EUROPEAN WAR ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 21, 1914. Capt. Decker, of U. S. cruiser Tennessee reports that Turks did not mean to fire on ships launch. The center of activity in the war is shifted to Russian Poland. Chile threatens to seize German ships for violation of neutrality.

NOVEMBER 22, 1914. Germans renew their artillery attacks near Ypres. The Kaiser's military staff claims success in Poland is assured. British airplanes make a raid on a German Zeppelin base. The Serbians put up a strong resistance against the invading Austrians. A cargo of provisions for relief of suffering Belgians is unloaded at Rotterdam.

PREPAREDNESS. ADOPTION of an immense military preparedness program by the peace-loving administration is extremely disheartening to humanity.

Europe today, torn and bleeding, with five millions slain and twelve millions under arms, with the resources and industries of all the people devoted to unholy slaughter, in the answer to the military preparedness program. It was the possession of large armies for defense that occasioned the war. If barbarism and butchery are the chief aims of civilization, the United States, following in the footsteps of Europe, is in a fair way to realize them. Yet there never was a time in the history of the Nation when there was less need of armament. Isolation makes invasion impractical, despite the lurid shrieks of jingoists. The war's conclusion will leave an exhausted world—no matter who the victor. Years of recuperation will be necessary before any power recovers sufficient strength for a war of conquest. And instead of advocating universal disarmament and paying the way for a Parliament of the world, the United States will be keeping militarism alive after its collapse in Europe.

While no one advocates non-resistance and all believe in some preparation for defense, the degree of preparation is the issue. Certainly the need of the Nation does not call for the monster two-billion dollar military establishment outlined. If a half-billion dollars is necessary this year, a billion dollars will be declared necessary the next year. A standing army of a quarter of a million will be declared inadequate, and a million, then two millions, and then the entire Nation in arms. And we will be asked to keep the barbaric ideals of militarism alive by training school boys for future slaughter, under the sham pretence that the Nation is endangered.

Why this frenzied stampede towards militarism? Why this expenditure of hundreds of millions in warships before we know whether a battleship is of any use in war? Why not wait to secure all the lessons taught by conflict before wasting our money in structure obsolete before completion? Science is revolutionizing warfare—why not secure the benefits of the revolution before expending the blood money of the people?

The example of America in spending two billions for militarism will be followed by other Nations, just as Germany's example was, and this will force America in turn to increase armaments, and the insane rush will be on to culminate in another world conflict. Why plunge the Nation into such criminal folly? Mr. Roosevelt stands ready to sacrifice his program of economic reforms for militarism—but because Teddy is a miniature edition of the Kaiser is no reason for the Nation's sacrificing these reforms. The causes of war are economic. If economic justice prevails, the cause of war is removed. Military preparedness cannot prevent war, though the issue raised may sidetrack social and industrial reforms vital to the life of the Nation. That nation is unconquerable in which social justice prevails. Securing it is the best preparedness.

WITH THE TOAST AND THE TEA

GOOD EVENING

Mother's prayer is the golden key which unlocks the pearly gates of Paradise and lets the children in.—Peter Phillip Bihorn.

JUST YOU AND I

If you and I—just you and I—Should laugh instead of worry; If we should grow—just you and I—Kinder and sweeter hearted; Then sure, in some near by and by, A good time would be started, And what a happy world 't would be For you and me—for you and me.—Selected

The great secret of success is that successful men go to more trouble than men usually do.

ONE OF THE BEST FORMULAS

For making a good wife is to get her a good husband.

YOU KNOW THEM

"Some fellows in this busy land Spend all their time," said Ben, "In getting into trouble and Then getting out again."

There are some Coos Bay philanthropists who give a blind man a nickel for a lead pencil and then take two pencils out of the blind man's hat.

Tell a Coos Bay woman that her new hat looks stylish, or that it looks pretty, but for the love of Pete never tell her that it looks sensible.

It is tough, but it is the truth, that opportunity to some Coos Bay men means a chance to work hard all day for $10 or $12 per week.

QUESTION FOR THE DAY

What has become of the old fashioned school book that mother used to cover with calico and on the index page of which was scrawled, "If my name you would like to see, You'll find it on page 23." They were the happy days.

A married man is an important factor of his household until the first baby comes along. After that he might as well crawl into the cellar and stay there with the rest of the ashes.

Coos Bay women are like cigars. You can't tell anything about the filler when you look at the wrapper.

