Among The Schools

SCHOOL NOTES.

The High School Lunch serves 50 daily.

The German American Club of Marshfield has expressed its willingness to co-operate with the German department of the High School in any way in its power whereby the speaking of German may be fostered. The superintendent of schools has had it in mind ever since school opened in the fall to ask the club if the students of the German classes might attend certain of its meetings if they so wished in order that they might thereby get practice in German conversation. This week he broached the matter to one of the trustees and found the Club not only willing to do anything within its power but pleased to do this.

Modern language teaching in High schools generally lacks touch with life, it is formal, bookish, non-usable. There seems to be a tradition in this country that a high school student has done his duty if he reads four or five books with a lexicon and is able to write a little prose. We need to get jarred loose from this standard. It ought to be a student's ambition to speak the language. Conditions do not favor this in many places but they do in Marshfield this year. The command of several languages is not so much a matter of books as it is a matter of hustling for opportunities to talk the languages. It is hoped that our students will use the good auspices of the German-American club whenever they can to perfect themselves in the speaking of German.

Start beginning pupils Monday next, Jan. 24th.

EXHIBIT.
The exhibit of sewing and drawing at the High School Friday consisted of selected specimens of the best work done by pupils. All the classes were represented. Some of the work shown received the verdict "splendidly done," "in good taste," "represents much time and work," etc. from the visitors present. There was a satisfactory attendance of parents.

ANNUAL DEBATES.
Next week is momentous to High school students, the annual debates take place—the county championship in debating is decided and the team chosen to represent Coos county in the state league. On next Friday night, Marshfield's negative team consisting of Harvey Walter and Wesley Seaman goes to Myrtle Point to debate while Miss Eva Hansen and Ruth Cowan meet Bandon here at home. The home contest will be held in the auditorium of the High school building. Much interest is being taken in the debate as is proper—both because of the nature of the question and because of the very practical nature of the work itself. Of all the work that the public school attempts, the various forms of public speaking are popularly considered the most practical. The question to be debated considers the advisability of adopting the Swiss system of military training in the United States.

No admission charge has ever been made at these debates in Marshfield and none will be made this year. All wishing to hear the contest may feel free to come, Friday, Jan. 28th at eight o'clock.

FRIDAY MORNING LECTURE
Next Friday morning at ten o'clock The January Friday Morning lecture will be given to the High school students. It will consist of a literary recital by Mrs. Bugge. Anyone wishing to attend is invited to do so. The students and teachers are pleased by the attendance of persons outside the school.

The February lecture will be given by Mrs. A. E. Gagnon of Bunker

GIRL'S MIND FAILS TO TELL OF CURE

Paralytic Nor Parents Discover She Is Better.

CHILD'S CASE A PUZZLE.

Bedridden and Speechless For Three Years After Fall, Now Cured Excepting Her Mind Fails to Register Fact. Los Angeles Teacher Led Her to Walk and Speak.

Los Angeles.—One of the most remarkable cases known in medical history and one fraught with interest both to surgeons and to students of psychology has been called to the attention of scientists in this city. It is the case of Carolotta Sausedo, a fifteen-year-old schoolgirl.

For three years Carolotta was considered a hopeless paralytic, who would never be able to speak or walk. She had been injured by a fall on her head from a swing when she was twelve years old.

It is declared now by doctors and her teachers that whatever body or brain injuries she may have received from that fall have been absolutely outgrown and that she is perfectly normal physically and mentally, except that her mind has failed to register the fact of her recovery.

In other words, according to the doctors, if the child's mind can be awakened to the fact that she has recovered from her fall she will be able to walk, talk and develop as other children do.

While three weeks ago Carolotta could not speak and could not walk alone, today she speaks with ease, walks without help and can even walk up and down the school stairs alone.

Three years ago the little girl pitched from a swing to her head. She was picked up and stood on her feet. Instead of standing still she began to whirl round and round. She was entirely unable to stand still or to sit up. She was put to bed and pronounced a hopeless paralytic. Her power of speech was completely stopped.

