EUROPEAN WAR ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

Battles are begun between the Russian and Turkish troops on the frontier near Trebizond.

All Turkish subjects are to be expelled from Russia within a week, according to orders given.

The grand vizier of Turkey expressed a desire to remain at peace with Russia, France and Great Britain but refuses to dismiss German officers from Turkish ships.

MRS. STONER

MRS. WINIFRED SACKVILLE STONER has a remarkable reputation for child training through splendid results she has obtained with her daughter.

Public school teachers deserve a place in heaven and all the stars they want in their crowns.

It is criminal to let a baby cry and say it is good for him.

Never talk baby talk; treat the infant as though it were an intelligent being.

Lumber up your heels, loosen the pecker in your backs and play with your kiddies and you'll keep young.

We need schools for parents more than for children.

Children can diagram sentences beautifully, but they say "I seen" and "I done."

Parents experiment on their first child; it's a wonder most of them live.

Mrs. Stoner has an interesting subject, a subject upon which there is multitudinous advice and the fact she has succeeded personally as a child trainer gives more than usual weight to what she says.

CAUSE AND EFFECT

MISS BOUSANQUET, probably the best authority in England on social settlement work, as Jane Addams is in America, has written a book on such work, the problems of which are much the same everywhere.

The conclusion of her study is that "one of the most potent means of making poverty more poor is for the more fortunate to fling its dimes from its superfluity," and that "the only way to work towards the millennium is to study the causes of human misery rather than the results."

It would seem that anyone who ever found a pin pricking a crying child would know this—they do know it—yet the fact remains that it is easier, and much more spectacular, to doctor results than investigate causes.

Only very pious souls believed that poverty and disease with their attending miseries were sent of God for punishment, or, if the sufferer were very pious, then to test his faith and endurance.

That this belief still lingers in some minds is evidenced by utterances in the pulpit and in the public print.

TALKS WITH THE BUSINESS MAN

By Nels Darling

MERCHANDISE well bought is only half sold. Your stock represents money and it is money tied up. Make this money work for you as much as possible—and advertising is the key to the situation.

You have certain fixed expenses that cannot be materially reduced. Better sell 50 articles at a gross profit of 20 cents each than sell 30 articles at a gross profit of 50 cents each, even though you have to spend two dollars in advertising in order to sell the 50 articles.

Nothing succeeds like success. People like to trade with a firm that is doing a good business.

To stop advertising because of a dull season is to lose momentum. Keep the ball rolling when you have started, by using a judicious amount of advertising motive force.

The large department stores and the mail order houses are sending tons and tons of advertising matter into the short crop sections of the country. People have to buy some goods, so be sure to get your share of the business.

The steady drip will wear away stone. Careful, stick-to-it, information-full advertising will bring paying results.

With the big merchants of the country advertising is an asset, not a liability, and you can make your advertising one of the most successful features of your business.

WITH THE TOAST AND THE TEA

GOOD EVENING

Remember on every occasion which leads thee to vexation to apply this principle, that this is not a misfortune, but to bear it nobly is good fortune.—Marcus Aurelius.

WATCH THE CORNERS

When you wake up of a morning of a chill and cheerless day, And feel inclined to grumble, pout, or frown,

Just glance into your mirror and you will quickly see

It's just because the corners of your mouth hang down.

Then take this simple rhyme, Remember it in time:

It's already dreary weather, in countryside or town,

When you wake and find the corners of your mouth turned down.

If you wake up in morning full of bright and happy thoughts

And begin to count the blessings in your cup,

Then glance into your mirror and you will quickly see

It's all because the corners of your mouth turn up.

Then take this little rhyme, Remember all the time:

There's joy a-plenty in this world to fill life's silver cup

If you'll only keep the corners of your mouth turned up.

—Selected

If a Coos Bay mart will work hard at it and spend ten years training his wife he can usually make her do anything she wants to do.

