BANK CHRISTMAS TREE TOMORROW

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF COOS BAY WILL DISTRIBUTE FIFTY DOLLARS AND PASS BOOKS TO LITTLE FOLKS—INVITE ALL TO ATTEND

Tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock, the First National Bank of Coos Bay will have its Christmas tree. At that time, fifty one-dollar bills will be distributed among the children to start "savings" accounts.

Several hundred children have registered and the award will be by lot—the lucky numbers being drawn similar to the custom followed in the U. S. Government system of making land drawing allotments.

The bank officials want all the children who have registered to be on hand at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and see the beautiful Christmas tree and witness the awards.

The plan was devised upon by Cashier Kretzer as one of the best educational contributions that could be made to the community and especially to the young folks and they have responded enthusiastically to it.
