GOOD AND TOUGH? SHOE PRICES GOING OUT OF SIGHT

We May Have To Go Barefooted Very Shortly—Local Dealers Quote Advance

Down in Mexico some of the best citizens go barefooted; the same is true in the coral reefed islands of the South Pacific where balmy breezes blow; the same may come true on Coos Bay within the next few months. For the local shoe men tell us that leather is going away up out of sight and that a pair of shoes next fall will cost considerable more than it does right now. They say the war is to blame.

Be that as it may, the fact remains, shoes are going up. One local dealer, speaking of the situation today, said that a $5 shoe now will cost $5.50 in a very short time. In some cases the same type of shoe that two years ago sold for $5 a pair will be worth $6 in the fall.

Ladies Shoes Aeroplaning
The biggest boost, however is in ladies fancy shoes. Possibly they are the ones who will have to go barefooted. At any rate, right now there is an advance of 15 per cent in the prices already and the end is not in sight.

The same dealer said that heretofore $5 was the usual price for women's shoes. Now he says it is not out of the ordinary, but rather the rule to quote prices of $7 to $10 on a pair.

Quotes a Bigger Advance
An eastern manufacturer, however, has gone this even one better. He claims there will be an advance of from $1 to $1.50 a pair by next fall. Some factories, he claims, are taking on no new customers. Another manufacturer told him that 75 percent of all the orders given the manufacturers will not be delivered.

"Many million hides went to the bottom of the ocean last week enroute to Europe," said this same man. "Domestic tanneries are unable to supply the demand. The European war is killing horses by the thousands and an attempt is made to get their hides."

Labor Is Scarce
Also the eastern munition factories are coaxing away skilled workmen from the shoe factories by quoting higher wages. Threads and dyes used in making shoes are practically unobtainable. Another item of cost is that many shoe shipments must come from the east via express now because of freight blockades.

And so it happened that our footwear is going higher and higher and thus it is possible that the customers will have to go lower and cut out such luxuries altogether.

FEES FROM BOOTLEGGERS HELP CATCH MORE BOOTLEGGERS

Money Goes Into Special Fund to Enforce Prohibition Law—Edson Returns For Edmund Case

Life is a funny cycle after all. If you don't think so, look at it. A bootlegger is caught and fined, to catch money to catch another bootlegger, so that he can be fined to catch another bootlegger, who in turn is also fined that—but anyhow this is the way it works out. For District Attorney Liljeqvist says one of the provisions of the prohibition law places all such fines at the disposal of the county officers for the upholding of this particular law.

Negotiations toward the payment of Chris Grohs' fine of $350 were brought to a halt yesterday when the question arose as to whether or not he would have to pay the jurymen $6 or $12. The matter was put up to Mr. Liljeqvist. Grohs is standing good for the costs of his recent bootlegging trial as well as for the principle of $250.

Stock Is Still Held
No action has yet been taken toward disposing of the stock of liquor found in his place when he was arrested. Mr. Liljeqvist said that inasmuch as he promises to go to California there is a possibility that he will be allowed to take back the wine and have the whisky and brandy dumped in the bay. This will be decided some time later.

Edlund Case Is Up
Aboard the Kilburn yesterday a passenger from Astoria was E. Edson. He is returning here as a witness in the Otto Edlund bootlegging case that comes before the circuit court for trial, on appeal. It is said that Burwell, another witness, is now working over in Bend.

S. B. CATHCART WRITES ABOUT MEMORIAL DAY

Thinks Exercises Should Be Held in Forenoon So County People Can Attend

A suggestion as to the hour of holding the Memorial Day exercises is made by S. B. Cathcart in the following communication: Editor Coos Bay Times:

Although I was on the program committee I feel that we made a mistake in fixing the hour of our Decoration day exercises. I believe the exercises should be held in the forenoon, say at 10:30 or 10:45. The boats from the rivers and inlets would all be in by that time, and the train would be in from Coquille, bringing some, perhaps, from that side.

The people, especially the women and children, would not have their wearing apparel mused or rumpled, the children would not be tired and restless, and everyone would enjoy the exercises much more. The march to the cemetery could be made, and the program there carried out, and all return to town and the out of town people would have time to eat their lunch at the restaurants do their little shopping and be in time for their boats or train home.

