When Daddy Won't Play

Sometimes my Daddy comes in late from work, An' don't have nothin' much to say, An' reads, an' reads till I gets awful tired Jes' cause I wants for him to play An' en' he puts his paper down an sits All humped up in his big ol' chair, An' frowns an' looks like some ol' grumpy thing---His face as mean as Glant 'Spair!

When Daddy feels 'at way, it makes me fraid-I think some awful thing's come true; But 'en ef he can't stop and play with me, What is a little girl to do?

I clears my froat an' crawls behind his chair, An' squinches up and says,

"Dad-dee, I think you need a little girl Who's full of fun an' wants to play."

Oh, goodness mel I scrunches down an' waits, Jes' like a teeny, tremblin' mouse; An' en' my Daddy takes a suddint jump-Kerwhop! An' how he shakes the house!

He flops down on the floor beside me An' fixes things jes' right to play, An' hollers out: "Come, now, my girl An' drive Ol' Mister Blues away."
