EUROPEAN WAR ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

JANUARY 19, 1915

The German airmen at night deliver their long expected air raid on London. General Obregon with a large Carranza force is nearing the Mexican capital.

INVITING THE BIRDS

PEOPLE who love birds—and who don't?—needn't be deprived of their pleasant companionship merely because it's winter. It's surprising how readily the birds will respond to the right sort of invitation, and appear as if by magic from nowhere.

POLITICAL CALENDAR FOR THE YEAR 1916

There are a number of dates which those interested in political affairs must remember. Here are the principal ones: April 18—Last day to register for primary election.

THE GREATEST SEA DEPTHS

A piece of iron will sink to the bottom no matter how deep the water is, because water is only slightly compressible. If water were highly compressible, as air is, the water at a great depth would be much denser, and therefore heavier, and an object would sink until it reached a point at which its weight would be less than that of the water which it displaces and there it would float, as clouds float in the atmosphere.

WITH THE TOAST AND THE TEA

GOOD EVENING

All frauds, like the wall daubed with untempered mortar, with which men think to buttress up an edifice, always tend to the decay of what they are devised to support.—Whately.

THE INSUFFICIENT LAY

We love to praise The genial ways Of those who laugh at sorrow And sing a song When things go wrong

But he who clings To hope and sings To hypnotize his grieving His woes may find Too much inclined To listen without leaving.

A song may cheer The moment's fear, With gentle recreation, But when it's through, The thing that's due Is grim determination.

A Coos Bay man often sits quite like a dummy when he is merely arguing with his wife.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY

There's little hope for him who takes Le Page's glue on griddle cakes.

The reason we are disgusted when we hear a man bragging about himself is because we wouldn't be if he was bragging about us.

The Coos Bay man who regards everything as a joke may be a worthless cuss, but he has more real friends than the fellow who takes himself seriously.

There was a time when a Coos Bay man was expected to carry a handkerchief in his hand so he wouldn't soil a girl's waist when he danced with her, but now-a-days if he isn't able to wipe his feet all over her clothes he isn't considered a good dancer.

QUESTION FOR THE DAY

Has Oregon to Seattle, Wash?

OUCH

The carpenter was henpecked, But he was not a quitter. His wife slugged him And blacked his glim So he took a brace and bit her.

THE QUIET OBSERVER SAYS

"Matrimony is a ship and divorce is the submarine that blows it up."

A Coos Bay girl has horse sense when she can say "nay".

WHAT'S THE USE WITHOUT THE BRASS RAIL

Three lawyers met in front of the Yeon building, disguised in heavy overcoats and caps, says a Portland paper.

"Gosh, but a drink would go good now," said No. 1.

"Don't mention it," growled No. 2.

"Don't you fellows believe in preparedness?" asked No. 3.

"Yes" admitted Nos. 1 and 2, "but the stuff is home."

"Then," invited No. 3, "follow me to my office and I will save your lives."

No. 1 looked at No. 2.

"Without a rail to place a foot on and a mahogany top to rest the elbow on it wouldn't seem natural," sighed No. 1.

"That's the way I feel," quote No. 2.

And, mind you, they have both been good bar patrons.

Prohibition is having its reformatory effect.
