Every once in awhile the rumor is started that Justice Field contemplates resigning from the Supreme Bench. As often as this story is started it is denied by the Justice himself. Field was not a Jeveland man, because Cleveland refused to appoint him Chief Justice. He was so angry at that time that he might have resigned to spite Cleveland, but he is over his mad and now thinks that some other Democrat may appoint his successor. At any rate he is going to try it. If Harrison had been re-elected he might have retired, because it would have meant the selection of a Republican as his successor, unless he waited for an-other election.

Secretary Gresham has received infor-mation from Minister Blount that war rants the conclusion that he is prepared to indorse all that has been done in Hawaii, and that has been done in Ha-waii, and that be is now strongly in-clined to recommend at least the estab-lishment of a United States protectorate over the Hawaiian Islands. The Secre-tary is also in official ignorance of the reported interference of Ulaus Spreckels in behalf of the restoration of monarchy and of his insistence upon the repayment by the provisional government of money advanced by him to the late monarchy. The Secretary is, of course, in receipt of information from Blount that he does not feel justified in publishing, but he feels no hesitation in denying the accusystem as a guide. If you own a farm of fifty or 100 acres or more, and it is fenced off into small fields, the first step necessary will be to make a good, substantial fence around vour pasture land and (if you can do no better) between your own and your neighbors' and stack your other fences out of the way. 5 years old and one whose heifers have proved him a good butter bull; feed the proved him a good butter bull; feed the calves well, and at any time after the heifers are 6 months old breed them to a mature Jersey proved like the first one. I would keep this up. A milk cow's business is to give good milk; and, like the trotting horse, the earlier in life she gets at it, if properly fed and cared for, the better. A cow consumes about 3 per cent of her live weight daily to support life and repair waste. If a large cow will, when not used for the dairy, make enough more beef than a small one that makes the same amount of butter to pay for the great amount of fodder during the years she is kept as a dairy cow, she is just as good. But this is not usually the case; a small Jersey that produces just as much or more butter fat than a larger cow is by far the most economical. Breed your heifers so as to have them come into milking when 18 or 20 months oil and when the pastures are fresh and

Have every-thing so arranged that you can immedilong, 90c@$1.25; shearlings, 10@20c; talately turn the wheel slowly through the boiling oils. Two or three revolutions of each wheel in the boiling oil is sufficient. If the business is quickly done, one heating of the oil is ample for four wheels, but usually a little boiling oil is added after treating the second wheel. The important point in this process is that enough boiling oil is in the trough to cover the fallows as the wheel appropriate when Calcutta, 23x36, spot, 65c; the relices as the wheel revolves there is a better job performed than the one done by the blacksmith. The Ancient Knocker.

The days are gone when the inmates of a house in aristocratic portions of New York could tell by the knock at the door whether a member of the famfly or a visitor was awaiting admittance Also they knew then what member was there, or the social standing of the visitor who was outside.

A few small knockers still linger in Varick and Vandam streets and similar localities, but nobedy seems to use them. The bell may show advanced civilizathin, but there are people who miss the breaker. - New York Sua.