When you size up some Coos Bay married couples you realize that the only chance he would ever get to hit her would be in self defense.

But few Coos Bay men work overtime in an effort to make their wives happy.

Machine politics always seems more profitable than machine poetry.

He who wrestles with the problem of the color left his cheek, it is, with the Thanksgiving turkey. Furnish hash for more than a week.

What are the wild waves saying? We care not a single toss. Our thoughts are now on turkey mince pie and cranberry sauce.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

A man was recently sent to the insane asylum in California because he knew that his head was a block of wood. He should have moved to Oregon and we would send him to the State Legislature.

A couple of New Jersey robins used a 2-dollar bill, they picked up, in building their nest. Some Coos Bay people might profitably imitate this robin wisdom by putting their money into a home.

Mrs. F. G. Leslie came home from California on the Elizabeth. When she crossed the Bandon bar, all the passengers were locked in their staterooms as a precautionary measure.

PORT ORFORD NOTES

News of Curry County Told in the Tribune

Miss Elida Marsters, of Gold Beach, has been visiting relatives in the northern part of the county.

E. H. Dye, of Myrtle Point, who has been spending a week or two at Gold Beach, passed up the coast on his return home.

Floyd Huntley passed through town en route from his home at Gold Beach to the Willamette Valley, where he will spend several weeks before returning.

Two teams from Bandon, which had gone to Wedderburn for that purpose, passed up the coast last week with the Chinamen that had been working at Rogue River during the fishing season for the Macleay Estate Company.

GETS GOVERNMENT JOB

The Siuslaw Pilot says: Frank E. Monroe recently took the civil service examination for a position in the United States engineering department. He has received notice that he has passed the examination successfully and has been assigned to duty under Junior Engineer F. E. Leeffe, who has charge of the jetty construction at the mouth of the Siuslaw River. Mr. Monroe has assumed his duties.

SHIP CRANBERRIES

The Umpqua Courier says: E. L. Robinson, the well-known surveyor and civil engineer of Coos Bay, is shipping some fine cranberries to Gardiner, which he raised on his farm near Coos Bay. They are the best quality and size of any which we have noticed in the market this year. Mr. Robinson has quite a tract set out to this kind of berry, which did exceedingly well this year.

IN NEW POSITION

M. O. Hawkins, of Coquille, from Assessor Thrift's Office. The Coquille Valley Sentinel says: M. O. Hawkins, one of the most efficient deputies who has ever served Coos county, last Monday resigned his position in Assessor Thrift's office, after between eight and nine years' service in the court house in various capacities. Mr. Hawkins took this step in order to take the position tendered him by Henry Stuenkel as manager of the Coquille branch of the Title Guaranty & Abstract company. This position has been long filled by J. S. Barton, but his purchase of a half interest in the Title Trust company, of course compelled him to sever his connection with the rival company.

DR. DEVORE DEAD

Well-Known Drain Man Passes Away at His Home

Dr. C. P. Devore, a highly esteemed resident of Douglas County, and one of the oldest physicians in Southern Oregon, died at his home at Drain November 18, after an illness of about nine weeks. His death was due to heart trouble, with which he had been afflicted for some time.

Dr. Devore was about 77 years of age, and had resided in Drain for the past nine years. Although not in the active practice of medicine for a few years past, he took part in Drain's local affairs and was a person whose judgment was considered of the best. Prior to coming to Oregon, Dr. Devore practiced medicine in California for a number of years. He is survived by a son, Attorney Claude Devore, of Estacada, also by two daughters, Dr. Bertha Devore, of Drain, a practicing physician, and Mrs. H. R. Ramsdell, of West Butte, California.—Roseburg Review.

PALACE RESTAURANT AT NORTH BEND OPENS

M. A. Throm of Nebraska Has Leased Room and Will Have First Class Place

M. A. Throm, a Nebraska man, has leased the room on Sherman avenue in North Bend where the Grand restaurant was located and has bought the fixtures and soon will open the place. The restaurant is one of the best appointed on Coos Bay, and is quite handsomely furnished. Mr. Throm expects to conduct a first class restaurant and in connection with it will a little later on have a bakery as well. The restaurant is located on the next floor of the Palace hotel and next to the hotel office so that it furnished dining room accommodations for the hotel guests. The new proprietor is an experienced restaurant man. The restaurant has been closed for some time and the last owner gave it up and left the city.
