LOCAL NOTES.

B. F. Jones went out to Corvallis on business today.

Bonds for deeds for sale at the LEADER office.

School ought to commence in Toledo next Monday.

F. D. Carson, of this place has been commissioned a notary public.

Yesterday was Yum Kooper, or day of atonement with the Jewish people.

It is reported that a large run of salmon has started in at the mouth of the Bay.

Miss Eva Akin began a three months term of school at Elk City last Tuesday.

Our merchants received another large invoice of freight on Tuesday's steamer.

There is more musical talent in Toledo than any town in Oregon of twice its size.

Contractor Pepin is just putting the finishing touches on the Rosebrooks bridge.

The Rosebrooks went to Newport this evening to help make music for the dance there tonight.

The Oregon Pacific will announce an extremely low rate to the Midwinter fair at San Francisco.

One of T. P. Fish's small boys is quite sick with a malignant sore throat. Dr. Carter was called to see him today.

Evidences of good times coming continue to multiply. Give it a boost along. Speak a good word and help to restore confidence.

Marriage licenses were issued by the county clerk this week to Chas. Fairchild and Kate Spencer, and to D. C. Rosebrooks and Etta Titman.

A party of Salem people went through to the Bay this evening. They brought a band of music along and will have a social dance tonight.

The steamer got in Tuesday with a large cargo of freight and twenty-five passengers. On its down trip the steamer will carry quite a cargo of wheat.

Rev. Chas. Booth, of Newport, accompanied by his son and two daughters went to Portland yesterday. The daughters went to attend the St. Helens Hall school this winter and the son Bishop Scott's academy.

Ora Copeland went down to Newport and went out with the tug to meet the steamer Tuesday. He took his rifle with him and killed a sea lion on the outside, but did not get the animal as it sank.

Miss Julia Taylor, of Philomath, who taught the Chitwood school last term, began a term of school in Linn county, last Monday. Miss Taylor is one of the progressive teachers of the county and we would like to see her still engaged in school work in Lincoln county.

F. M. Stanton, the post trader at the Siletz has traded his stock of goods and buildings on the reservation to Wm. R. Megginson, for his ranch on the river below Toledo. The transfer of the property was made yesterday and Mr. Megginson has possession of the store and is now a full-fledged merchant. Success to him.

Sheriff Landis has delinquent roll made up and gives notice this week that he will make settlement with the county court at the October term. The original roll footed up to nearly $16,000 a portion of which, however, was double assessments and assessed in the wrong county. The total delinquency amounts to about $11,000, which includes the railroad tax. Of this $4,577.44 are sheriff's assessments.

F. M. Stanton, of Siletz, went out to Corvallis on business last Monday.

R. C. McConnell and wife of Albany, came in on today's train and will stop for a time here.

Mens's all wool suits, at O'Brien's, Yaquina. $10.00 suit, extra large sizes always in stock.

A. W. Elder, of Denver, wishes to keep informed concerning this county and sends for the LEADER.

W. S. Linville came over from the Agency Tuesday and returned to Corvallis Wednesday morning.

Gov. Pennoyer and State Treasurer Metschan came over to the Bay Saturday evening and stopped over Sunday.

A bear recently got into a flock of sheep owned by William Dutton on Little Elk, and made sad havoc in their ranks.

The young people gave a surprise party at the residence of R. Raines last Friday evening, and report a first class time.

M. Schmidt has removed the furniture from the big Yaquina hotel to Corvallis, where he will dispose of it at public auction.

We thought times were hard at Toledo, but Newport goes us one better. We haven't had to employ the hold up game yet.

Among the exhibits at the Roseburg fair was a silk display from Coos county, which showed everything from the egg of the worm to the finished silk produet.

L. W. Deyoe and family left yesterday for Elk City, their future home, where Mr. Deyoe has purchased the hotel and will make of it a fine summer resort.—Albany Herald.

Blow the bugle! beat the tom tom! unfurl the banner of victory from the highest fir on the hills!! Our Chapman after much fishing and great tribulation, landed a 35 pound Chinook salmon last Tuesday.

Gen. Supt. Baxter and some other officials of the U. P., came over to to the Bay last Saturday and stayed over Sunday. They were nicely entertained while at the Bay and were considerably impressed with Newport's advantages as a summer resort.

A. T. Peterson expects to start the first of the week for a visit to his old home in Illinois and incidently to the Worlds Fair. He will be gone about four weeks. He expected to have started last Tuesday, but was detained on account of his wife's ill health.

O. V. Hurt was over from the Agency last Tuesday. He says that the late rains are having a disastrous effect upon the oat crop of the Indians. Hardly any of them have any threshing done yet, and unless the rains speedily discontinue, their crops will be entirely ruined.

We would call the attention of our readers to the new advertisement of O'Brien's "One Price Cash Store," of Yaquina, in this issue. This store has just received its fall and winter stock of goods, and it is needless to say that the stock is complete. Parties making early selections from this store will get the benefit of unbroken lines to select from and be assured of courteous and fair treatment.

