Besides the father and mother the deceased leaves four sisters and four brothers. They are Mrs. Ross Smith and Miss Lydia Holm of Marshfield and Lawrence, Ernest, Osa and Esther Holm who reside with the parents, and John and Sherman Holm of Los Angeles.

PORTLAND TOO PUTS BAN ON WOMEN IN COFFEE HOUSES

Ordinance Is Passed Making Same Regulation As Is Being Enforced in Marshfield

When the city attorneys' office a few days ago put the ban on women waitresses in coffee houses and noodle parlors of the city, there was criticism to the effect that the order could not be enforced, and that an ordinance would have to be first authorized by the council. Action of this nature eventually is general, for Portland almost simultaneously put up the bars in the same manner.

Mayor Albee proposed the ordinance in the Rose City that will prohibit girls or women from working in or frequenting any place where men gather for drinking or loitering, this being aimed primarily at the coffee-houses of foreigners.

Unless the warning of the city attorney's office in this city is heeded John D. Goss, city attorney, declares an ordinance will be drafted, and one maybe anyhow.

TO IMPROVE ROAD

CAMAS VALLEY FARMERS VOTE FAVORABLY ON 10 MILL LEVY

Special Tax Meets No Opposition—Bridge District To Vote Soon On Similar Measure

Camas Valley has voted a 10 mill special road levy for the improvement of their share of the Myrtle Point, Roseburg road, according to a letter received by Charles Hall from County Judge R. M. Marsters, of Douglas county.

The people of the Bridge district have called a meeting to vote on the proposition of voting a special road tax in their section, toward which the sentiment of the community is said to be very favorable.

The matter then, summed up, indicates that the next year's improvements on the Myrtle Point road will put it in good shape for the heavy traffic that it bears.

In the Camas Valley district the road will be improved back toward Myrtle Point. Farmers of this section last year brought much of their grain into Myrtle Point and it is expected that with the further up-building of this road this traffic and trade will be increased.

Mr. Hall had written to Judge Marsters in an effort to secure a government good roads man, who spoke in Roseburg on the 16th, to come to Coos for a series of illustrated lectures. The speaker had already gone and will be unable to come.

GIRL CHOPS, HAMMERS, MILKS

Winner of Woodcutting and Nail Driving Contest

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—Is anybody looking for a helpmeet who would really be of some help? That is, chopping wood and driving nails and milking cows and things.

If so, Miss Rose McCombs of San Joaquin county might be worth meeting. Her father has entered her in the milkmaids' contest at the exposition for five stock day.

In forwarding the name of his daughter as an entrant Pa. McCombs wrote the exposition a letter, part of which follows: "I've been in the dairy business for forty years and I never seen a man yet who could milk as good as my datter. She won $20 in a wood-chopping contest and $10 in a nail driving contest and she wants to win this here silver cup you're going to give the champion milkmaid."

CASE IS MYSTERY

MAN SUPPOSED BURIED APPEARS AT HOME ALIVE

Charles Sturgis, of Oregon City, Had Escaped From Asylum and Thought Dead

The strange case of Charles Sturgis, aged 42 years, and supposed to be dead, turning up alive at his old home, comes from Oregon City. The case is a most puzzling one and is told as follows in a Portland paper:

Sturgis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Sturgis, aged 75 and 61, respectively, retired farming family who have made their residence in Canby for several years.

Two years ago the young Sturgis was admitted to the State Hospital at Salem for mental treatment, and early in April escaped.

In May a body, on which was clothing similar to that worn by Sturgis when he last was seen, was found on the outskirts of Eugene. Word was sent to the young man's parents and A. J. Burdette, a relative of the family, went to the university city, and there identified the body as that of Charley Sturgis. He returned to Canby with the body and the funeral service was duly performed on May 17 over the body supposed to be that of the lost son.

Recently Charley Sturgis, bright, active, brown, fully clothed and in his right mind, returned to his home.

Appears at Home. Mrs. G. Brookings and Mrs. Gutz, neighbors, called at the Sturgis home with Mrs. Bertha Hurst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sturgis. Hardly had they been seated to enjoy a short call then there came a rap at the front door. Mr. Hurst opened it and was dumfounded as she looked straight into the face of her brother, thought dead for eight months and buried in the little plot in the Canby cemetery on the hill.

Mother is Told. When composed, Mrs. Hurst took her brother to his old room and he retired, Mrs. Hurst returning to the parlor to break the news to the mother, the age of whom caused her to use every precaution for fear of shock. The sister of Sturgis broke the news gently to the mother, but she collapsed and the effect was almost as bad upon the aged father. It was decided not to tell Sturgis at once that another body had been buried as his, for fear that it might affect his mind. No effort has been made yet to learn where the missing man has been.
