THE COOS BAY TIMES. MARSHFIELD, OREGON. SATURDAY, MARCH 11, 1916-EVENING EDITION

SEVEN

The progressive residents of First Addition, the district commonly known as Eastport, after a spirited contest for a name more adapted to that section, selected ENGLEWOOD from the numerous names suggested, as the most appropriate and descriptive of their home section. In the future, this residence district of Marshfield will be known as ENGLEWOOD.

And the strong community spirit displayed by the residents of ENGLEWOOD has been asserted in the organiaztion of the Englewood Civic League and the entire attention of the League will be devoted to the welfare and progress of the exclusive section of ENGLEWOOD.

Rusty Water

where red or rusty water occurs, it almost always comes from the hot water faucets. The water is discolored because of the rasting of the inside of the hot water piping in the house and is not dirt or foreign matter, for if it were then both the hot and celd water would be discolored. The hot water piping in some souses causes more rust than in others, due to the galvanized coating of the pipes being of poorer quality. When placing new or repairing old water piping, insist on your plumber using the best grade of galvanized iron pipe of not less than three-fourths inch diameter.

Where rusty hot water is especially bad it can be remedied to a considerable extent by having a plumber attach an inexpensive device to the water pipe entering the hot water coil or stoveback for the introduction of a small amount of lime each week. The lime added to the hot water will largely prevent the formation of rust in the hot water pipes, but it will make the water somewhat harder and require more soap.

Don't heat your bot water supply too hot. A temperature of 140 degrees is sufficient for all ordinary uses of hot water and to exceed this causes trouble. Flush the rust out of the bottom of your hot water tank at least once a week. Every hot water tank should have a faucet for this purpose.

Quite often transient salesmen approach you, claim they are factory agents, selling direct, represent that they can sell high priced pianos for far less money, etc. We advise you to take all this with a grain of salt. Listen to their talk if you wish, get their prices if you so desire, BUT

See us and let us figure with you Before You Buy

A little talk with us costs you nothing and puts you under no obligation whatever. Just bear in mind that makers of high grade pianos never employ transient agents.
