Jennings, of Eugene, writes that she has a copy of the Willamette Farmer, dated at Salem, September 22, 1876, which gives in the proceedings of the State Legislature, the account of the introduction of a bill in the Senate providing for the incorporation of the town of Marshfield.

All Are Boasting.—Letters that come from Eugene these days bear on the backs stickers of a U. of O. pennant, telling that next Saturday is the date of the big game with O. A. C. at Eugene and also that it is home-coming day to all the alumni members. It is expected that no less than 8000 people will view the game on that date.

K. of P. Coming.—About forty members of the K. of P. lodge from North Bend will come to Marshfield this evening to meet with the members of this city. The North Bend members have chartered the big Gorst and King car and will leave for Marshfield at 7:30 p. m. At the meeting in Marshfield tonight the third degree will be conferred upon two candidates.

Plaintiffs Lose Suit.—Judge Coke rendered a decision in favor of the defendants Saturday in the case of C. L. Smith and W. J. Conrad versus Mrs. Gunelle Burns, which involved the ownership of 40 acres of land. The testimony showed that the defendant's grantors had been in possession of the land on Coos River since 1890 under a tax title and the original owners had paid no taxes for 18 years.

All Right in 1917.—Mark Woodruff, secretary of the Publicity Bureau of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, writes that he has tried his best to get the State Bankers' Convention here for 1917, but that he is overruled. However, he has secured the promise the convention will be held here in 1917. R. W. Schmeer, the man who invited the bankers to Portland in 1916, writes a similar letter.

Expect 50 To Go.—At least 50 business men of Marshfield and North Bend are expected to leave tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 on a special train for Coquille and Bandon, according to Secretary Earl Powell, to attend the quarterly meeting of the Coos Business Men's Association. Arrangements have been made so that the party can return from Bandon the same night, having a special boat down and back up the river afterwards.

Hold Special Meetings.—Every evening this week and including next Sunday evening, there will be special evangelistic meetings at the First Baptist church at 7:30 o'clock with the Reverends H. B. Foskett and G. Le Roy Hall in charge. Special plans are being made to make these meetings both interesting and helpful. Mr. Hall will direct the large chorus choir and congregational singing, and the Rev. Foskett will preach each evening. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

Dr. Straub Coming.—Dr. John Straub, vice president of the University of Oregon and a prospective candidate for the next Republican nomination for governor, writes that he is intending to come here along with the freshman team from Eugene at Thanksgiving. He comes in his official capacity to make an inspection of the Coos county high schools. Dr. Straub has been on the faculty at the state University for the past 37 years and is very well known in this section.

Go to Seattle.—Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Miller will leave Wednesday for Seattle, where they will make their future home. Mr. Miller being assigned to the home offices of The Puget Sound Bridge and Dredging Company there. Their departure will be greatly regretted by the many friends the estimable young couple have made during their residence on the Bay. Mr. Miller had charge of the dredge Seattle's work here and his services were most efficient.

Not so in Coos.—From Salem comes the story that many of the farmers of Marion County are asking that the office of the County Agriculturist be abolished and have presented petitions to the County Court. On the other hand the retail merchants of Woodburn and others are sending in a petition asking that the farm expert be kept to show the farmers how to farm. There has been no arguments or petitions presented in the Coos County Court asking that the office here be done away with and it is said the office is taken care of in the 1916 budget, which will soon be published.