With the beginning of the present school term Miss Etile Lee, one of the grammar school teachers, discovered the child. There were five other children in the family, all normal, and Miss Lee inquired into Carolotta's history. Securing medical examination, she learned that, whatever bodily injury may have been caused by the fall, it no longer existed.

"We cannot tell Carolotta she is not a cripple or sick, because her mind has to be awakened up gradually to that fact," Miss Lee said. "but we are teaching her by degrees. She is placed in a special class at school, and her teacher invents little exercises and lessons for her."

"She had to be almost carried to school. Her teacher made a small sand pile in the playground and many times a day took Carolotta there and helped her walk over it. Today Carolotta can walk up and down the school stairs."

"When school opened she could not talk. Now she talks to us and knows what we say. She can count in English and Spanish and can write her own name. Her father tells me she was unusually bright before the fall, and I see no reason to suppose that she cannot be restored to her former condition."

"She has been in bed for the greater part of the past three years, and the schools at Chico would not take her in. So while her body healed itself, apparently, her mind never recovered from the shock of the fall."

Little Carolotta was taken to the Parent-Teacher club for further examinations to verify the diagnosis of other doctors. If a similar report is made her special teachers will continue as they have begun in their novel work of teaching the child's mind that her body is neither paralyzed nor injured in any way.

IMPETUS FOR ESTABROOK BOOM

"Dark Horse" For Republican Presidential Nomination.

NATIONAL DEFENSE PIONEER

Known as Fearless Advocate of Traditional Republican Principles—Also Recognized as One of Ablest Campaigners in United States.

Far and away the most interesting phase of the national political situation is the movement that has brought Henry D. Estabrook, of New York and Nebraska, so prominently to the front as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. First spoken of as a possibility in connection with the presidency less than six months ago, Mr. Estabrook is today one of the leading candidates, with evidences of strength that are a source of concern to the friends of the other aspirants.

He has made speeches in every important city in the East, Middle West, and Far West, an arduous campaign experience that has put him in good condition to meet the rigorous demands made in the head of a party's national ticket, and his friends in Nebraska and other States have formed Estabrook organizations and are going after national delegates in the most vigorous fashion. Impartial observers agree that this development of the Estabrook boom has no parallel in the political history of the last 25 years, and they are beginning to inquire whether the popular demand for new leadership is actually so strong as to give this new man the greatest political prize over which men struggle.

An All Around Big Man.

Estabrook is a big man physically, mentally and politically. Quite six feet in height, erect, rugged, he would be a man of commanding presence in any gathering. His mental attainments are attested by his signal success in the practice of law and by the widespread interest in his every public utterance on governmental, economic and social problems. He has always been a student and when he discusses a subject he speaks with the authority of one who has mastered it. His conclusions are invariably sound, and, once he has arrived at them, they are proclaimed frankly and fearlessly, for he is essentially a man with the courage of his convictions.

For instance, he has been one of the most drastic critics of President Wilson and the present Democratic administration, arraigning them for their tariff law which bankrupted the federal treasury and which places the American farmer, the American manufacturer, and the American laborer at the mercy of foreign competition, and for a foreign policy which has destroyed the respect that the American flag and American citizens once commanded in every quarter of the globe.

A Preparedness Pioneer.

Likewise Mr. Estabrook was the first man prominently before the public to outline a concrete program of national defense, which he presented in an address before the American Bankers' Association September 8th last at Seattle, characterized by the Seattle Times as "one of the most remarkable addresses ever delivered in the Northwest," and he was the first Republican leader to point the way to the reunion and harmonizing of all elements of the party, his "Get-Together" plea before the McKinley Club of Omaha, Nebraska, last October, having attracted widespread attention.

From the time Mr. Estabrook opened the Republican National campaign in Chicago in 1896 he has been recognized as one of the ablest campaigners in the United States, and there have been few speakers in greater demand.

The issues in the great contest of 1916, which is to restore the Republican party to the administration of national affairs, will be Protection, Prosperity, and Preparedness. In Mr. Estabrook's judgment, with "Get-Together" as the slogan for Republicans of every shade of opinion. He has been preaching this gospel in all sections of the country, and has met with enthusiastic receptivity everywhere he has gone.
