LOCAL BREVITIES

THE WEATHER REPORT

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.) OREGON—Fair, heavy frost tonight; winds mostly southerly.

LOCAL TEMPERATURE RECORD

For the 24 hours ending at 4:43 a. m., April 5, by Benj. Ostlund, special government meteorologist: Maximum 56, Minimum 36, At 4:43 a. m. 39, Precipitation .00, Precipitation since Sept. 1, 1915 74.67, Precipitation same period last year 57.63, Wind: northwest, clear, SUNRISE AND SUNSET Wednesd'y, April 5.—Sun rises at 5:32 and sets at 6:31.

New Second Hand Store.—Henry & Co. who recently sold their second hand store near the postoffice to North Bend parties, will reopen another store at 222 Front street within the next week.

Union Prayer Meeting.—There will be a union prayer meeting of the Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches at the Baptist church on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, of this week.

Pool Hall is Moved.—The proprietor of the Liberal Pool Hall, corner Front and Central, is today moving the equipment across the street to the store room under the Lloyd Hotel. Fourier's meat market will move to the location on Front and Central avenue in about three weeks.

Maybe This is the Reason.—One of the visitors from Haynes Inlet came down this morning and found all the stores closed. "Clean-up Day" someone told him. A few minutes later the outgoing train went by, loaded to the guards. "You're right," he exclaimed, "it will look a bit better here with all that crowd gone."

Women of Woodcraft Meet.—The Otelia circle of the North Bend Women of Woodcraft have invited Coos Bay Circle of Marshfield to meet with them at their regular meeting this evening. There will be an entertainment and banquet. About twenty of the Marshfield ladies expect to attend. They will meet at the Chandler hotel at 7:30 o'clock.

Run Down by Auto.—W. A. Ackerman has received a letter from his sister in Portland, who was just married a few days ago. She is laid up. Her letter explained that while crossing Morrison street she was run down by a Ford auto and her foot badly injured, a fact that puts her on crutches during her honeymoon.

Asking Bond Bids.—C. R. Peck, attorney for the Port of Umpqua, says that already the Commissioners are advertising their $200,000 jotty bonds and that they are expecting several bids and it will not be a great while before the bonds are sold. Actual work on the north jetty is expected to start this summer, he said.

Take Train Ride.—W. E. Hoagland, head of the cleanup district in south Marshfield, took the boys from the Conner and Hoagland store out for a big exercise in cleaning up the rubbish. Pretty soon he noticed that they were silently stealing away and just before the train pulled out he suspicioned where they had gone. He, too, went to the depot and swung aboard the coach just in time and made the trip to North Bend, hopping off there to surprise the boys, like Foxy Grandpa himself.

Studies Coast Birds.—To study the sea birds that roam in the vicinity of Hecata Head, A. C. Shelton, of the Department of Zoology at the state university, accompanied by an assistant, has left for that section. For two years this man has traveled all over the state of Oregon after birds. Some of them he shoots, some of them he traps, others he just photographs. These birds are brought back to the department, carefully stuffed and put away in cases. It is interesting to note that there are something like 400 different kinds of birds in Oregon.

Ride in the Mud.—Capt. Monson, of the Messenger, says that he believes the Port commissioners expect boats from Haynes Inlet to plow back and forth through the mud as lately he has seen very little water up there in some parts of the channel. He says that on Monday he had to leave the head of the Inlet for Marshfield at 10:35 a. m., losing half a day waiting for the tide. At the next Port meeting he says there are to be many protests. Also he claims that the county has a 60 foot roadway from one end of the inlet to the other, along the water's edge and that the slickings of the dredge could be dumped there. The Port commissioners had claimed they were held up in the work, having no place to put the slickings.

COOS DRY IN FACT

RECORDS SHOW ONLY 180 BOOZE SHIPMENTS IN TWO MONTHS

Believed That Cellars are Still Holding Out During Dry Siege—More Expected for March

Coos county in January and February imported approximately 180 booze orders from California, according to the receipts filed with County Clerk Watson.

