REV. EVANS PLEASURES POWERS HAS TEAM TO SALVE FIFIELD

HE IS A BRIGHT BUNCH OF BOY-MAN.

Says All Can Come to Meetings Unmolested—Will Have No Personal Work in Meetings.

Bruce's Bombs.
"A mule can't kick and pull at the same time."
"It's mighty hard to scald a hog in ice water."
"Neighborhood critics have done far more harm than higher critics."
"I like a man who has faith enough to charge hell with a bucket of water."
"After God got through with making a skunk and a mule he made with what he had left, a knocker."
"If you don't land in hell, it's because the old thing burns out before you get in."
"It's hard to get up a sweat in a refrigerator."
"A deacon that won't 'deak' ought to duck."

(By Rev. G. LeRoy Hall.)
"This is not going to be any 'button hole' campaign, and I want it understood right now that anybody is at liberty to come to these meetings, hear the music, listen to the sermon and go away again if he chooses without any one pulling him to the front of the church. I mean that I want no personal work done in the meetings."

This was said by Bruce Evans at the Methodist Church, where he is holding large crowds each night this week in a revival campaign. This will put many at ease for they expect to be approached when coming to a meeting of this kind and invited to come to the front. Many have in brief sentences their experiences as to the place where they were converted and the vote in favor of revivals was way in the lead. The ratio was at least that of six to one in favor of the revival.

"I believe in the Bible and the religion of Jesus Christ, yes the old-fashioned religion too," said Bruce. Then he asked "Jack" Thompson, his singer to sing "I'm a bit old-fashioned, I know."
Must be of Service
"I'd rather be an old bucket on the back porch and be of service than be a diamond on the mantle in the parlor," said the evangelist. "But all a great many of you people here on Coos Bay are good for is to keep about eighteen inches square warm on Sundays and that's all."

About Believing.
"Yes, I believe in the Bible, but you will say you can't understand it. I say to you that you cannot understand all about electricity, but when you go home tonight you will turn on the lights, better sit in the dark all the time, rather because you cannot understand all about it. When you can explain to me why a red cow which eats green grass gives white milk, then I'll be able to explain all about religion to you."

Had a Text
In fact Bruce went at such a rapid pace last evening that perhaps many would think he did not take a text or have an outline for his sermon. Here it is. Subject: Peter's Cause for Backsliding. Cause 1. Peter's self confidence; 2. Lack of Prayer; 3. Indifference; 4. Fear of Man. Altogether his remarks were full of wit, humor and sound teaching.

WANT US TO BOOST.
In a letter from Representative Rainey to the Chamber of Commerce is outlined a copy of his bill now before Congress that would create a non-partisan tariff board, taking this important subject out of the hands of politicians and their parties. He asks that we write our Congressional delegates regarding it.

Mrs. Van Dusen will accompany him. Whether or not he leaves here, or decides to remain in Portland, he will return to Coos Bay possibly within about 10 days.

TO SELECT A JURY
NORTH BEND BOOTLEGGING CASE STARTS TODAY
District Attorney DeWitt Old Jury List Will be Legal—Looks for Hard Legal Fight

Selection of a jury to hear the case of Chris Groha, former saloon-keeper of North Bend, charged with the illegal sale of liquor, was started this afternoon in Judge Shuster's court at North Bend. Not until a late hour this afternoon will the actual examination of witnesses take place and the case will be continued until tomorrow for the finish.

Because Judge Shuster failed to select a jury list this year, District Attorney Lilleqvist, after looking up the matter, declared that the old jury list will be used.

With the case of George Schultz, of Portland, decided in favor of the defendant, Mr. Lilleqvist feels that he has a hard fight in front of him. In that case, Schultz was actually found by the officers in the act of selling liquor across the bar when arrested and yet he was freed on a technicality, the plea of his attorney being that he sold liquor in a room of the hotel and not in the Perkins Hotel itself.

BASEBALL TWIRLERS ISSUE CHALLENGE FOR GAMES

A. H. Powers Donates Diamond—To Have Fence Without Nary a Knot-hole in It — Band Organizes

NEW TEAM SEEKING GAMES FOR SEASON
Coos Bay Times:
Will you please mention the fact in your paper that the City of Powers has a baseball club started and games with other ball clubs are cheerfully requested.
Please write to Chas. H. McClees for further information.
Yours truly,
CHAS. H. LANDERS.

To any baseball team in southwestern Oregon "for fun, money or marbles" the official ball twirlers of Powers issue their challenge. John C. Kendall, who spent the week end there, said that at a meeting held Sunday definite plans for the organization of a team were effected.

A. H. Powers has donated a site for the ball park west of the town. A committee consisting of E. J. Loney, of the bank; A. H. Powers, and Roy Abbott, has been named, their purpose being to get the diamond into shape and to see that a grand stand is erected. Also a fence, all of the boards to be without knot-holes, will be built about the grounds.

Base ball material in Powers is about as scarce as Germans in Berlin, so John Kendall states, and he saw them all. Every evening of late there has been practicing.