MERE MAN

Observe the stars there in the skies—

Aye, cast your gaze afar—

And maybe you will realize

What little runs you are.

Maybe if work wore silk stockings and fluffy lingerie more Coos Bay men would be in love with it.

Every day is a bad day to be poor.

Our idea of a pretty girl is one who can look just like her photograph.

OH! MY!

"I'll write a honey song," said she

"And sing it in the Key of bee."

QUESTION FOR THE DAY

What has become of the old-fashioned woman who had to stop and count up when you asked her how many children she had?

It doesn't matter how rich or how poor a Coos Bay man may be. Let him talk for awhile and he will inform you that he is getting all the worst of it.

STRANGE.

You long to make her your own dove

And quickly she discerns it,

But when she wants to keep your love

Why is it she returns it?

LUMBER IN IDAHO SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

Logging Camps Near Lewiston Are Showing Activity and Sawmills Are Running

LEWISTON, Idaho, Nov. 2.—That the lumber industry is showing signs of revival, is evidenced in the activity in the logging camps near Bovill, which supply the logs for the mill at Potlatch.

Several camps are now in operation, giving employment to hundreds of men. The mill at Elk River has been running night and day for two months and it is predicted it will continue two shifts until weather conditions necessitate a shutdown.

Lumber shipments from the mill have been steady all Summer, most of the stock going to far Eastern points. Reports have it that the mill at Potlatch will be operated night and day for a time this season to catch up with the supply of logs, as from 30 to 60 carloads of logs are sent from here daily to that mill.

She's Six Today

She's six today. She climbed my knee and twined her arms about me so,

And whispered to me joyously: "I bet you, dad, that you don't know

What day this is." I feigned to think, though well I knew what she would say.

And shammed surprise when she exclaimed: "I'm growing up; I'm six today."

What is it, when the years come on, that holds a man and makes his heart

To soften toward a little child and make the tears so quick to start?

I had not noticed it before, I did not think until today.

Her cozy corner strangely silent now, her paper dollies laid away.

The little finger marks we loved are gone from off the window sill,

The "rattle" and the screecher toys are strangely still,

And silence hovers 'round the house, unbroken by her childish glee—

She's six today, and growing up, no more a little babe to me.

You're six today! Come, kiss your dad, and hug him, too, you little elf,

And romp with him, and play with him, nor ask him why he's not himself,

Just follow him where'er he goes, and let him take your little hand:

Don't ask him what he's thinking of—you wouldn't know or understand.

Let's go together down the street, a-romping in your child-heart way.

You cannot play like this for long. You're growing up—you're six today.

Stories of State Elections To be Held This Year

No. 6

MARYLAND

Maryland will elect a governor, comptroller of the state treasury, attorney-general, a full house of delegates and half of the state senate.

In addition four constitutional amendments will be voted upon, and local minor officers will be chosen in the counties and Baltimore City.

Candidates to succeed Governor Goldsborough, Republican, are: Ovington E. Weller, Republican; Emerson C. Harrington, Democrat; and George R. Gorsuch, Prohibitionist.

The constitutional amendments are for the referendum, a new taxation scheme, home rule for cities, and parole in criminal cases. The referendum plan is practically the same as that followed in other states, except that the Maryland proposition includes a prohibition against the use of the referendum in any local option or license legislation.

If the home rule amendment carries the legislature will be relieved of a vast amount of purely local legislation, which would be vested in the city and county councils; while the taxation amendment provides for the classification of all kinds of property for the purpose of taxation.

"The Shoe Tax" Father's income knows what it is and to mother it is also a very real thing. It means the high cost of keeping a growing boy or girl properly shod. When father and mother figure out all the new shoes they have to buy they are apt to conclude shoes are made out of paper rather than leather. Care in purchasing will cut down this tax—care in choosing the right shoes and care in buying at the most favorable time. And the first step in the right direction is a study of the advertising in THE TIMES that gives the helpful information.
