KILBURN IS LATE

BIGGEST SHIPMENT OF PARCEL POST THIS YEAR COMING

Portland Sends 300 Sacks Together With Much Express—All Will Be Delivered On Time

Three hundred sacks of parcel post, to say nothing of a huge express shipment, will arrive on the Kilburn either tonight or in the morning. Efforts to make an immediate delivery of the Santa Claus packages will be made and possibly everything will be delivered by Christmas.

All day long tomorrow men will be out with the parcel post, and they will make deliveries on Christmas Day as well. On Saturday the window at the post office will be open, after the mail arrives and is distributed, between 11 and 12 a. m. Parcel post that ordinarily is handed out at the window may be received in the same manner on Saturday, during this one hour.

There will be a mail delivery in the city on Christmas Day. Every effort is being made to give the people as adequate a postal service as possible at this time of the year when the big rush is on.

Within the past 10 days there have been many money orders mailed out of the local office. Some of this has gone for the buying of presents through the mail order houses, it is said, and many of the orders have been direct Christmas presents. Last night special precautions were taken to see that all the doors were well barred. Not only were they locked but they were barred with heavy timbers as well.

BACCHUS IS FOILED ATLANTIC IS SOLD LOOPHOLES SOUGHT

MANY OF HIS HENCHMEN DESERT HERE BIG THIRST SETS IN

Refuse to be Formed into Abstinence by Law and Voluntarily Leave Booze Alone

"Fooled!" hissed King Bacchus as he sat on his wobbly, tottering throne and in came the word that many of his stalwart henchmen already are throwing up the sponge. 10 days ago the Period of Thirst is abroad in the land. The golden crown slid down over his ears and the Old Boy hung his head in abject despair as he muttered, deep down in his whiskers, "Things ain't what they used to be."

It is a fact, things are not as they "used to be." Many men are cutting out the booze before the law hits them. "Always liked my glass," said one man today, "but I never want to think that they had to pass a law first to make me give it up. No s'ree, I beat 'em to it."

There are "oodles" of former tipplers that are anticipating the law by a week and better. Only a few days ago in Tacoma 50 longshoremen lined up along the mahogany bar, took a drink apiece, and signed the pledge, for Washington, too, goes dry the first of the year.

And so King Bacchus sees some of his supports, not necessarily, but voluntarily, leaving his sway and he stands apace and gasps. The Big Thirst is almost here.

On the other hand there are others who have had the privilege of buying liquor when they wanted it, who say that they do not propose to be legislated out of a drink, and learning that they can lawfully lay in a supply before hand and are fortifying against doing without by buying some supplies. It has been decided that any one has a right to buy what liquor he chooses and hold it for his own use in his own house.

FAST PASSENGER BOAT GOES ON CATCHING INLET RUN

Operates in Opposition to Present Boats—Coos River Transportation Company to Build New Boat

Sale of the fast passenger launch Atlantic to Moody Brothers of Sumner, has been made by the Coos River Transportation Company. The Atlantic has been out on the Catching Inlet-Coos Bay run and is in opposition to the line now conducted jointly by Mattson and Masters, who own the Wah Ta Wass, the Sumner and the Sunrise.

Through the summer the Atlantic was used on the South Coos River for the purpose of handling the "suburbanites," the summer resorters that went to their summer camps in the late afternoon and back to town in time for work the next morning.

Now the Coos River Transportation Company makes the announcement that it will build a larger and a speedier boat to put on this same run next summer when this trade opens up again.

The Atlantic was formerly owned by Captain Lloyd, who sold the craft last summer.

ROADS ARE DIFFERENT

The difference between the Coos and the Curry County portions of the coast road seems to be marked according to the following from the Port Orford Tribune:

"Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Marsh and daughter, Mrs. Keefe, went to Bandon last Thursday to attend the funeral of John Barrows. In coming home by auto they were six hours making the run from Bandon to Langlois and two hours from the latter place to Port Orford—the same distance, the difference that the six hours were on Coos and the two on Curry County roads.

ATTEMPTS BEING MADE TO PICK FLAWS IN PROHIBITION LAW

On Man Has Substitute for Beer—Others Establish Mail Order Houses on State Boundary

Leave it to Yankee ingenuity to pick loopholes in any law ever made and passed by Yankee ingenuity. Here are two of the latest methods of defeating the prohibition law that goes into effect at the end of next week.

Comes now a man and advertises that he has a substitute for beer which he says is so clever an imitation that "even persistent users of beer can not tell the difference." This fellow seeks agents to sell the stuff through Oregon and Washington.

There's more ways than one to "skin a cat" and comes word now that at Hornbrook, a little town of California that nestles on the very border of Oregon has now magnificent "mail order liquor houses."

So carefully has the scheme been worked out that the proprietors even print a schedule of the hours it takes to reach different parts of the dry territory.

Mail from Outside

Inasmuch as the prohibition law prohibits the advertising in newspapers or on sign boards of liquor ads a strenuous effort is being made to get the people educated before the drought sets in.

However, District Attorney Lillequist says that there seems to be no way to keep liquor dealers outside the state from sending their catalogues and circulars through the mail, inasmuch as they are mailed from a point outside of the dry territory.

