Rusty Water

When red or rusty water occurs, it almost always comes from the hot water faucets. The water is discolored because of the rust on the inside of the hot water piping in the house and is not dirt or foreign matter, for if it were then both the hot and cold water would be discolored. The hot water piping in some houses causes more rust than in others, due to the galvanized coating of the pipes being of poorer quality. When placing new piping or repairing old water piping, insist on your plumber using the best grade of galvanized iron pipe of not less than three-fourths inch diameter.

Where rusty hot water is especially bad it can be remedied to a considerable extent by having a plumber attach an inexpensive device to the water pipe entering the hot water coil or stove-back for the introduction of a small amount of lime each week. The lime added to the hot water will largely prevent the formation of rust in the hot water pipes, but it will make the water somewhat harder and require more soap.

Don't heat your hot water supply too hot. A temperature of 140 degrees is sufficient for all ordinary uses of hot water and to avoid this causes trouble. Flush the rust out of the bottom of your hot water tank at least once a week. Every hot water tank should have a faucet for this purpose.

Jungle King Pays A Most Unusual Visit

Walks Right Into Drawing Room Without Even Being Announced

Have you a lion in your house? No! Well, supposing one of these menacing jungle kings should suddenly appear in your drawing room, what would you do? Take to the window? Jump for the chandelier, or just trust to prayers to save you?

Here, for instance, is "Nero," one of the most celebrated lions in captivity, walking, unannounced, into a drawing room, as depicted in a scene from "The Woman, the Lion, and the Man," a stirring two reel Centaur release in the regular Mutual program. But the man, Captain Jack Bonavita, famous lion trainer, who appears in the photoplay with the group of noted Beestock lions, is no more afraid of a lion, or a dozen of them, than the housewife is of a cat.

Nevertheless, it was a ticklish situation, and only a man of Bonavita's frequently proved courage could have gone through with the scene.

STRONG FOR BILL

CHARLES HALL RETURNS FROM RURAL CREDITS SESSION

Considerable Excitement in Hot Discussions—Politics Playing Important Part—Call 2nd Meeting

Charles Hall is optimistic over the present situation in the fight for rural credits in Oregon. He returned last evening from a ten days' trip to Salem and Portland, appearing in the former place as a representative to the state conference held to consider rural credits, irrigation and drainage questions.

He aided materially in the successful fight to leave the proposed rural credits bill from one entangling state guarantee for irrigation and drainage bonds.

Politics played an all too important part in the session, it is stated, each section and each "crowd" standing for their own particular interests, a fact that led to the sending of many "verbal bouquets."

There were about 80 representatives at Salem from all parts of the state and from many lines of business. A committee was formed to make the rough draft of the rural credits bill and in all probability a second meeting of the conference will be called within about 60 days to consider the finished bill.

LIND GIVEN CLAIM

C. A. SMITH ASSIGNED CONTRACT TO HIM FOR ATTORNEY FEES

Hearing At Washington Straightens Out Tangle Over Southern Pacific Agreement

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18.—Developments in the public lands committee indicate that section 7, recommended by the attorney general, proposing to confirm outstanding contracts on the Oregon and California land grant, will be rejected. Attorney Williams of the Department of Justice, admitted that John Lind had conferred with the Department of Justice and had recommended this amendment. It also was reasonably well established that John Lind, by assignment from C. A. Smith, would get title to not less than 5000 acres affected by this amendment if it should be incorporated. C. A. Smith assigned to Lind his interest in this Oregon and California land in lieu of attorney's fees and Lind, in urging the amendment, was trying to make good his title.

Lind Chief Beneficiary

While the committee is aware that the attorney general's amendment would confirm titles of 93 individuals holding contracts with the railroad, most of them for 40 and 80-acre tracts, Lind as assignee of Smith would be the chief beneficiary, and there is a feeling that if the amendment were incorporated in the bill it would lead to a bitter fight in the House, especially in view of the unwillingness of the government to explain or justify the provision.

