BUY AT HOME

EVERY citizen should buy what he consumes of his fellow citizens, employ home labor, eat home grown fruit and provisions as far as it is possible for him to do so.

This builds up a community. The farmer without a market for his products soon becomes disgusted. The laborer that sees outside men brought in to perform work that he can do gets desperate. The merchant that sees his neighbors' packages of goods on every boat gets discouraged and wants to sell out and quit such a community. The banker, postmaster and express agent that is called upon to write drafts and money orders payable to far away dealers loses respect for the fellow that robs his own neighbors of that business for the benefit of an outside institution that has no interest in the community. The farmer, laborer and merchant of this community are worthy of the patronage of every other citizen of the community. They pay taxes that support the schools, build the roads and maintain a decent government of law and order.

Your neighbor sits up with you when you are sick and gives you credit when you are broke, but the outside dealer doesn't know you and doesn't care.

Two things are necessary to make a community worth living in. One is loyalty to your community and your neighbors and friends, and the other is being worthy of the loyalty of your community, neighbors and friends.

Let every man in this community buy at home what he can get at the same price or less, and about $200,000 more annually will be spent in this community.

Can you estimate the good this will do in better buildings, more labor, better roads, better farms, better schools and better living conditions generally.

KEEPING THE DOLLAR HOME

Every dollar sent out of town for a purchase enriches some one else.

Every dollar spent here helps to enrich the city.

All things being equal, our merchants are entitled to your first consideration.

Their money is your prosperity. As they grow they become greater factors in our city life.

In many instances you can buy at home to better advantage than you can somewhere else.

Look over the advertising in today's Times and see if that statement is not true.

Compare goods and prices and ascertain whether or not our local business men are "on the job."

A Concrete Example That It Pays to Buy at Home

A Coos County Rancher, who was about to send a $40 grocery order to a Portland Mail Order House mentioned the matter to our Mr. Ray Ollivant, but said he didn't suppose it was any use as we could not sell as cheaply.

Mr. Ollivant said he would give him the figures and if not as low, we would not expect the order. Every article was figured in at the regular retail price, and the total was $3.60 LESS than the Portland house, besides a saving of the freight. The Portland house cut prices on a few staples and boosted prices on other articles.

—We would be pleased to figure with anyone ordering groceries from outside houses, and if we can't sell as low or lower on the same quality of goods, we would not expect the order.

Bring in your next order and let us figure on it.—We may save you money. Anyway, we would like to get acquainted.

GOOD-BY DOLLAR

EVERY dollar you send out of town flies away with a VALUE that rightfully belongs to YOUR community. Spend it at home, with your home merchant, where its value stays with YOU and helps to build up YOUR interests. When you come to think of it, there are only two kinds of dollars—the "Dollar with Wings" and the "Development Dollar." The "Dollar with Wings" goes to build up the Far Distant City, the Big Metropolis, with its vice and crime and low wages and poverty. The "Development Dollar" goes to build up the Home Town. It helps
