ONLY A DAD.

Only a dad with a tired face Coming home from the daily race, Bringing little of gold or fame To show how well he has played the game.

But glad in his heart that his own rejoice

To see him come and to hear his volce

Only a dad of a brood of four, One of ten million men or more, Plodding along in daily strife, Bearing the whips and acorns of life, With never a whimper of pain or hate

For the sake of those who at home awalt.

Only a dad, neither rich nor proud, Merely one of the surging crowd. Toiling, striving, from day to day, Facing whatever may come dis way. Silent, whenever the harsh condemn, And bearing it all for the jove of them

Only a dad, but he gives his all To smooth the way for his children small.

Doing, with courage stern and grim The deeds that his father did for him:

This is the line that for him I pen: Only a dad, but the best of mon.
