LOCAL NOTES.

The wet weather is tough on the strawberries.

S. V. Burt made a flying trip to Pioneer on Tuesday last.

Mr. J. L. Akin returned from the valley last Tuesday.

R. F. Collamore is plastering the waiting room of the depot.

Miss Sada Chambers is visiting Mrs. Wm. Wade, this week.

It has transpired that Benton county is $11,000 in the hole in the Job failure.

The cut-off road to Yaquina is all cleared of logs and is now ready for the graders.

Mrs. Coll Van Cleve, of Albany, who has been seriously ill for some time is recovering.

Bro. Van Cleve, of the Post, informs us that he expects to start soon to the World's fair.

We understand that Geo. M. Hyland, who has been manager of the Holton House in Portland, for

The Toledo correspondent to the Corvallis Times is a gem. If there be no news he gets in and makes news.

The small sum of $33.60 will now buy a first-class ticket from Portland to Chicago. But how about getting the $33.60?

Four more Oregon banks gone under, but our clam beds are coming higher up the bay every year. Lincoln county to the front every time.

The brick vault at the court house is completed except the shelves on the inside for books. It is quite commodious and is thought to be perfectly fire proof.

The county school superintendent made an apportionment of school money to the various districts, last Tuesday. Fifty dollars to each district was the amount apportioned.

The contest for the Demorest Silver medal resulted in a tie, last Tuesday night. The tie was between Misses Annie Chambers and Jennie Alexander. How it will be decided we don't know. The girls had better draw straws, toss pennies or some such scheme.

While at Corvallis this week we were shown some of the completed record books as copied by Mr. Watters and his assistants. The work is neat, legible and of a very high standard, far excelling the original. The comparing is being done very carefully and mistakes will be unknown.

Receiver Bryson has figured it out that the assets of the defunct Job bank will pay fifty nine cents on the dollar, provided, that they are not crowded in the disposal of the same. For all that, we heard a depositer in Corvallis offer to take twenty-five cents on the dollar for what he had in there.

The steamboat inspectors condemned both the Benton and the Walluski as unseaworthy, during their recent inspection. Both were condemned on account of their hulls, the machinery being in good condition. The Benton has been stripped of her machinery and is now in the boneyard. The Walluski is tied up at her dock in this city.

One of the cases in connection with the Job bank burst at Corvallis, that appeals most strongly to the heart was that of a young man who had all the arrangements made to get married and go to the world's fair on his wedding tour. The ceremony was to take place last week, and two hearts were to beat as one. But man proposes, etc. The bank bursted and so did this young couples' dream of soon to realized bliss. The wedding was post-poned and the young man is trying to accumulate another bank account.

No danger of the Toledo bank bursting.

Mrs. T. Jay Buford is visiting at the Agency this week.

Henry Wolf had a well dug at his new residence, this week.

Allen Parker was up from Yaquina on business, last Wednesday.

Geo. Sylvester, of Newport, was in town last Wednesday, on business.

B. Morrison orders the LEADER sent to his son at Willapa, Washington.

R. Dedrick is doing the carpenter work on Henry Wolf's new residence.

some time, has leased the Ocean House at Newport and will open it on July 1st.

C. R. Miller, of Elk City, was down the latter part of last week doing some work in the photographic line.

Strawberries are worth but 3½ to four cents per box in the valley, but they readily retail here for ten cents per box.

The cattle on the range in the hills are hog fat, and will continue to be so for months to come. As a stock range these hills are hard to beat.

A. G. Bradley, of Woodburn, is visiting Judge Blue and family this week, and trying his hand at fishing in some of Lincoln county's limpid streams.

There will be preaching services in the old school house next Sunday morning and evening by Rev. Ramsdell, of Newport. All are invited to attend.

The silver medal contest will be held again on a week from tomorrow night, when the tie will be decided. Other appropriate exercises will be interspersed.

The river at this place is getting to be quite famous as a sturgeon ground. Messrs. Taylor and Dick drew one out of the water today that neared the 150 pound mark.

E. Rhoades brought some mammoth-size gooseberries to our office last Saturday. There were three of them and they averaged 2¾ inches around the small way. He also brought the smallest egg we have yet seen, it measuring but four inches in circumference.

S. A. Hulin, a druggist of Eugene was in town last night and purchased some lots of J. L. Akip, of this place. Mr. Hulin says that the people of Eugene took their bank failure very cool and hope for the better. He also expresses considerable confidence in the future of Toledo.

The systems of roads leading into Toledo are gradually being improved and opened up, and the town will, ere long, have a good system of passable roads leading to it from all directions. And the roads will be the product of the people's labor, as most of the work is being performed voluntarily.

A gentleman from Albany carrying a whole arsenal of fire arms got off the train at Norten siding yesterday. His ostensible purpose was fishing and cougar hunting, but we'll bet that he doesn't hunt cougar half a day before he will be compelled to shoot a fine, fat deer in self defense, or through fright.

