EUROPEAN WAR ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

FEB. 4, 1915. Germany declares a blockade on all British ships on and after Feb. 18. The Germans capture French positions in Argonne with 608 men and 18 guns.

THE BATTLE OF LIFE

Life can be made a success. It is not a question of climbing above poverty; it is a question of understanding life. So many of us have been lured away and fascinated by what turn out to be phantoms and false gods.

WHERE THE STAR STILL SHINES

EUROPE knows no law but the law of the sword. Their boasted civilization is a shattered dream. One after another the little nations have to join forces with their powerful neighbors.

THE GRIPPE

THE GRIPPE has not been merely epidemic this winter, the medical men say, but pandemic, which means not worse; but more of it.

GETTING ACQUAINTED

(From Eugene Register.) The acquaintance with the Sluslaw and Coos Bay that was so pleasantly begun night before last will be continued under more favorable circumstances and at closer range within a short time.

SAME HERE

(From Salem Capital Journal) J. Ogden Armour in Los Angeles yesterday predicted prosperity for the coast in the near future. Everything looks rosy to such folks as Armour who are raking in millions, but up this way "hope deferred maketh the heart sick."

OUR SHRINKING EARTH

Professor Rollin D. Salisbury of the University of Chicago says a continuous process of contraction is going on inside the earth and will continue until all the chemicals within it have been transformed into the densest compounds, millions of years hence. Earthquakes are a result of the contracting process.

One nice thing about being punctual when you keep an appointment is that you will have a half hour in which to sit down and rest while waiting for the other fellow.

WITH THE TOAST AND THE TEA

GOOD EVENING

For all of us the road has to be waked every step, and the uttermost farthing paid. The gate will open wide to welcome us, but will not come to meet us. Neither is it any use to turn aside: it only makes the road longer and harder.—George MacDonald.

WORRY AND HURRY

There are two little demons we have to combat, And their names are Worry and Hurry. They play the deuce with our nerves and all that, But still we keep on with our flurry.

INJURED TEACHER ATTENDS TO DUTIES

Miss Kate Porter Goes to School in Ambulance—Formerly Taught in Marshfield Schools

A Portland paper gives an interesting account of the work of Miss Kate Porter who taught in the Marshfield schools in 1898 and who is now in Portland. The paper says: In spite of the fact that she suffered a severe accident about four months ago and will be unable to walk for perhaps several months more, Miss Kate Porter, a teacher in the Josiah Felling School, who is still in St. Vincent's Hospital, has gone every day recently from the hospital to the school in an ambulance to give the pupils their final polishing before graduation.

When she fell and fractured her leg and was taken to the hospital the children were grieved. Nearly every day they have taken her flowers or sent her notes of cheer. And now she is showing her interest in their graduation by her daily devotion and self-sacrifice.

Miss Porter is a sister of Miss Fannie Porter, principal of the school.
