CAPT. R. O. CRISP, OF COAST GUARD SERVICE HERE

Making An Investigation of the Work of Local Crew at Wrecking of Santa Clara Week Ago

Captain R. O. Crisp, of the Coast Guard service, arrived yesterday from San Francisco, to secure testimony regarding the actions of the Coos Bay Coast Guard crew during the wrecking of the Santa Clara.

Every one who was closely connected with the wreck, either a passenger, a member of the crew, or who witnessed the landing of the boats on the beach is being sought by Captain Crisp.

Seeks Adverse Criticism
'And I want those who have the adverse criticism to make of the Coast Guard,' he advised this morning. The purpose of this, he explained, is that by such persons it is more easy to arrive at the real facts of the matter, to secure the points on which to hinge investigations.

Captain Testifies
Captain Lofstedt was asked if he expected the life savers to put in an appearance. 'I know nothing about the conditions with which they had to contend,' he answered. 'I didn't know whether they were coming or not. It was getting dark and the ship showed signs of breaking up and I wanted to get my passengers ashore. He further testified that all of the passengers would have been saved had the small boat not grounded on a rock, in the landing, and capsized the craft.

Makes No Criticism
He said that he had no criticism to make of the Coast Guard crew for he knew nothing whatever about the conditions with them at the time. Captain Crisp said that the investigation is a matter of routine with his department and as nearly as possible is carried on with each wreck wherein lives are lost.

Testimony is being taken down on a typewriter and will be investigated further on his return to the San Francisco office.

Station So Far Away
The fact that the present station is located 30 minutes from the bar, was deplored by Captain Crisp. 'Too bad,' he said. The men will be moved to the new station in about a month's time.

Later in the morning he went back to the station with Captain Britt and Captain Lofstedt was taken to Charleston Bay and from there went again to the scene of the wreck.

The look-out is said to have made no mention to the station, when he reported the wreck at 4:34 p. m. last Tuesday, of what sort of equipment should be brought to the beach.

Packed Equipment
This morning Captain Britt stated, 'I am willing to take the crew and the boat out over the bar anytime it is necessary. The Santa Clara landed at such a point as soon as I saw her I knew the gun and breeches buoy were all that could be used. We had to go back to the station for them. The gun weighs more than 250 pounds, and the rest of the equipment is in proportion. The men had to pack this. First we had to get a team at South Inlet, hitch it up and go in the dark over those roads that were almost impassable and through the rain.'

PRAISED THE PEOPLE
Purser of Santa Clara Said He Was Shown Kindness

A telegram received by Mrs. A. P. Stone, wife of the purser on the Santa Clara, praises the citizens of Marshfield for their kindness to those rescued from the wreck of the Santa Clara. 'I never knew it was possible for people to be as kind as the Marshfield citizens have been,' read the telegram.

WRECKING COMMISSIONER TO TAKE CHARGE

Look After All Wrecks—Suggestion Made by Deputy U. S. Marshal Becker—Could Save Much

A wrecking commissioner for Oregon, with a knowledge of wrecking laws and the jurisdiction of officers whose business it would be to hurry to the scene of wrecks and take complete charge of them and attend to the salvage is the suggestion of Deputy United States Marshal Becker.

Could Save Much Money.
'A commissioner of this sort,' explained Mr. Becker, 'would have to know the law thoroughly, understand how to go about salvaging a cargo. He would have to be an expert who could come in and take complete charge and tell people what they could or could not do. I believe that such a man would be worth while and in the systematic handling of just one wreck could save many times his salary.'

Has Latest Opinion
He said that District Attorney Lilliovis has some of the latest opinion on marine laws, and these state the Sheriff can act only to the high water mark.

Like Old Mother Hubbard, Driver Finds Cupboard Bare—Insurance Adjustors are Coming Here

When Old Mother Hubbard, so the story goes, went to the cupboard, she found the cupboard quite bare, and so it was with the stuff taken by the merchants from the wreck of the Santa Clara.

W. H. E. Ede was hired with his team and wagon to bring the stuff to this city. He said that approximately two tons of merchandise was taken away and claims that he knows the name of the man who took it.

Mules Gave Out
Having made two trips over the almost impassable roads Mr. Ede then called a halt. He said that already one of his mules had been lamed and the others were in bad shape.

The goods were hauled to the warehouse and are being held there until the arrival of the insurance adjustors, who are expected here from San Francisco tomorrow.

GAMBLING CHARGED

Reedsport Man is Indicted by Douglas Grand Jury

The Roseburg Review says:
Four indictments were returned by the grand jury in the Circuit Court this afternoon, three of which were sealed and will not be made public until such time as the indictments are in custody of the officers. The indictment made public by Judge Hamilton was returned against Bert Roberts, a resident of Reedsport. Mr. Roberts is charged with allowing a gambling game to be played in a building over which he had jurisdiction at Reedsport.

The Marshfield News Company made its bow to the public this morning, when J. Q. Jarvis and Emil Gabrielson took over the store and the stock of Frizeen's store on Central avenue. The young men have taken over the entire stock and will at once make several changes in the business. It was announced today. They will add a line of school books, will keep all the up-to-date periodicals and newspapers and also will make deliveries, a new innovation.

STATEMENT GIVEN BY SECRETARY OF A. B. L.