Mr. Hewitt, foreman of Section No. 5, met with quite a serious accident last Monday. He climbed a bee tree to get the honey, and when about forty feet from the ground a limb broke letting him fall. His fall dislocated three ribs and hurt him internally. He was taken to Corvallis for medical treatment.

N. S. Dygert, of the firm of Meston & Dygert, of Portland, was in Toledo this week. Meston & Dygert is the firm that has furnished all the blank record books for the county, and we are bound to say that they are as fine a set of books as we have ever been permitted to see in any county.

Mrs. D. P. Blue, accompanied by Mr. A. G. Bradley, of Woodburn who is visiting them, came up yesterday to try their luck at fishing in the classic waters of the Olalla. They managed to catch one poor little innocent fish, and we guess that they must have caught it out of season, as they left it in the sheriff's office.

For fine repairing of your watches and clocks give J. L. McCulloch, of Yaquina City, a call. Anything left at J. H. McNeil's drug store will be attended to without extra charges.

The absorbing question with the pleasure-loving people, is how they will get to the celebration, since the Walluski and the Benton have both been laid up.

Mr. W. Buoy, a student of Philomath college, paid a short visit to Dr. J. L. Akin's over Sunday as he returned from the beach enroute for his home. Mr. Buoy is a member of the Philomath band, and is one of the leading young men of that city.

FOUND—A purse containing a considerable sum of money, also a pocket knife. The owner can get the same at the postoffice by giving the proper discription of the same.

W. E. RICH,
Postmaster.

Tuesday evening the steamer Harrison started to tow the lumber schooner Del Norte, of San Francisco, over the Nehalem bar. The Harrison seemed to lose power to handle herself, and both steamer and schooner went aground on the south spit of the north channel. A strong northwest wind was blowing, and this made it impossible to keep clear of the spit. The crews are safe, and it is thought that the boats will both come off at high tide.

Last Friday night while the Richardson was going down with two scow loads of rock she ran into the fog and Captain Chatterton thought he would cast anchor for the night. This was done and all hands went to sleep. Along in the night the tide went out and the boat being closer inshore than was supposed, the scows and boat were left reposing serenely on the bottom till next high tide when she floated off.

One of our county officers who draws good money from the county taxpayers for his services takes the county money and sends east to get his stationery. This exhibits a species of small bore calibre that is worthy of preserving as a relic. As an excuse he stated that he could get stationery almost half as cheap as he could get it here. We don't know about that, but we do know that the gentlemen referred to never asked the price of any stationery or printed matter of any kind at this office; and we further know that our bids on file in the clerk's office will average less than Portland offices charged for the same work. The other county officers are well pleased with the work done by Lincoln county printers, and show the good sense to have their work done in the county and keep the money at home. But then to send away after goods is "Henglish, ye know."

The statement of the Receiver of Hamilton, Job & Co., places the assets at $194,767.58, divided principally as follows: Cash at Corvallis, $12,645.21; cash at Yaquina, $2,581.97; bills receivable at Corvallis, $88,624.53; at Yaquina, $5,463.87; overdrafts at Corvallis, $54,942.36; at Yaquina $417.04; the balance consisting of various property, both real and personal. Of the above assets $36,050.33 in bills receivable and $25,634.00 of overdrafts at Corvallis are set down as doubtful, and $100 of bills receivable at Yaquina are considered the same. The liabilities are $224,348.17 as follows: Time certificates at Corvallis, $65,120.97; time certificates at Yaquina $770.00; call certificates at Corvallis, $23,884.55; deposits in open accounts at Corvallis, $82,009.60; deposits in open account at Yaquina, $8,331.07; due other banks, $44,231.98. It will be seen that they ought to pay about 59 cents on the dollar. The Job brothers still cling to the statement that the assets figure up about $260,000. It is believed that the receiver's estimates of the value of assets is conservative.

A Job for the Foolkiller.

The crop of suckers seem to be perennial, and to blossom in all climes. The rankest kinds of suckers seem to have their growth in Oregon and to be of the variety that are always too poor to take a newspaper but always have one or two thousand dollars in the bank to donate to some smooth, oily tongued stranger who approaches him with a gold brick, tin box scheme or the like. The latest specimen of this variety of suckers lives near Corvallis and is named Wm. Abraham. He is a well-to-do farmer, and up till last Monday afternoon had $1,350 in an Albany bank. He hasn't got it now, but has a rich, varied experience valued at that sum, for on that day a couple of slick swindlers went out to the old gentleman's place and by making liberal offers to purchase his farm got the old man to bite on the old tin box scheme, into which the old man put $1,350 and the slick ones $2,700 and left it with the old man till the next day. When Abraham opened the box next day he found some well selected Willamette river gravel. They had deftly changed the boxes on him after he had put in money. One of his neighbors infotms us that the sucker don't take any paper and consequently can't be expected to keep up with the procession. His $1,350 would have subscrilled for a good weekly paper for 675 years, and if the foolkiller does his duty the old man won't live near that long.
