SUNRISE AND SUNSET

Tuesday
January 25—Sun rises at 7:41 and sets at 5:06.

Suit is Filed.—J. M. Thomas has begun suit to foreclose a mortgage against Florence C. and T. H. Chapman, Henry, Helen and D. J. Hoeck, Bennett Trust Co.

Mill Starts Again.—The C. A. Smith mill started operations at one o'clock this afternoon. Everything but the Eastside mill was closed down for about four days while the machinery underwent its annual overhauling.

No Mail Today.—There was no mail today from the outside. The early morning train from Coquille brought the county mail from that section and that was all. As usual it is expected that the mail will arrive on the train this evening.

Rainbow is Repaired.—The south river steamer Rainbow has been fully overhauled and repaired and today is back on the run again after being laid up for a week or more. The Millcooma that has been taking her place goes back again to the North Coos River run.

River Goes Down.—The train crew said this morning that the water in the vicinity of Schroeders Landing, the other side of Coquille, was about a foot deep on the tracks yesterday, but that it was going down in the afternoon. The river did not rise as high this time as it did in last November.

Are Married Here.—Late Saturday afternoon Miss Gladys Gordon was united in marriage to Roy D. Hayden, the ceremony being performed by Justice of the Peace C. L. Pennock in his office on Front street. The young couple will make their home on Catching Inlet. They have a great many friends who wish them much happiness.

Expected on the Adeline.—David Nelson of the local Smith offices will leave in the morning for Portland, where he will be witness in the case of Wm. Buck vs. the C. A. Smith Co. Mr. Nelson said that he felt quite sure that Arno Meren would arrive on the next Adeline, having been detained in San Francisco by business for the past ten days.

Rainmaker at San Diego.—Henry Sengstacken has just received a letter from his daughter, Miss Genevieve, who, with Mrs. Sengstacken and Miss Doris are spending the winter at San Diego, telling of an unusual and humorous occurrence there in the light of recent developments. Sometime ago a great drought was prevailing and the San Diego county commissioners hired a rainmaker named Hatchfield to bring down the moisture from the skies. He started in and the rains followed, whether it was due to his efforts or not, and now the whole country is flooded, thousands of dollars damage done and bridges washed out. Now the county commissioners are refusing to pat Hatchfield's bill.

Rent Lower.—Joe Magale and his brother, who have conducted the Blanco shine stand for the past year or so have leased the old Blanco bar room and will open a card room and cigar business there in connection with their shine stand. Hitherto they have been paying $1 per day, or $30 per month rent for the room for the shine stand and now they get that room together with the old Blanco bar room for $25 per month.

MUST BE OBEYED

TRAFFIC ORDINANCES OF CITY WILL BE ENFORCED

Ban On Open Cut-Out-Autos—Must Carry Tail Lights After Dark—Bicycles Also

Traffic laws of the city must be enforced to the letter, is the edict of the police. Chief Carter says that there is a ban on open cut-outs on "coal oil buggies," each must have a tail light after dark, and no more will bicycles be allowed to go their way after dark unless they carry lights. Instructions were given today to Night Officer Brockmuller to see that the city ordinance regulating these things are enforced at once. The claim is that many auto owners have become careless and go rushing through the streets with their cut-outs wide open.

PROTECTS BIRDS

DEPUTY WARDEN SAYS BOYS MUST NOT KILL THEM

State and Federal Laws Against Such Slaying—Appeal Made to Parents and Teachers

Cruel winter and freezing snows that drove the birds by the hundreds into the towns has been an ally to the small boys with air guns and sling shots. In the past two weeks dozens of the song birds have been slain. Deputy Game Warden Thomas said today he is making strenuous efforts to catch the youngsters involved in the brutal distraction. There are very severe state and federal penalties for such miscreants. Calls came to the game warden from Eastside, from down at Bangor and out in Bunker Hill. He is investigating them today. Appeal to Parents An appeal is made to the parents of the children to see that they warn the youngsters against killing the birds, and also to the teachers in the schools. They are asked to explain to the children the value of song birds, what they really mean to the community and that killing of them is not only brutal, but is criminal and an economic waste. Many Flock to City In the recent cold snaps the birds flocked to the more thickly inhabited districts where they were fed. Many of them became quite tame. It is not at all difficult now for a small boy to shoot a husky robin or thrush from a fence post not 10 feet away from the back porch. At this rate the little creatures have not a chance. Five deputies have been appointed by the game warden to act for the next two weeks. They will arrest any boys caught killing the birds.
