EUROPEAN WAR ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

OCT. 29, 1914

Turkey begins war on Russia by naval attacks at Odessa. The Germans attempt to penetrate the line of the Allies in the vicinity of Lille, and fail.

All the German army corps on the left bank of the Vistula river are in full retreat. Prince Louis of Battenburg, first Lord of the British Admiralty, resigns.

RELIEVE TWO TROUBLES

IF NOT a person ever rode into Coos Bay on the new Willamette Pacific railroad after it is finished, the coming of the new line will have relieved two great troubles for the people of this community.

The Western Union Telegraph Company is to start at once stringing a wire from here to Eugene and there will then be direct connection along the railroad right of way.

Principle of communication. This was usually coupled with the delay of the mails which were brought over the rough mountain roads.

With the telegraph wire completed along the railroad there will be no more occasions when the wires are down, and with trains running into Coos Bay it will be rare to ever see in the post office that old familiar sign "The Mail Has Not Arrived."

PREDICTS PROSPERITY

JACOB SCHIFF predicts a wave of prosperity for this country, the like of which has seldom been seen, especially by this generation, and John D. Ryan declares that within the next ten years the copper industry will experience a greater boom and greater prosperity than ever in its history.

The four hundred locomotives ordered by Russia will take 3,200,000 pounds of copper. A large St. Louis shoe manufacturer has closed a contract for 4,000,000 pairs of shoes for the Allies, at a total of over $12,000,000.

A Boston shoe concern has taken a contract for 5,000,000 pairs of shoes for the Russian army. This order, together with the company's present domestic business will keep the plant working at capacity for months.

When they are courting she will tell him that he is the only man in the world who really understands her. And then he will marry her and spend the rest of his life trying to understand her.

The scientists may some day devise a scheme that will make kissing sanitary, but they will never find any way to make kissing safe.

When they are courting she will tell him that he is the only man in the world who really understands her. And then he will marry her and spend the rest of his life trying to understand her.

Did you ever notice what a fine time the man who is fond of peanuts can have on 5 cents?

Does this mean that Mr. Lombard was "hit" up and the light went out in the new swimming pool at Shore Acres?

CHEERING OF LUMBERMEN

NEWS of a car shortage is an evidence of prosperity which no man can question, evidence which is corroborated by the fact that railroad gross earnings in September showed a gain of two per cent.

Buying of material by railroads is good news to the lumber industry. Track improvements will require steel bridges have not supplanted trestles. Terminal improvements will require lumber for construction.

Stories of State Elections To be Held This Year

NEW JERSEY Having disposed of the suffrage issue at the special election October 19, New Jersey has left little of General Interest for the election of November 2. Voting on this day will be confined to the election of six members of the State Senate and a full membership of 60 in the House. The campaign has been very quiet, no state-wide issues being involved. In some legislative districts, local option has been an issue.

All Over Oregon

The Same Old Uncle

HEARD some hyphenated cuss begin to rant, and roar, and fuss, and tell the boys that Uncle Sam could build canal and lock and dam, and telephone across the seas, and bring small countries to their knees, but—

When dear old Uncle sought to enter battles that are fought by nations like the Fatherland, his boys would surely lack the sand. He even said that we are taught by Dad and Mother that we ought to stay at home when country calls to battlefields when manhood falls, and then mentioned that frail song that's helped to put us all in wrong—the one "I didn't raise my boy to be a soldier,"—but a toy.

I wonder if that fellow knew the mothers that sent boys in Blue and boys in Gray, in Sixty-one—and boys again "neath tropic sun to fight the mothers' sons of Spain where fever wrought with torrid rain? I wonder if he knows that Dad said: "Country calls, go on, my lad."

I wonder if they think because some hyphenated fellows pause in choosing whether subjects be, or citizens of Land of Free, that all our patriot's dead, and that in vain our fathers bled to build this nation on a rock to stand 'gainst ev'ry storm and shock?

I'm mighty glad no war's alarms has called old Uncle Sam to arm his sons with bayonets and such harsh things as bring a blight, and touch of gloom and sorrow o'er an earth on which the Prince of Peace had birth. But—should some foreign nation pine, she'll find old Uncle Sam in line.