By holding the exercises at 2 p. m. it virtually bars the out of town people from taking any part in the exercises. They come in on the boats about 10 o'clock, go up to the cemetery, decorate the graves of their relatives and friends, come back to town and stand around until about time for the exercises to begin, and then they have to board their boats for home. A majority of the patrons of the boats from the rivers and inlets are engaged in dairying and have to be at home by 4 or 5 o'clock to attend to their cows, therefore it is almost impossible for them to stay for the exercises.

The children are also tired and restless and more or less disturb the audience. I therefore hope the committee will reconsider the matter and change the hour.

S. B. CATHCART.

Coos Bayites in San Francisco

(Mail Letter to The Times)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 19.—W. S. McFarland, formerly of Marshfield but now of Los Angeles, was in San Francisco this week on business connected with a merger of the gas company, with which he has been connected, with other Southern California plants. Eastern people are buying and consolidating the gas properties in Southern California.

It may be of interest to Coos Bay people to know that a daughter of Philip Buehner, the new owner of the Simpson Lumber company married a member of the Ladd family of Portland. Buehner for a time operated a big mill, owned by the Ladd estate at Carlton, Oregon, but it was destroyed by fire about eighteen months ago.

Harry V. Moffitt, whose wife was formerly Miss Anna Flanagan of Marshfield, is now identified with the realty business of James Proctor, a brother-in-law of J. H. Flanagan, in San Francisco.

Bradford Wheeler is now identified with the offices of Chief Engineer Hood of the Southern Pacific in the Flood building. In fact he has been here since he left Coos Bay eighteen months ago. He and Mrs. Wheeler make their home in San Francisco, preferring the city to any of the residence suburbs. He keeps closely in touch with affairs in Marshfield and can tell a Coos Bay man more about what's going on there today than the average Marshfield man can. He and Mrs. Wheeler are well and will probably visit Marshfield during the railroad celebration.

C. J. Millis and wife are planning to visit Marshfield during the railroad celebration there in July. Mrs. Millis' duties as assistant to President Sprout keep him rather closely confined but he is anxious to visit Coos Bay, saying that there is no spot he holds dearer than this section.

James Howard Fisher and wife (formerly Miss Marsh) and baby are now residing in San Francisco. He gave up his connection with the bank at Florence, which he took up after retiring from the Coos Bay-Eugene line work, and is now in the employ of the Western Pacific.

BRUCE EVANS SAYS "GOD MUST PUNISH SIN"

People Are Beginning to Turn to Jesus Christ at the Revival Meetings

(By Rev. G. LeRoy Hall)
"I don't know where Hell is, but I do know that Hell is at the end of a Christless life," shouted Bruce Evans in the midst of his address on "Future Punishment" at the Methodist church last evening. "Every honest man if he will come to the Bible will read there for himself that God if He is God must punish sin. The Bible says Heaven is a place, then Hell must be somewhere also. You people, a lot of you, believe in Heaven, but you don't believe in Hell."

Must Give Warning
"Whether you like me or not I must tell you the truth about this matter. I am none the less your friend, but I should be considered the mere your friend. If there was a picnic excursion on the train and it was loaded with your children and I knew there was a bridge washed out ahead what should I do about it? Should I say 'Oh let them have a good time, while they are young, they'll find out soon enough about this bridge' and let the train go on toward disaster without a warning from me. On the other hand I would say with all my powers, 'Stop! There is danger ahead.' There is a bridge out ahead of every man who goes down the line and I say this to you straight out and you can damn me or dine me for it just as you choose."

Only a Picture
"You say to me, 'Oh I believe this account in the Bible about Hell is only a picture, etc.' Well did you ever see a picture that came within a million miles of the real thing? If then, this is a picture, my God! what must be the real Hell? You may go on through life without believing in the Bible but I say to you that you'll get stung. You have nothing to gain by not believing in the Bible and you have nothing to lose if you do."

At the close of his address, the evangelist in a straight forward manner invited all who desired to come forward accepting Jesus Christ. A few came to the front of the church of their own accord. Bruce believes in the scriptural way: "Whoever will, let him come." There is no personal work done in the meetings. Everyone may come and feel free to decide for himself. Everyone likes Bruce and his methods.