More interest is being manifested in the coming dry, spell and its effect on the people and that state in general than in any law passed in many years, says the district attorney.

MYRTLE POINT NOTES

News of the People There Told in The Enterprise

Miss Effie Weekly went to Powers for a few days' visit with friends in that city.

Jas. Cowan, the veteran timber cruiser, came over from Marshfield and is looking after business matters in the Myrtle Point section.

Nick Johnson, the county fruit inspector, was here from Coquille several days this week inspecting nursery stock that is being delivered in the Myrtle Point section.

Percy Ward, a former resident of the Coquille Valley, who, with his family, moved to Oakland, California, about a year ago, arrived here and expects to spend about a week visiting friends and attending to business affairs.

Mrs. C. R. Endicott and baby, who have been visiting at the home of the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis, left for their home in Los Angeles, California. Miss Sylvia Davis accompanied her sister and will spend the winter in California.

AWARD CONTRACT

RAINBOW TO CARRY COOS RIVER MAIL FOR UNCLE SAM

Figure of $50 a Month Is Lowest Received By Postoffice Department—Already Started

As the lowest bidder the Coos River Transportation company has been awarded the government contract for carrying mail on the river for the next three years. The Rainbow has the schedule at the rate of $50 a month, making six deliveries a week.

Six months ago the postoffice department approved the establishing of a rural water route up Coos River. Temporarily Capt. Lattin, of the Messenger, was placed on the run, and W. H. Cavanaugh qualified as carrier, having received the highest mark.

At the same time bids were sent in for the delivery and that of the transportation company at $50 was the lowest. Tom Smith, of the Rainbow, passed the civil service examination.

For years this company has given the people of Coos river an adequate mail delivery, six days a week, and have received nothing for this service. It is expected that Mr. Cavanaugh will get one of the other rural routes, possibly the one out to Millington and Libby way and which has already been sanctioned by the government for establishment within a short time.

DIES AT COQUILLE

Jimmie Sanderson, the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Sanderson, died at the parent's home in Coquille. Pneumonia was the cause.

TRY TO GET RATES

L. J. SIMPSON WRITES OF CONFERENCE WITH OFFICIALS

Says Something Definite May be Known in Few Days Regarding Terminal Rates for Bay

L. J. Simpson has written the Chamber of Commerce that he will make every effort to get a satisfactory statement of the Southern Pacific officials regarding the granting of terminal rates for Coos Bay. Mr. Simpson writes from Portland that he has a conference date arranged and that he expects within a few days to have something definite to wire.

He asks that blue prints of the last survey of the Coos Bay bar be sent forward to him at once. These will be used in his arguments before the officials, to show there is a depth of water here to accommodate good sized vessels. These will be sent at once.

CANDIDATE FOR ASSESSOR

To the Republican electors of Coos County:

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of assessor of Coos County at the coming primaries, subject to the will of the Republican electors of the county.

AMOS L. NOSLER, Coquille, December 21.

SOME FACTS GIVEN ABOUT UNITED STATES

The following are some interesting facts given in the annual report of Secretary of the Interior Lane:

Some of the Facts
The United States produces every mineral needed in industry, and this can be said of no other country.

We have fertilizers in plenty to feed the earth and keep it sustaining.

Our soil and climate are so varied that we can produce all the grains, fruits, vegetables and fibres known to the Temperate Zone and some found in the semitropics.

We have water power that can be made to generate perhaps as much as 60,000,000 horsepower.

The public domain is rapidly growing less which means that it is being occupied and used.

It has been discovered that the semiarid regions may become abundantly productive under dry-farming methods.

The Territory of Alaska containing perhaps 400,000,000 acres is now the great body of public domain and is a land of unknown possibilities.

Waters that idly flow to the sea if turned on lands of the desert regions could be made to support not less than 50,000,000 and the problem of bringing the water and land together is only one of money.

Each day 200 letters patent to American inventors are issued and the number of inventors increases each year.

There are over 20,000,000 boys and girls in the public schools of the United States.

Within fifty years the government has given in subsidies to railroads territory seven times as big as the state of Pennsylvania.

We have given of our resources as no people ever did before or ever can again.

About Oregon Lands
The report of the secretary goes into details regarding the public lands. The following facts regarding lands in Oregon are of interest: private and state lands, 30,638,734; national forests, 13,221,532; other reservations, 1,876,036; lands subject to entry, 15,442,178; total area, 61,188,480.

OLD SKIPPER BACK AGAIN

The hum-drum life of the landlubber fails utterly in its appeal to Capt. George Peabody, an old time clipper ship skipper. After several years ashore he has again gone back to the sea and this time will tread the deck of the Mackinac, the Dollar company's ill-fated steamship that has had more trouble in a year than any other vessel on the coast. She is now loading in Vancouver, B. C., for Vladivostok.

Capt. Peabody is a "salt" of the old school. He has served as master of the American ships Tam O'Shanter and the Antelope, when they were Cape Horn shippers plying between Atlantic coast ports and San Francisco. The former is one of the most famous ships in American shipping of the last half century.
