ing established between Delmar and Davis Slough. This work is being done by Bjorqvist and Company.

Out of the Navy.—Jim Aiken of this city, who joined the navy, has secured a release and is now with his older brother in San Diego.

Club Meeting Postponed.—The Eastside Social Club has postponed its meeting from next Thursday afternoon for one week. Mrs. J. Swanson will be the hostess.

Is Moving Here.—Capt. John Sefely of the gasoline schooner Relief who makes this port with his boat, is moving his family from Florence on the Siaslaw river, to Marshfield.

Called to Coquille.—The Rev. Robert E. Browning was called to Coquille on the early train to confer with Bishop Sumner and Dean Horsfall regarding work in this section. He will return this evening.

Start Work This Week.—Providing the weather will permit, Moon and Gidley expect to start their paving work in Coquille this week, having now made all arrangements. There will be about six weeks work in this $9,000 contract, said Mr. Moon this morning.

Council to Meet.—There will be a meeting of the city fathers in the city hall this evening at eight p. m. Now that the dog ordinance is disposed of the members are looking for further fireworks, though there is little except routine business scheduled for this evening.

Cold Weather Hurts.—Tom Lawhorne was down from his Allegheny ranch today on business. He says that crops are generally backward as a result of the cold weather. The few warm days last week started all growing things rapidly but the cool rains the latter part of the week put a damper on them again.

Goes to Coquille.—Bishop Sumner left yesterday afternoon for Coquille and Bandon and will return here Tuesday morning, holding a Confirmation service in Empire Tuesday evening and will visit St. Mary's, North Bend, Wednesday evening. The Bishop expects to leave for Eugene on Thursday.

Here Tomorrow.—Judge J. W. Hamilton was unable to come over this morning from Coquille, but expects to be here on the tomorrow morning train to hear the issues in the case of C. A. Johnson versus the Port and the City. Also there are several other matters which he will look after while here.

More Come to Trade.—The business men about the city have been remarking lately that an increase in the number of shopping visitors from Reedsport, Gardiner and the North Lake country. This, they say, is because the railroad now affords them ample opportunities of getting in and out in a very short time.

Getting Out Annual.—The members of the high school senior class are getting out their annual. It is to be a handsome publication containing matter regarding the school, W. H. McDonald, a member of the class, is business manager and is gathering advertising matter. Miss Rees and Mr. Robinson of the faculty are assisting in an advisory capacity.

Fish Growing Fast.—Mr. Goodman, of the Coos River hatchery was in the city over the week end. He said that in the last two weeks the trout have almost doubled in size and are getting big and husky. He advanced the opinion that the trout are not fitting now to any great extent for the reason that they are now living on sucker eggs. The latter fish are now spawning.

Is a Banner Year.—Not in 16 years has the weather man been as prominent and as much disliked on Coos Bay as he is this season. The records show that since last September there has fallen very close to 80 inches of rain. In the last 16 years here at no time has the rainfall gone over 80 inches, but this year with still four months to go, it seems that the record is to be smashed all to pieces.

To Judge Essays.—A total of 75 good roads essays have been received by the committee from the school children of the county and the judges expect to announce the winners tomorrow. Of this number, exactly half are from the high schools and the other half from the grade schools. There are two classifications. The judges are Charles Hall, president of the Coos Good Roads Association, Earl Powell, secretary of the Coos Business Men's Association, and J. W. Motley, secretary of the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce.

To Endorse Candidate.—The legislative committee of the Central Labor Council expects to have another meeting next Saturday for the purpose of definitely endorsing candidates in the coming primaries. The first meeting was held last Friday. Following the meeting scheduled for next Saturday there will be a gathering of the entire Labor council and also all unorganized labor men for the purpose of announcing a list of candidates endorsed. This will be open to the laboring men of North Bend, Marshfield, Coquille and Bandon, according to President Andrew Landies.

Will Give Program.—Extensive preparations are being made for the program to be given tomorrow afternoon in the North Bend Commercial Club rooms beginning promptly at 2:30 o'clock. The guests of honor, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. McMath and Miss Brooks, are being entertained at the Herbert Armstrong home. GEORGE H. ROTNOR returned last evening from Portland where he went on a purchasing trip meeting several of the representatives of prominent eastern manufacturers, including the Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothing line. Bowman's new clothing factory in Portland is now in full swing with a good business, Mr. Rotnor reports.

LOCAL PULP MACHINERY GOES TO A BIG PLANT

Will Be Installed at Ocean Falls, B. C. by the Crown-Willamette Paper Company

It was announced in The Times several days ago that the Crown-Willamette Paper Company which bought the machinery in the pulp plant at the Smith mill would move it to British Columbia soon. The following press telegram from Oregon City gives further details.
The plant of the Crown-Willamette Pulp and Paper company in Oregon City will be enlarged in the near future, according to a report from an authoritative source.
The company has completed the purchase of two new plants, a pulp mill at Ocean Falls, B. C., and the other at Marshfield.

According to Louis Bloch, vice president of the company, a $2,500,000 paper mill will be built at Ocean Falls, as an addition to the pulp mill now there. The sulphite mill equipment, now a part of the Coos Bay plant, will be moved to Ocean Falls, and two new paper machines have been ordered for the mill at Ocean Park.

The property at Ocean Falls consists of 60,000 acres of timber

RAIN SETS RECORD

WEEK END DELUGE BRINGS HEAVIEST PRECIPITATION

Now Have Close to 81½ Inches Since Last September—Jupt. Pluvius Laughs With Glee

The deluge of Saturday and Sunday brought this year's rainfall for Coos Bay to be 81.15 inches of moisture since last September. Records show this to be the heaviest precipitation since 1900 and there are still four months until next September which marks the end of the rain year. At this time last year the rainfall was 61.32 inches.

Between 1902 and 1903 the rainfall was 80 inches, according to the rain chart prepared by Harry Butler. The general average of all these years has been a trifle over 68 inches, all of which goes to show that this year Coos Bay is getting more than its share.

Some of the old timers have advanced various reasons for the increasing rainfalls and the changes in the weather. One man ventured the opinion today that the cutting down of the timber is one of the reasons; another said that the San Francisco earthquake shifted the Japan current several hundred miles to sea, thus affecting the coast weather.

Be that as it may, the fact remains that Jupt Pluv is doing his very best and the end is not yet in sight.
