Oregon, of course, the soils are seldom if ever acid, and liming is not required.

Making Seed Bed The seed bed should be double-disked, then plowed either in the fall or early spring, thoroughly re-disked again after plowing in the spring, and then kept thoroughly cultivated until seeding time in May—a seed bed well pulverized on top but firm beneath being the object. A dressing of well rotted manure at the rate of six to eight tons per acre may be thoroughly disked in during February or March after the ground has been plowed. Fresh manure should be avoided unless free of weed seed.

About The Seed Tested, dodder-free seed, preferably Dakota-grown, such as the Martin's Acclimated (Disco 38) or the Baltic, which may be secured of the Dakota Improved Seed Company Mitchell, South Dakota, is recommended. The common variety of alfalfa, northern grown seed, such as the strains named, is superior to any other variety for Oregon conditions.

The seed should be inoculated before sowing, with alfalfa culture, which may be obtained of the O. A. C. department of Bacteriology. The seeding should be at the rate of 15 to 18 pounds per acre of good seed, broadcasted with a chest seeder or wheelbarrow seeder or the like and then lightly but thoroughly harrowed in, pains being taken not to cover it more than an inch and a half.

Using Nurse Crops No nurse crop of any kind need be used and no live stock should be allowed to pasture on the alfalfa the first year. Following seeding the ground is rolled and then lightly harrowed again the rolling particularly necessary if the soil is loose and over dry.

The alfalfa the first year should be clipped as frequently as necessary to keep down the weeds, the cutter bar being set 4 to 5 inches from the ground, and the clippings, if not too heavy being left on the ground.

Second Year Work In the spring of the second year the ground should be thoroughly cul-

FIGHT TOO SHORT TRESTLING DELAYS

CHRIS NELSON DECLARES HAD NO TIME

In Two Minutes Battle Attempts to Blacken Eye of Bill Green, Negro—Callahan to Jail

Bill Green, being black, and Chris Nelson, a Swede, appeared in the Police Court this morning for fighting last night. "It wasn't a fight," protested Nelson, a little fellow with a thatch of yellow hair, "cause we hardly got started 'fore we wuz stopped." Then up spake Green, though he is black, "Jedge, he tried to blacken my eye, he did."

On the side of his optic Green carried a welt and a scratch. "Made by a beer barrel when I rolled over in the alley," he affirmed, squinting along at Chris Nelson. "He didn't do it; Jedge he couldn't hit hard enough, he couldn't."

Whereupon Nelson spoke forth, declaring in no short terms that Greene had blackened his eye two weeks ago, but he explained it was only a fluke.

Things began to wax warm again when Assistant City Attorney Murphy put a stickler of a question to Greene, who is black. "Greene, how the dickens was this man Nelson going to give you a black eye?" Greene admitted the feat a possible one despite the fact that his is the exact hue of Sam Langford, the pugilistic "tar baby."

Both agreed among themselves that they now have nothing "agin" one another and hereafter will be friends. Both were fined $5.

Callahan's Excuse And Bill Callahan was next on the list. He burned up the mattresses and quilts in the city jail yesterday afternoon. "Jes thought I'd better clean out a bit," he informed Judge Butler. "You see, Judge, its like this," and Callahan crossed his legs and leaned over confidential like, "You see, them slats had sort of rusted in two and them mattress and quilts, kept squashing through—Jedge they wuz a sight, all to pieces and not a wite to clean. I jes had to do it."

"Maybe its a good job," was the response of the Judge. "but this is the second time you've been drunk in a week. Ten dollars."

"Aint got it," sighed big Bill, and Chief Carter hauled him off for a five days stay in the Hotel de Carter.

RAILS TO UMPQUA BY JANUARY 1, 1916, IS PROBABLE

Twenty Miles Telegraph Wire Comes on Steamship Breakwater for Western Union Today

Trestling between Tunnels No. 8 and 9 has been completed and a crew of men is now at work beyond the latter point and will be finished probably within three weeks, is the word from North Lake. With this done the laying of track will be started at once. There remains a link of some 10 miles yet to be laid between Tunnel No. 8 and the Umpqua river.

Practically the last of the steel for the Willamette Pacific between here and the Umpqua was received today when 750 tons of railroad material arrived on the steamship Breakwater and was unloaded at Old Town in North Bend.

Aboard her too were 20 miles of telegraph wire for the Western Union company. This line will be laid north from Coos Bay to the Umpqua, though Otto Schetter, local agent, this morning said that he has not been advised how soon a crew of men will be in here to set up the poles and string the wires north.

Officials of the company were in here not many weeks ago and at that time intimated that probably a short time after the first of the year would see Coos Bay with telegraphic communication along the Willamette Pacific to Eugene and the San Francisco offices and make a close examination of the conditions over the line.

Hauser and Hauser have the contract for the trestling up to the vicinity Tunnel No. 7, but the short bits of trestling beyond that nearer the Umpqua come under the Porter Brothers contract and will be done by them.

Trestling Delays Rails

That the rails will not reach the Umpqua before the first of the year, is the belief of V. G. Hindmarsh, engineer in charge of the rail laying, who was here today. The fact that there remain several stretches of trestling will probably hold up his crew so that they can not lay steel without interruptions.

There will be a very important meeting of the Millcomba Club Thursday evening, October 28. Several important issues will be voted on. H. A. BUSTERUD, Secretary.

SAYS AUTO LINE TO ROSEBURG FINE

Rev. G. Le Roy Hall Says Cars Make Good Time—Plan to Make Long Trip Through to Catch Night Train in Winter—F. D. Cohan Marshfield Agent

Rev. G. Le Roy Hall, who has just returned from a trip to Willamette Valley points, made the trip both ways between here and Roseburg over the auto line. He says the roads are in good shape and the cars make excellent time. He praised the drivers for their courtesy and said that the service was much better than it formerly was to Coos Bay.

F. D. Cohan, of the Owl, who is agent here for the auto line has been informed by manager Joe Laird that they will maintain excellent passenger service all winter. The schedule will provide for leaving here in the morning and making connections with the evening train at Roseburg for Portland. Autos will go as far as Rock Creek, and when the weather gets bad, new covered stages will be used through the canyon and autos run from Camas to Roseburg.

With Manager Laird, Messrs. Kolhagen and Banks are cooperating in every way to give passengers the best and most comfortable service. Mr. Cohan, at the Owl pharmacy, will be pleased to give any further information, make reservations and issue tickets to those desiring them.