More League in 1914 Than the Previous Year — Large Sums Paid to Draft Players

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Many interesting details in connection with the professional baseball season of 1915, which, for many reasons, was non-productive of financial benefit to those most closely identified with the National game, were included in the annual report of Secretary John H. Farrel, which he presented at the annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues here today.

More This Year.
A resume of the business transacted by the National Association during the year showed that forty minor league organizations embracing 262 cities and towns in the United States and Canada qualified for membership in 1915 as compared with 44 leagues representing 200 towns and cities in 1914. Ten of these leagues did not begin the season of 1915 and five of the 30 which started failed to complete their season's schedules. One of these was disaffiliated and the other four dropped out, their failure to continue being attributed mainly to unusually adverse weather conditions which prevailed. In one league 105 games were postponed on account of rain in a four-months' playing season.

Players' Contracts

Five thousand four hundred and seventy-two players' contracts were received, recorded and promulgated by the association during the year. One thousand three players were released by purchase out of two thousand eight hundred and forty reported to the office of the association for release. Ninety-one optional agreements were approved between National Association Clubs and 39 optional agreements were exercised by National Association Clubs. Six hundred and seventy players were reported for suspension and 236 were reported for reinstatement. Seven drafted players were claimed under the waiver rule and 738 disputed cases were adjusted by the association during the year. Seventeen players were drafted by the National League and a similar number by the American League.

Drafting Players.

Out of $72,000 received by the association for drafted players the American League contributed $21,400 and the National League $21,950. In all, $129,557 passed through the office of the National Association during the current year for drafted players, optional agreement players and others released by purchase.

The list of players drafted include the following affecting the Coast League:

- By New York Americans—Love, from Los Angeles, Cal., $2500.
By Los Angeles—Galloway, from Denver, $1000; Jackson, from Bloomington, Ill., $750; Thompson, from Lawrence, Kan., $750.
By Salt Lake City, Utah—Mullen, from San Antonio, $750.
By Portland, Ore.—Quinn, from Syracuse, $750; Halliker, from Keokuk, Ia., $400.

DEFEATS UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA 34 TO 0

Football of the Northerners Has Twice Been Matched With California Product This Season

(Special to The Times)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—By an overwhelming score of 34 to 0 the University of Oregon football team yesterday afternoon defeated the University of Southern California. The locals were outclassed in almost every department of the game, the Northerners sending their plunging backs through the Golden Bear line, time and again for good sized gains.

There remains now for the Oregon team the greatest game of the 1915 season, that on the 20th with the Oregon Aggies who cleaned up the Michigan Aggies and have already trounced Whitman College and the University of Idaho.

KEEP RUGBY STILL

STANFORD SHOWS NO TENDENCY TOWARD AMERICAN FOOTBALL

J. E. Montgomery Goes Back to Campus of Alma Mater—Phone Men Meet at Exposition

Stanford University takes the return of the University of California to the old-time football very complacently, says J. E. Montgomery, who has just returned from a few days' visit at the fireside of his fraternity and a wandering about the campus of his Alma Mater.

Not as yet have the people of Stanford thought seriously of changing from rugby. He says that instead, they seem stronger than ever to stand out for the English game and in one day there he saw three games on the campus.

Up at Berkeley the students knew their first year back in the old-style football would not be a successful one. 'At the Sigma Chi fireside,' said Mr. Montgomery, 'they were betting, pretty even too, that Washington would beat them about 60 points.' The final score was 79 to 0 in favor of Gilmour Doble's eleven.

While in San Francisco Mr. Montgomery attended a very successful meeting of the Independent Telephone Association of America.

ACCIDENTS REPORTED

Every Woman Should Know
There are three entirely different kinds of baking powder, namely:
(1) Cream of tartar, derived from grapes;
(2) Alum, a mineral acid; and
(3) Phosphate of Lime.
(1) Baking Powders made of Cream of Tartar add to the food the same healthful qualities that exist in the ripe grapes from which Cream of Tartar is derived.
(2) Baking Powders made of Alum add to the food some form of Alum or Aluminum, a heavy metal, wholly foreign to any natural article of food.
(3) Phosphate of Lime is made from rock or by burning bones which by chemical action are changed into a white, powdered acid. It is used in baking powder only because it is a cheaper substitute.
A Cream of Tartar powder never contains Alum or Phosphate.
Every housekeeper should read the names of the ingredients printed on the label and know what she is using.

WILL HURRY RAILS ARGUE QUESTION
SEVEN WEEKS TO SEE MOST OF STEEL LAID FOR RAILROAD
Work Trains Expected Then to Work From Marshfield to Umpqua—Smith River Delays
Work trains will be through to the Umpqua from Marshfield within seven weeks is the word received here today and the intimation is that all equipment to be moved from Coos Bay to the north will be taken out over the road at that time.
There will still remain a link on Smith River necessary yet to connect Eugene with the Umpqua, but work trains will have access over most of the line between here and Eugene as at that time.
Work on Smith River was delayed for a time on account of the scarcity of piling for the trestling. One contractor gave up the job, because such long ones were needed, and another man had to be secured before the work could go ahead.
The fact that the rails will be through to the Umpqua in seven weeks will mean that steel will be rushed across the Coos Bay bridge and also from North Lake on north for a distance of about nine miles.