L. H. McMahan, the editor of the Oregon Indpendent, of Salem, has been spending several days hunting along the coast, and went outside Tuesday. He informed us during a short talk with him that he contemplated coming to our town and making a speech to our people upon the actions of the last legislation and the state prison management in the near future. Mr. McMahan is a forcible speaker and should he come our people will greatly enjoy listening to his talk.

The Linn County Agricultural Association will give its second annual race meeting at the fair grounds near that city on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 26, 27, 28 and 29, 1893. The association has this summer spent a large amount of money in fixing up the track, so that it is now unquestionably the fastest track on the North Pacific Coast. The meeting given by the Association last year was a success, but it is proposed to make this year's meeting still more so. Liberal purses have been offered and all the fast horses of this circuit will be there.

C. B. Crosno made a business trip to Corvallis last Monday.

When a man is "sassed" now it is said that he is "Pennoyered."

Geo. Sylvester, the Newport magistrate, was up to the hub today.

The celebrated Parker and Snag Proof gum boots at O'Brien's, Yaquina.

E. Hofer, editor of the Capitol Journal, of Salem, is in the city today. He is looking after the interests of the order of the Sons of Veterans, of which he is the Colonel of the Division of Oregon, and also in the interest of his paper, for which he took a list of subscribers in this place.

The circulation of even a small local country newspaper is something remarkable. The LEADER, though but a little more than a half year old has readers in the states of Oregon, California, Washington, Idaho, Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Arkansas, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, New York, and Pennsylvania. Its readers represent four different races of people, the Caucasian, Negro, Indian, and Mongolian, and the different nationalities represented are legion.

The amount of taxes received on sheriff's assessments this year will equal if not exceed the salary the sheriff will receive from the county during his term of office. Sheriff Landis has kept a sharp look out for this class of debtors, and if any of them have not paid their taxes it has not been because they have not been notified by him that they were due and payable or if they have not been notified it is not because he could not obtain their addresses.

This circuit of the M. E. church has been supplied by Rev. A. L. Hawley, of Monroe, who will come into the work at once. Rev. Hawley's work will extend from Chitwood to Newport, and covers enough territory to keep him busily engaged. He will live at Toledo, as this is the most central point in his work. Rev. Hawley makes a good appearance, and will no doubt do much good in this field of labor. He is a brother of Prof. Hawley, the acting president of the Willamette University, of Salem.

Recorder Waters, who has a contract for transcribing the records of Lincoln county, has completed the work. There are 45 volumes of these records and the transcribing represents four months labor of a large force of efficient and experienced copyists. Each volume will average more than 400 written pages, making a total of over 18,000 pages. The books will be ready for acceptance as soon as the many instruments are acknowledged by B. F. Jones, clerk of Lincoln county, which is now being done by John Dailey, deputy county clerk. It is certainly a relief to Mr. Waters to know that he has brought the important and particular work to a finish, and the people of Lincoln County can well be prowd of having the neatest and best-written set of records in the state, for which Mr. Watters is justly entitled the praise, as he used his every effort in accomplishing the end he has reached.—Corvallis News.

A Holdup at Newport.

Newport has a case of genuine highway robbery. Yesterday while Peter Stoker was returning from a fishing trip and was coming along the trail towards his house he was confronted by a man with a mask over his face and a shot gun in his hand, who ordered him to stand and deliver. Mr. Stoker had a coat on his arm and the robber made him lay the coat down and lay his money—$4.50—on top of it. The thief then compelled him to stay there for about three quarters of an hour. Mr. Stoker finally escaped through the brush and ran for home. When he arrived there he found that his house had been broken into during his absence and ransacked, though the only thing of value he missed was his shot gun. Mr. Stoker went at once down and gave the alarm and swore out a warrant for the arrest of the highwayman. Sheiff Landis and other officers were notified to be on the look out for any suspicious character. The highwayman was described as being of a rather heavy build, and wore dark pants, light coat and dark hat; his face being masked could not be described. The authorities have their suspicions as to who the quilty parties are but no arrests have yet been made

The Executive committee and Building committee of the regents of the State Agricultural College at Corvallis met in Salem yesterday says the Journal to consider school finances and buildings. About $16,000 in warrants were issued to the treasurer Dr. Applewhite. These are not available however, but draw 8 per cent interest, and are stamped "not paid for the want of funds." The college gets $3,750 quarterly from Washington for the station work, and it is thought by the regents present that the school had enough funds to run this year if the state warrents can be cashed by the latter part of the year. The condition of the accounts of the late Treasurer, A. R. Shipley, was discussed and some light is thrown on the matter. A few days before the bank closed Treasurer Shipley drew a $10,000 warrant of the state treasurer, out of a $39,000 appropriation and deposited it with Hamilton, Job & Co. They endorsed it and sent it to Ladd and & Tilton to pay a debt they owed there and the state treasurer cashed it with their endorsement. They practically paid a private bank balance with public money. That is a matter of record that will be shown in due season. Proceedings will be begun by the Executive committee both criminal and on the bond of A. R. Shipley, deceased. It was plainly a violation of the statue forbidding bankers to use public funds or draw the interest on them, and the most vigorous steps will be taken by the state to save itself. Judge Boise of the regents is acting with Judge Burnett of Corvallis as counsel for the state.