To Have Band Also
And inasmuch as a baseball game without music wouldn't be a baseball game, a band of 17 pieces has been organized. It is to be a logger's band, with uniforms of high topped shoes, "stag pants" and the like, and over $350 worth of instruments are already on hand. E. J. Loney and Ed Liddell are taking active parts in organizing the musicians. Next Saturday evening a dance is to be held for the benefit of the Powers band.

The baseball challenge reads:
"We, the people of Powers, in order to establish a more perfect reputation and to show the world that we can play base ball, do hereby issue a challenge to any baseball team in southwestern Oregon. All comers are welcomed." Any challenge should be addressed to Roy Abbott.

WRECKING SCHOONER COMING FROM SAN FRANCISCO

Capt. Genereaux, of Portland, to Handle Project—Expects to Be Successful in Two Weeks

(Special to The Times)
EANDON, Ore., April 11.—If the plans of Captain Edward C. Genereaux, Portland marine surveyor, do not miscarry, he will salvage the wrecked schooner Fifield and send it to a small fortune. He left San Francisco yesterday with the wrecking schooner Jaqua, of the Union Iron Works, well loaded with equipment, bound for Bandon. The captain expects to have the Fifield off within two weeks and, if he succeeds, will tow her to San Francisco for repairs. After the vessel went ashore, February 28, at the mouth of the Coquille, the owners gave her over to the marine underwriters.

Scheme Financed
Capt. Genereaux thought over the proposition for some time, and finally figured that the vessel ought to be saved and there was a fighting chance. He went down to Bandon and convinced himself that his first conclusions were right and went at once to San Francisco and laid the matter before the underwriters. It is the underwriters that have financed the scheme.

Pulled Up on Shore
Strenuous efforts were made to haul the Fifield further up on the shore, by means of wire cables and windlasses. This was only partially successful. The stern of the vessel still lies in fairly deep water and at high tide the ship is pretty well engulfed. At the same time it has been sinking further into the sand.

The cargo has been taken out of the Fifield and most of her equipment carried ashore. It is believed that she will have to be patched before she can be pulled out into deep water. The value of the Fifield, when she went ashore, was estimated at between $100,000 and $150,000.

I AM THE WANT AD

by FRANK M. LEE.

—My business is carrying messages,
—I am the winged messenger of modern times, going in a thousand directions all at one time like the sparks from an anvil.
—I ride the vehicle of publicity—the modern newspaper.
—I am more efficient than the telephone, faster than the telegraph and more wonderful than the wireless.
—I am as constant as Tennyson's "Brook," as capable as Hercules, and as important as Atlas.
—I am a servant to everyone.
—I help prosperity and work hand in hand with Opportunity.
—I am the instrument of the seller, the buyer, the employer, the employee, the landlord, the tenant, the business man, the mechanic—the rich, the poor, the old and the young—of everyone everywhere.
—There is no one who does not need me. I am as necessary as machinery.
—I serve the purpose of an agent, a middle man, a go-between, exacting no commission for the things I do.
—I am ignored by the fogies, those who have stood still, but I am appreciated by those who have kept up with the times; those who have adopted the modern way of doing things.
—I carry nothing but messages of good news and am as welcome in the homes I visit as a ray of sunshine on the most dreary day.
—I bring messages of good cheer to the unsuccessful and the unsatisfied; messages that tend to satisfy the wants of everyone from the wearer of the silk tile down to the one who dons overalls.
—I know no day—no night; for I am on duty always.
—I am a saver of money; a saver of time; a saver of steps.
—I have admission to every home, every office and every place of business. No doors are closed against me.
—I reach the top floors of the tallest skyscraper and the farthest away homes of the rural districts. I skip no one and play no favorites.
—I am for all the people all the time.
—I am a creation of modern times—an evolution of the old town crier.
—I have no substitutes, no rivals, no competitors. I am the "one and only."
—I am the Times Want Ad.
—Try me.

HARRY BULTMANN HAS HAIR-ROWING EXPERIENCE

Buried With Two Others Beneath Auto After Slide Down Hill—Stage Breaks Down

To plunge down a 25-foot embankment, to be buried underneath a machine and to emerge alive is an experience quite out of the ordinary run of life, confided Harry Bultmann. He returned last evening after a harrowing trip into Curry County.

On Saturday, aboard the auto stage from Gold Beach to Corbin, the machine, together with Driver Whitsett and Ed Syphus, of Langlois, Bultmann was riding along chatting about the scenery when the car struck a large rock in the road, turned about and dropped over the embankment.

It was a narrow escape for them all. Whitsett suffered a wrenched leg and a broken shoulder blade; Syphus came out with a sprained back and Bultmann had the proverbial rabbit's foot with him and was not scratched.

On the way from Corbin to Port Orford the mail stage broke down and Bultmann had to walk five miles to town.

MUCH PRINTED MATTER HAS BEEN CONDEMNED
Congress is endeavoring to regulate matters and avoid storing Public Documents.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.
Congress is endeavoring to regulate the printing and distribution of the millions of documents turned out by the government each year, so as to prevent their accumulation and storage here. During the last seven years 6,505,893 publications, estimated to have cost the government at least $2,500,000, were condemned as waste paper.

The government of the United States is today the greatest publisher in the world, no nation even approaching this country in the effort to enlighten its people by the printing of millions upon millions of public documents year after year.
