BORN

ATCHISON—To Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Atchison, at their home on south Ninth street, this morning, Tuesday, Nov. 23, 1915, a boy. Both mother and child are reported to be doing very well.

HURLEY—Born to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hurley, of Bandon, at Maternity Hospital, 338 Eighth Street, in this city, today, a 10-pound boy.

Continue Meetings.—The revival services will be continued all this week by the Rev. Mr. Foskett at the Baptist church. Although the rain is rather unfavorable for the meeting the attendance is good.

Real Estate.—Dr. G. W. Leslie sold a house and two lots in Bay View Addition to L. E. Brown. He took some lots in Bandon as part payment. The deal was made by Alva Doll.

Sea, Seaman Back.—A. E. Seaman and wife and daughter arrived home today on the Adeline Smith. Mrs. Seaman who has been receiving treatment at a California sanitarium is much improved.

Committee to Meet.—The committee appointed at the last Guild meeting to decorate the Episcopal church for Thanksgiving day will meet at the church tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Are Invited.—An invitation is extended to the members of the Business Men's Association and the High School Alumni to attend the dance which will be given Thanksgiving night for the members of the visiting football team from Eugene.

Mills to Close.—The Smith mills will close Wednesday night and remain closed until Monday on account of the Thanksgiving holiday. All necessary preparations are being made to start the five-day shift December 1.

Census Progresses.—The school census of Marshfield is progressing and Judge Hall expects that it will be finished by Thanksgiving. It is not known yet whether or not the figures will total those of last year or surpass them.

To Hold Turkey Shoot.—Sheriff Johnson said this morning he had to hurry home to attend a turkey shoot being held in Coquille this afternoon. But he didn't know for sure that he would be able to get one of the great national birds, but says there are few years he ever misses one.

Is Now In East.—Charles J. Wood, for many months a resident on Coos Bay and who was here most of last winter, has gone back to Ridgeville, Indiana, from where he writes to friends here saying there is much snow there already. He says he longs for the rain in place of the cold weather.

Recovers Grip.—Dr. E. E. Straw, who lost his grip at the depot the other day, inserted a want ad in The Times and late yesterday, Superintendent Miller phoned in to The Times office that it had been found and it was promptly restored to the owner.

No School Friday.—There will be no school on Friday and the pupils will be given every opportunity to get over the effects of the big dinner on Thanksgiving Day. This will give them practically a four-days vacation and the youngsters are already planning on what they will do with their time.

Put Fish Case Off.—Because District Attorney Liljeqvist is in Coquille the fish case set for this morning in the justice court was put off by Judge Pennock until 10 a. m. Saturday. Both W. Clinton and A. Ingersoll, accused of putting their fishing nets more than one third across the stream of lower Ten Mile, were on hand, as was also Deputy Game Warden Thomas.

Wins Corn Prize.—E. C. Barker, of Allegany, who was formerly a jeweler in this city and who now resides on the Gould ranch, was in the city today on his way home. He has been visiting his parents at Fairview and on the way home stopped at Coquille and attended the corn show. He had an exhibit there and won a prize of a case of canned corn.

Seeking Man.—Rev. R. O. Thorpe is in receipt of a letter from B. E. Feneide of Silverton, Oregon, asking the whereabouts of Ole Veston whom, he says, resided in Coos county several years ago. No one here knows of Veston. Feneide does not give any particular reason for his inquiry but apparently wishes a position here and thought that if he could find Veston the latter would get it for him.

To Address Students.—Dr. John Straub, of the state University, will address the students of the Marshfield high school tomorrow morning in their auditorium on the topic of "Higher Education." Later he will talk to the students in North Bend. Dr. Straub argues there is no reason for stopping one's education at the end of a high school course, not any more than there is to stop at the end of the seventh grade, or any other such division and insists that further education is very essential.
