

Ford Touring Car

It's the Universal Car because it serves everybody—it is a universal utility. It's a universal economy because it saves money for everybody. It is a universal servant because it serves everybody. It's a universal luxury because it gives pleasure to everybody. Simple in design, it is quickly understood. Light in weight, it is wonderfully flexible. It runs readily over all sorts of roads, and all sorts of hills, being especially adapted to Coos County roads. Strong in construction, it endures. Low in cost of maintenance and operation, averaging about 2 cents a mile.

FORD TOURING CAR, $525; RUNABOUT, $475

SUNRISE AND SUNSET

Saturday
December 18—Sun rises at 7:49 and sets at 4:27.

BORN

CURTIS—To Mr. and Mrs. Harold Curtis, at the Rogers House, a six-pound daughter, Friday night, December 17, 1915. The husband is an automobile man in Wallowa, Oregon, and friends are caring for Mrs. Curtis, whose foster father is named Rood, and said to be a millionaire factory owner of Dayton, Ohio. He will probably take Mrs. Curtis back to her home when she is able to travel.

New Barber—Richard Anderson, a colored barber from Gold Hill, Oregon, has leased a room in the Gow Why building on North Broadway and will open a barber shop there.

Five Divorces—Judge Coke will go to Coquille Monday to hear four Coquille valley divorce cases and one case for separate maintenance. He may also hand down decisions in the case of the Bandon Catholic church vs. the City of Bandon and in the case of Dennis McCarthy vs. the Port of Bandon.

Getting Office Ready—Two office rooms on the second floor of the Irving building have been engaged by Dr. L. G. Johnson, of Myrtle Point, who expects to move here within a few days to locate. Today Roy Lawhorn was busy tinting the walls and getting things artistically in shape for the coming of the doctor.

Look Over Timber Lands—Geo. H. Chaney, of Salt Lake city, arrived here on the stage last evening for the purpose of looking over the timber lands of the Edmund Hall Land company which is owned by the Chaney estate and consists of some 3,000 acres of timber land not a great distance from Powers.

Bicycle Tips Off Grade—A young boy by the name of Gleason, riding down South Tenth street this afternoon, in attempting to turn his wheel into Johnson avenue, failed and the wheel and rider went over the grade. Though the bicycle was uninjured, the rider received several bad bruises and cuts which had to be bandaged.

Balance Machinery Was Awry—Some of the modern craft now days have "equilibrium tanks" whereby a too heavy load on one side can be equalized by a quantity of ballast automatically taken in from the other. James Anderson possibly had never heard of such an apparatus for last night he was taken in tow by the officers with too much of a load on the wrong side, enough to make navigation almost an impossibility. He had no cash in the hold to pay a "fliver" into the general treasury.

Biggest Shipment of Year—The biggest shipment of parcel post this year will leave aboard the steamship Kilburn tomorrow for Portland. For 10 days the postoffice force has been taxed to the limit, taking in and weighing up Christmas packages, and in the last three days or so there has been someone at the window with bundles from the opening to the closing hours.

New System of Recovery—Charles Marchant has invented a new and unique method of finding lost articles. Two days ago his wheel was stolen and he appealed to the police to find it for him. Believing the chances of recovery would be increased providing the officers knew what the wheel looked like, he drew carefully labeling and describing a colored picture of the machine, every section of it and pinning this up in the police station.

Dinner Is Talked Of—There is some talk of arranging what would be known as a "Get together Americanization dinner" of the members of the Chamber of Commerce on February 22, Washington's birthday. Last year there was a strong agitation for such gatherings all over the United States and this year, because of the war in Europe, the spirit seems to be growing toward staying at home to "see America First" and hold fast to all things American.

With money saved we feel secure—It does not take great wealth To start a helpful bank account That helps one help himself.