Chairman Ferris is one who thinks it better to eliminate this amendment and thus avoid an unnecessary fight in the House. If it later develops that the outstanding contracts should be confirmed, that can be done by separate legislation.

GRANDPA GRADY, OF MYRTLE POINT, DEAD

Father of Mrs. Frank Nelson of Marshfield and One of the Oldest Coos Pioneers Dies

The Myrtle Point Enterprise says: Grandpa Grady died at the Myrtle Point Hotel, where he has been making his home for several years, being ninety years, eleven months and nine days of age at the time of his death.

Harry Grady was born in New York City, April 1, 1825. He enlisted in the navy and came to San Francisco about 1847, on a U. S. man of war. When his term of service expired, he remained on the coast, and came to Coos county in March, 1859, and settled on a homestead and developed the farm now owned by J. Finley Schroeder near Norway. Mr. Grady was married in 1867; his wife died several years ago. There were two children—a son, now deceased, and a daughter, who is now Mrs. Frank Nelson of Marshfield.

Ration For the Bull

A good ration for the bull will consist of all the clover hay he will consume without waste and ten to fifteen pounds of good silage. If the bull is of heavy service or it is necessary in order to keep him in good condition feed sufficient of a grain mixture consisting of equal parts of dried brewers' grains and ground oats or bran. At $25 per ton the dried brewers' grains is the cheapest feed, but the oats or bran will add variety and lighten up the ration. If no silage is fed it may be desirable to feed from a half pound to a pound of oilmeal daily, possibly adding corn and cob meal to the regular grain ration.—Hoard's Dairyman.

GARDEN AT SCHOOL

TWENTY FOUR PUPILS AND CITY BEAUTIFUL CAMPAIGN

Have Individual Garden Plots Set by Twelve Near School—Prizes to Be Awarded in Home Garden

Twenty-four pupils of the South Marshfield school are making gardens. There is nothing haphazard in their methods; they are going about their work scientifically, testing the soil, the seeds and the fertilizers as they go. This is an added feature to the City Beautiful campaign and one that is extremely beneficial. On the wings of this news comes another most interesting announcement, especially from the standpoint of the school children. Very shortly will be announced a list of cash prizes that are to be awarded for the best home garden of any pupil in the city.

Below the school house the pupils found a fairly level bit of ground. This they cleared off and spaded. Each of the twenty-four children has a plot of ground seven by twelve feet in size, all their own. Here they are planting vegetables. Poles are already cut for the fence about the entire big garden. This is to be covered with mesh wire and sweet peas will be grown along the edge to twine up the wire.

Many Take Interest

Most interesting is the work of testing the acidity of the soil and the types of fertilizers. In the gardens will be wax beans, peas, radishes, lettuce, onions and carrots. The gardeners will get state credit in their agricultural examinations.

The pupils that are interested in the gardens are: Agnes Johnson, Lillian Seaman, Isabel Bridgman, Edith Ayre, Doris Sengstacken, Stella Magnus, Rhoda Anderson, Ruth Halstead, Stewart McIntyre, Harold Savage, Everett Nordstrom, Leslie Holmes, Miriam Wright, Clara Abel, Wills Bonebrake, Henry Walter, Thomas Crosthwaite, Forrest Gregg.

To Give Prizes

The matter of the prize garden contest has not been definitely worked out, but will be announced later. At the present time it is known that the pupils will be asked to make gardens, raise anything in them they want, and at the end of the allotted time a committee will judge the winners. The prizes will be substantial cash payments, the purpose being to encourage the idea of home gardens toward making the City Beautiful.

MAKE CITY GARDEN

SUGGESTION THAT ALL VACANT LOTS BE CULTIVATED.

Let School Children Be Organized to Make Marshfield a Real City Beautiful.

Editor Coos Bay Times: I have been following with interest the developments of The Times' splendid campaign for making Marshfield a city beautiful. It seems a shame after arousing enthusiasm and a spirit of civic pride that the matter should not assume some form in which it would be continued throughout the year until we could enjoy a realization of a city beautiful.