Invited to School

Prof. R. W. Tavener superintendent of the Coos river high school has invited Bruce Evans to speak to the members of his school and their parents Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The local ministers and the evangelistic party will make the trip up the river aboard the Life-Line, the colportage cruiser on the Bay. This will give the river people an opportunity to hear Bruce Evans.

River Boats Coming

Capt. Savage of the launch "Union" is planning to make an extra run Friday night bringing the north fork of Coos river inhabitants to the meeting and Capt. Geo. Smith of the "Rainbow" says the south fork people may be expected in next Monday night.

Capt. Herman Edwards of the Millicoma will also bring people from Allegany Friday night leaving that place at 6 o'clock.

FARMERS SUBSCRIBING MONEY FOR NEW HIGHWAY

To Connect Head of Kentuck Inlet With Allegany—North Bend Chamber of Commerce Meets

Close to $700 has already been subscribed for the opening of the county road between the head of Kentuck Inlet and the highway leading into Allegany, according to a report made last evening to the North Bend Chamber of Commerce by A. G. Raab, chairman of a special committee.

The money was subscribed through a petition circulated among the farmers. It was reported last evening that the expectation if that Roadmaster R. B. Murdock will recommend a preliminary survey of the proposed road, a distance of about four and one half miles.

But the building of this highway is said to hinge upon whether or not a ferry is obtained between North Bend and Kentuck Inlet. This was recommended by E. I. Cantine when he was here and made his survey.

Peter Loggie, delegate from the Port at the Eugene meeting, made a report and the action taken there was endorsed by the Chamber of Commerce.

OREGON CROPS GOOD BUT STOCK LOSSES HEAVY

A summary of the crop and live stock report for the state of Oregon as issued by the Department of Agriculture shows some interesting figures.

The condition of the Oregon wheat crop April 1 was 95 per cent of normal. The average for the past ten years was 94 per cent so this year it is better than average.

The condition of the rye crop April 1 was 99 per cent of normal. The average condition at this time for ten years was 97 per cent. So this crop too is better this year than average.

Stock Losses Big

Stock losses, however, have been heavy. The losses of hogs from disease during the past year was 2.5 per cent while the ten year average losses is only 1.4 per cent.

The losses of cattle from disease the past year was 1.4 per cent, which is the same as the ten year average. The losses from exposure were 2.7 per cent while the ten year average was 1.7 per cent, showing that this year was a hard one in the way of losses by exposure.

The losses of sheep in Oregon by disease for the past year was 5.2 per cent while the ten year average was only 1.8 per cent, and the losses by exposure 4.5 per cent against a ten year average of 2.5 per cent.

Such Was Evidence in Case Judge Pennock

At nine o'clock Tuesday Judge Pennock, who had been listening voters in his office, decided to take the oil lamp to the street, home with him.

At the same time the electric lights over the city had gone out and the streets and buildings were in darkness. The judge met the Summer up on Central avenue. "gosh, Judge," he cried, "you are to be in Congress. You're a real image of preparedness." Judge Pennock grinned. He says there's nothing like placing credit where credit is due.

AMONG THE SICK

Miss Minnie Cutlip, daughter of Mark Cutlip of Coos River, is seriously ill.

Mrs. J. P. Moloney, who has been at Mercy Hospital, is better.

Mrs. Jean Brown, of Estacada, recovering from a severe attack.

FOR Public Service Commissioner

Archie Phillips, now a rancher at Summer, but who has resided in Marshfield and North Bend the past eight years, has been prevailed upon by leading business men of Marshfield and North Bend to become a candidate for county commissioner on the republican ticket.

Not until last Monday would he agree to cast his hat into the ring, but he has consented and is now out to win. His friends are delighted and as a result are working hard, and so far the campaign seems to be making a clean sweep for him.

Mr. Phillips is a man of broad ideas, educated technically, has had experience, has the courage of his convictions, and ought to make an ideal servant of the people. He will stop some of the leaks and give the people more for their money.

He is the only man who can truthfully state he has the solid backing of the entire north half of the county, especially in North Bend and Marshfield. He is the only man who can satisfy the people of the south half of the county, also. With this constituency, the experience and all necessary qualifications, Mr. Phillips will not only meet with favor but win the nomination with a large majority.
