

COOS IS PRAISED

SECRETARY OF OREGON COMMISSION SAYS IT HELPED MUCH

Exhibit from This Locality Is On the Way to Portland to Be Shown There

A letter from J. A. Ward, who had charge of the Coos-Curry exhibit at the San Francisco exposition, thanking the Times for assisting in the work, states that the bulk of the Coos-Curry exhibit is on the way to Portland where it will become a part of a permanent exhibit on the first floor of the Commercial Club building.

Mr. Ward also inclosed a letter from George M. Hyland, managing secretary of the Oregon Commission. In which the Coos-Curry exhibit and Mr. Ward himself are greatly praised for the part played in the Oregon building.

The Christmas Store of a Million Gifts

It is always your aim to make as many of your friends happy during Xmas time as possible. What would bring more joy to Mother, Sister, Brother, Father or Wife than a nice piece of Furniture to fill in the gap that every home will have? A library table, dining table, chair, rug, portable lamp, curtains, book case, fern stand; we could go on and recite articles that would be a pleasure to the home and would make the recipient happy.

A Leather Rocker for Father. What adds more comfort to a man's life after a hard day's work than a comfy rocker?

An Electric Portable Lamp for Sister, during her study hours.

Dining Room Set for Mother. Who takes more pride in the home than Mother? Help her.

The whole family would appreciate a Davenport—father might remember this little hint. Remember our store will always take care of you and give terms if terms are desired, and we will exchange goods if the same are not damaged after leaving the store.