Every adult has the privilege of receiving, once in 28 days, either two quarts of whiskey of 24 quarts of beer. Figuring the 180 shipments to be whiskey, this would add up less than two barrels. It takes but a wee bit of mental calculation to figure out that according to county record at this rate consumption of spirits has been greatly reduced in Coos county.

However, as one man pointed out today, these figures can not get at the supplies being carried in cellars and which are still to be reckoned with as this is early in the year.

It is expected that the March shipments are going to show a great increase. A premonition of this is carried in a report from Aberdeen, Washington, that shows during March some 503 liquor shipments were received there, being twice the amount arriving in February and eight times as much as was received in January. In February there were seven drunks arrested there and in March a total of 14 tipplers found the way to the city jail.

In arrests for drunkenness, however, Marshfield is way down on the list. A glance at the police records show all drunks received since January 1 could easily be counted on one's two hands, with a finger or so cut off at that.

While it is not known yet how many shipments of liquor came into Coos county during March it is said by those who are inclined toward the use of intoxicants that there has lately been apparently quite a supply in the city.

AVIATOR MAY COME

CELEBRATION COMMITTEE MAY BRING CHRISTOFFERSON.

Are Considering Matter—Also Are Planning On Cutting Railroad Welcoming to Three Days.

Silas Christofferson, aeroplaning knight of the air by day, may come again to Coos Bay. There is a possibility that he will be invited here to aid us in the railroad celebration in late July. This matter was talked over at a meeting of the joint celebration committees just held in North Bend.

November 1, 1912, Christofferson made himself famous in his daredevil trip to sea in a hydroplane the time he visited the wreck of the Osprey, in the face of a heavy wind storm, on the Coos Bay bar. He was brought here by the Coos Bay Times for a series of successful flights at that time and was on the verge of packing up his machine when the word of the Osprey trouble arrived here. He was accompanied out to sea by a newspaper man.

At the present time the aviator is in San Francisco. The plan will be further discussed and it is probable an invitation will later be issued to him to come here. Christofferson's trip over the Coos Bay bar in an attempt to rescue the people on the Osprey was the feat which started his fame.

Want Slogan.

In addition to this, the committees urge that names for the celebration be sent in to them, also slogans. A prize of $5.00 cash is to be given for the best names and the best slogan that are suggested. The committees are, of North Bend, Henry Kern, Charles Winsor and George Hazer, and for Marshfield, Tom T. Bennett and A. K. Peck.

Three days of celebration is long enough for any community, is the belief of the committee. They are favorably considering the matter of cutting down the time of jollification to three days, giving one to North Bend, another to Marshfield and another to Coos county. They figure that by that time everyone will be tired and their money will be spent.

SHEKELS ROLL IN

VEHICLE ORDINANCE IS ENRICHING GENERAL FUND

Owners Pay $332 and Judge Butler Says This is to be a General "Pinching" For Slow Payers.

Five days now the new vehicle law has been in effect and $332 have been paid into the city treasury. There is still owing hundreds of dollars and next week a systematic "pinching" will be in order, the rounding up of all wagon, buggy and auto owners who have failed to "come through."

On April Fool's day there were several prompt owners that applied to Judge Butler for their licenses. Gorst and King have taken out licenses for the 19 cars they have in use, being the largest contribution to the city fund.

The city recorder has a list of all vehicles within the city. The police officers will be given a copy of this and then will begin the work of bringing the "iron men" in to the fund. Judge Butler says this is the show down and "that the city needs the money."

IS PAROLED FROM PRISON TERM TO ANOTHER

Frank Vaughn, Sentenced for Stealing Team Near Myrtle Point, Taken From Salem to Walla Walla

Frank Vaughn, who was sentenced in Coos county in November, 1914, to an indeterminate term of six months to five years for stealing a team belonging to A. E. Adelsperger at Eckley, was released from Salem April 1st. He was given a conditional parole by Gov. Withycombe but he had scarcely gained his freedom when he was taken in custody by an officer from Washington and started for Walla Walla to serve a term there for a similar offense.

Vaughn claimed to know a lot about the Myrtle Point bank robbery case a few years ago and was supposed to be implicated in it but District Attorney Liljeqvist was never able to get proof of it. While in the county jail Vaughn told of alleged confessions by Miller who was subsequently convicted of the bank robbery.