I have a plan to suggest that might be worked out into such a feature and that is that the owners of vacant lots throughout the city, including the Mill Slough fill, be turned over to the school children of the city and converted into gardens. This would not only transform many ugly spots into places of beauty, but could be made a source of profit as well. Of course, such a movement would have to be conducted under the leadership and management of some of the men of the city. It would have to be systematized and would probably require some money to purchase seeds and help prepare the ground. This money might be secured by the children themselves by a tag selling day or subscription papers circulated by the children themselves. The profits from the products of the ground might be turned into a children's playground fund or apportioned among the workers. It might be well also to offer prizes for the best kept grounds and gardens, thus stimulating the interest of the little folks. This plan as I have stated will require considerable work and elaboration, but I think would be a big thing, not only for a city beautiful but helpful to the young folks of the city. This might be taken in charge of either by a committee from some civic committee or by the Boys' Welfare League of the order of the Moose or by the Big Brothers of the Elks, or any fraternal society interested in the work of training and developing our boys into manly men.

It is a big and noble work and I should like to see it started at this time. Respectfully submitted,
—A MOTHER.

ACKERMAN TO RUN

ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR STATE SENATOR TODAY

Marshfield Man to be Candidate for Republican Nomination in the May Primaries

Warner A. Ackerman, a well-known Marshfield attorney, today stated that he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for State Senator at the primaries May 18. He will oppose Son. L. S. Smith, who is a candidate for re-nomination and election, Col. Rosa, of

Bandon was talked of as a candidate but has not announced himself yet.

Mr. Ackerman has been a resident of Oregon for 14 years. He received his early education in Wisconsin and pursued his later studies in Oregon. After preliminary law office work in procedure he entered the University of Oregon Law Department in the year 1911, graduating in 1914, and since then has been a practicing attorney in Marshfield.

He states his platform as follows: "If I am nominated and elected, I will, during my term of office, work toward clarifying the existing laws in order to do away with the unnecessary part of the repeated and costly interpreting by the courts of what we have in our statutes. I will work to prevent the enacting of new 'laws' on subjects and remedies on which the people are satisfied we have sufficient law. And I will represent Coos and Curry Counties forcefully and energetically, so that provisions will be made for their needs. General, and not private benefits will control my actions."

He will have printed after his name on the official ballot the following words: "Careful and consistent legislation only."

He further says: "I haven't any political sins or blunders to apologize for; I am, moreover, prepared to do the work, and have no trifles tied on me."

BARKLOW WILL RUN FOR SHERIFF IN COOS

Myrtle Point Resident Announces His Candidacy for Republican Nomination

BANDON, March 18.—Daniel Barklow of Myrtle Point was in Bandon yesterday visiting his brother-in-law, C. H. Pullen, and getting acquainted with the voters of this section. Mr. Barklow is announcing his candidacy for the office of sheriff on the Republican ticket. His platform is brief but to the point: Efficiency and economy; strict enforcement of the law. He has been a resident of the county for 43 years and has been engaged in various undertakings, including a stage line from Myrtle Point to Roseburg, logging and railroad contracting. Speaking of pioneer days in Coos county, Mr. Barklow says he was in Bandon, Myrtle Point and Coquille when each place had but one house.

NORTH BEND DOES NOT BAR RAGGING THERE

Only Vulgar Dancing and Dancing on Sunday Tabooed by the Recent Ordinance

The new ordinance adopted by North Bend regulating public dances does not prohibit "ragging" as was reported. The ordinance simply prohibits dancing on Sunday and vulgar dancing. With the exception of striking out the following section, the Portland ordinance was adopted: "No undue familiarity between partners shall be permitted. The lady in dancing shall place her left hand on her partner's arm, and not on his shoulder or back, and the man shall encircle the lady with one arm only. Partners shall keep their bodies and faces free from each other."
